While some people from necessity are returning to their homes from their seashore and rural outings, there are many others who are packing their trunks and leaving the town for the purpose of enjoying the more seasonable temperature which they confidently anticipate will prevail in September and October.

The country in this vicinity still maintains its June like appearance. The leaves, the pasture fields and the foliage of the trees do not give the slightest evidence of the approach of autumn, so that while the month of August thus far has been exceptionally hot, the frequently recurring copious showers have sustained vegetation in an unusual degree.

About this time last year we had what was called a "water famine." Shenandoah was one of the more fortunate towns in the coal region, but many of them suffered for the want of the precious fluid. Consumers of water were appealed to to be economical in the use of the fluid. Payment washing was discouraged, and in many other ways the water authorities counseled moderation in the use of it. But this year we have thus far heard no such cautions or requests. The reservoirs are said to be well filled, while the streams furnish a supply more than equal to the demand.

Mr. MIMS, of Tennessee, late Populist nominee for Governor and one of the leaders in the St. Louis Convention, thus speaks of the Populist nominees: "As to Mr. Bryan, the Democrats had stolen our man, but we stole him back; they also stole our platform, but we stole it back, too. We were perfectly satisfied with the nomination of Mr. Bryan.
We know where he stands. We know him to be hearty in sympathy with our platform.
He favors an irrefragable currency. He is a greenbacker, out and out. He favors government ownership of railroads and the telegraph, and fought at Chicago for the initiative and referendum. I sincerely trust that he will not accept our nomination or speak out for our platform. We know where he stands, and are satisfied to have him remain silent. This would keep down prejudice."

A case of the preservation of the dipht-heric germs for over three years, in a bad home, is related by the Pittsburg Dispatch. The fact that these germs will live indefinitely in clothing and carpets without losing their infectious quality has long been known to physicians. It is for this reason that all cases of such contagious diseases should be isolated in city hospitals for the purpose. But pending necessary legislation and provisions for such isolation, careful disinfection of all premises where such diseases have been, under supervision of a physician or other competent person, will do much to prevent the spread of the disease. Burning small quantities of sulphur in the sick room at intervals is a good measure to prevent lodgment of germs in the furnishings and will be sanctioned by most physicians as an aid to treatment of the patient.

BRYAN ANSWERED.

The address of Hon. Bourke Cockran, the eloquent Democratic orator, delivered last night in New York, in answer to the challenger of Candidate Bryan and his followers, was a clear and concise presentation of the subject that is just now occupying the attention of the great majority of the American citizens. Mr. Cockran is a Democrat and spoke from the standpoint of one who places country before party. Unlike the Populist candidate for President, Mr. Cockran confined himself to facts and figures, and his reasoning and analysis of the subject laid bare the superstition of Bryan.

There can be little doubt of the effect of Mr. Cockran's able presentation of the subject. He speaks as a Democrat who has represented his party in Congress and has always been numbered among the leaders of the Democracy, not only in the Empire state, but the nation as a whole. His speech is a summons to every patriot, whether he be Democrat or Republican, Populist or Silverite, to lay aside his political preferences and prejudices and rally to the defense of his country's honor. It is a fit companion to that excellent presentation by Senator Sherman, and the two will prove valuable campaign literature for the cause of sound money.

The meeting in New York last night was a Democratic gathering, and the great outpouring of men of that faith, who repudiate the doctrines set forth in the platform of the so-called Democratic convention held at Chicago, shows conclusively that the state of New York will give a large majority for McKinley and Hobart.

Mr. Cockran points out the duty of every honest Democrat in these patriotic and manly words:

"It is a question as to whether the public government shall be used to protect honest industry. On this question, honest men cannot differ. It is one of morals and of justice. It implies the existence of social order. It is the contest for civilization itself.

If it be dishonoring to Democrats and to lovers of free institutions to find an issue of this character projected into a presidential campaign it must furnish us with an inspiring truth of how that issue will be met by the people. A Democratic convention may renounce the Democratic faith, but the Democracy remains faithful to Democratic principles. Democratic leaders may betray a convention to become a Populist, but cannot seduce the footsteps of Democratic voters from the pathway of honor and of justice.
"A candidate bearing the mandate of a Democratic convention may this fall open a campaign leveled at the foundation of social order and he beholds the Democratic masses confronting him organizing for the defense.
Follow Democrats, let us not disgrace from ourselves the fact that we bear in the contest a serious and grave and solemn burden of duty. We must raise our hands against the nominee of our party and we must do it to preserve the future of that party itself, we must oppose the nominee of the Chicago convention, and we know full well that the success of our opposition will mean our exclusion from public life, but we will be consoled and gratified by the reflection; it will prove that the American people cannot be divided into parties on a question of simple morals or of common honesty."

$500, prizes from Wilkes-Barre, Mt. Carmel

Some years ago when suffering with an inconspicuous severe attack of diarrhoea, Mr.
W. B. Ginnip, of Ates, Pa., received through the mail a sample bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea of the most effective remedies I ever used. It gave me almost immediate relief. It has no superior and I think no equal. No bad effects follow the use of this remedy. It is pleasant to take when reduced with water and sweetened. Children like it. It never fails. It is the most perfect remedy ever produced for bowel complaints." For sale at

Merit Talks

"Merit talks" the intrinsic value of Hood's Sarsaparilla.
Merit in medicine means the power to cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses actual and unequalled curative power and therefore it has true merit. When you buy Hood's Sarsaparilla, and take it according to directions, to purify your blood, or cure any of the many blood diseases, you are morally certain to receive benefit.
The power to cure is there. You are not trying an experiment. It will make your blood pure, rich and nourishing, and thus drive out the germs of disease, strengthen the nerves and build up the whole system.

POTTSVILLE LETTER.

The Borough "Squires" File Their Answers,
Other Court News.

POTTSVILLE, August 16.

John J. Cardin and Martin J. Lawlor, both of Shenandoah, and Jonathan L. Jones and Philip E. Coyle, of Mahanoy City, this morning filed their answers to the petitions presented to contest their elections as Justices of the Peace in the borough named, at the February election. They all claim they were legally elected; were not surreptitiously or fraudulently elected, and further that under the law the two boroughs named are entitled to but two Justices of the Peace each. The respondents, therefore, all pray that the petitions of the contestants may be dismissed and proper costs be allowed the respondent.
Hon. John J. Coyle, of Mahanoy City, also filed his answer to the rule to quash the indictment found against John W. Parker, of the Mahanoy City Record, charging libel.
Mr. Coyle says in his answer that while Parker agreed to retract the matter charged in the indictment, and that he did so, he in a subsequent issue of his paper, before the case was withdrawn, in substance reiterated the libel. He, therefore, prays court to overrule the motion to quash the indictment.

The Lyon-Dunn judicial contest continued to-day. Mr. Schackel submitted a lengthy written objection to the order of court with reference to the admission of supplemental bills of particulars. The objection, however, was overruled. Mr. Schackel's proposition that the time of taking testimony be limited to 30 or 60 days, was objected to by Mr.
Breckons as being unfair. On this question no ruling was made. James Pritchard, Judge of Election of the Fourth ward of Ashland, and that of a ballot box and contents in his possession. "Squire" O'Brien, of Mahanoy City, who was severely cross-examined as to his knowledge of two ballot boxes, proved an insurmountable witness. The contender to have Nicholas Brownmiller testify as to other statements made by Mr.
O'Brien proved futile, the court sustaining objections to his testimony. An order for the opening of the ballot box of the First ward of Mahanoy City was granted by court on movement of Mr. Breckons and after some opposition. Only the ballot check list was removed, to be placed in the Prothonotary's office. The list from the First ward of Pottsville was similarly treated, as were many others in different parts of the county.
The entire morning and afternoon sessions were occupied on this line, and little of interest was brought out.

COMMITMENTS.

"Squire" Jones, of Mahanoy City, committed to jail Peter Theriot and John Blum, on oath of Frank Pierosky, charged with assault and battery, highway robbery and carrying concealed deadly weapons.

Lord Russell Sightseeing.

ALBANY, Aug. 15.—Lord Chief Justice Russell, of England, Sir Frank Lockwood, General Harman, Edward J. Phelps, former minister to England, James G. Carter, Charles Clavin Allen, Francis Rawley and Austin G. Fox, a committee of the American Bar association, spent two and a half hours in this city yesterday on route to Saratoga. The party came as far as Poughkeeps on J. Pierpont Morgan's steam yacht Corsair, where a train was taken for Albany.

Baby's Singular Death.

TRENTON, Aug. 15.—The 9-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. George Wyckoff, of Hopewell, was strangled to death in a most peculiar manner. The infant was in bed, and both its parents were absent from the room for a short time. The little one managed to crawl from its couch, and in attempting to reach the floor fell between the bed and a window screen lying against the wall. Its chin caught on the edge of the screen and it hung suspended, its feet but a few inches from the floor, until life was extinct.

Caused by Carelessness.

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 15.—The coroner's jury investigating Monday's horror at New Holland, by which Charles Cannon, Frank Hammond and George Crossman were killed, and a large number of others forcibly injured, last night rendered a verdict that the men came to their deaths by the explosion of dynamite carelessly handled by employees of the Pennsylvania Telephone company. There have been no additional deaths, but several of the injured are in a serious condition.

Death of a Noted Author.

A little daughter of Mr. Lewis Dayton, an old and much respected citizen of Barnitz, Pa., occasionally has trouble with her stomach which gives her considerable distress. In speaking of it Mr. Dayton said:

Diarrhoea Remedy, and it has never failed to relieve her promptly. We all use it in our family with the same good results." For

COCKRAN ANSWERS BRYAN.

Inevitable consequences of the doctrine which he preaches that his own hands would be the very first to tear down the platform on which he stands. We all must remember that lurid rhetoric which glowed as fiercely in the western skies as that sunlight which through the past week foretold the torrid heat of the ensuing day, and here upon this platform we find that same rhetoric as mild, as insipid, as the waters of a stagnant pool.

"He is a candidate who was swept into the nomination by a wave of popular enthusiasm awakened by appeals to prejudice and greed. He is a candidate who, declaring that this was a revolutionary movement, no sooner found himself face to face with the American feeling than he realized that this soil is not propitious to revolution; that the people of this country will not change the institutions which have stood the tests and experiences of a century for institutions based upon the fantastic dreams of Populist agitators;
that the American nation will never consent to substitute for the republic of Washington of Jefferson and of Jackson the republic of the south! This is a conspiracy to revolution that the people of this country
fantastic dreams of Populist agitators;
sent to substitute for the republic of Wash-
fantastic dreams of Populist agitators;

The Insult to the Supreme Court.

"The very existence of that power presents the existence of an independent tribunal, yet we have this Populist convention, because a Populist measure was condemned as unconstitutional, proposing, not to amend the constitution in the ordinary way prescribed by that instrument itself, but proposing to pack the court so that it will pronounce those laws to be constitutional which the constitution itself condemns, a proposal to make the courts of law instruments of lawlessness; to violate that sacred compact between the states on which the security of this nation rests; to profane the temple erected for its protection by the hands of false priests who, though sworn to defend, it will be appointed to destroy it.

"I am a bit puzzled to decide just what Mr. Bryan himself imagines will be the fruit of a change in the standard of value throughout this country. If Mr.
Bryan could show me that by any means wages will be increased I will be ready to support him, because I know of no test of prosperity absolutely infallible except the rate of wages paid to laborers. No man can tell how or where or when the wages of the workmen are to be increased, but anyone who examines the scheme can see that the inevitable tendency, the inevitable consequence of a debasement in the standard of value must be a reduction in the rate of wages, and that is the conspiracy in which the Populists are engaged.

"Mr. Bryan tells us that he wants to change the dollar; that he wants to increase the volume of money. I do not believe that any man who ever lived could quite understand a Populist's notion of what money is, further than that he believes it is a desirable thing to get, and that he is not very particular about the means by which he can get his hands on it.
Nothing is more common than the mistake that money and property are identical. They are not. There may be a very large volume of circulating medium and very great poverty. The issue of paper money simply is no more an increase of wealth than the issue by an individual of his promissory note would show an increase in property, but may be a strong proof of a decrease in wealth. It is not the volume of money, but the activity of money that counts.

The Basis of Sound Trade.

"The basis of sound trade is sound money, money which is intrinsically valuable.
Money like the gold coinage of this country, the government cannot afford if it tried to. I can take a ten dollar gold piece and I can defy all the power of all the governments of this earth to take five cents of value from it. Having earned it by the sweat of my brow, having earned it by the exercise of my brain, having earned it by the exchange of my commodities, I can go to the uttermost ends of the earth, and wherever I present it its value will be unquestioned and unchallenged. The gold dollar, this meeting, the Democratic party, the honest masses of this country, without distinction of party divisions, the honest man who sells to the laborer when he earns it, and that no power on earth shall cheat him of the sweat of his brow.

"It is perfectly clear that the purpose of the Populist is to put up the price of certain commodities. Mr. Bryan's language is that he is going to improve the conditions of the people of this country. I do not suppose he claims he can multiply the number of chairs upon this platform or upon this floor, although he has shown his capacity to empty them. If he is going to work any change in the conditions of man he must increase the material possession of some part of the community. Now if he got possession of the government of this country he would not create one single thing of value by any exercise of governmental power in the world. No power yet exercised by tyrant or by constitutional monarch can cause a barren field to become fruitful.

"A government never can be generous, because if it be generous to one it must be oppressive to another. But his financial scheme contemplates an increase in the price of certain commodities. We are coming now pretty close to the woodpile behind which the African is concealed. Now if everything in this world or in this country, including labor, be increased in value tomorrow in like proportion not one of us would be affected at all. If everything be increased 10 per cent. in value we would pay 10 per cent. in addition for what we would buy and get 10 per cent. more for what we would sell, and we would be exactly in the same place we occupied before.

The Farm Mortgage Argument.

"The pretense that the farmer of Nebraska is suffering under the mortgage contracted under a metal which has steadily increased in value is but a Populistic metaphor. Two-thirds of the farmers have no mortgage debts whatever. I do not believe there is 5 per cent. of them that owe a mortgage over three years' old, during which time there has been no change in the value of the metal. This proposal of the Populists is an intent to enlist the farmer in a conspiracy to reduce the wages paid this laborer that he may have a larger proportion of his own product, and they are willing to cut down the wages of every man who works in the city, every man who tills the soil, every man who manages the train, in the hope that they can ride into power on a wave of avidity and greed awakened in the breast of the voter.

"My friends, there has been a great change in the Democratic organization of the southern states. A new set has got into the saddle, a set of leaders of which Tillman is the exponent, who boldly unfurled the sectional flag at Chicago, and declared that this Populist movement is a direct movement against the prosperity of the east. Men of New York, toilers of America, guardians of homes, will you allow rates of wages to be affected by any man who never has paid wages at all if he could get out of it? Will you submit to this conspiracy between the professional farmers, the farmers who cultivate the quarrels of their neighbors, farmers who labor with their neighbors, Populist agitators of the west and the unorganized slaveholders of the south? This is a conspiracy between professional farmers who want to pay low wages and the unrecruited slaveholder who would like to pay no wages at all.

"We believe that the very essence of civilization is mutual interest, mutual forbearance, mutual co-operation. We believe the world has got past the time when men's hands are at each other's throats. We believe today that men stand shoulder to shoulder, working together for a common purpose beneficial to all, and we believe that this attempt to assail wages, which means an attempt to attack the prosperity of all, will be resisted, not by a class, but by the whole nation. What labor has gained, that shall it keep. The rate of wages that is paid to the toiler is the lowest rate we will ever willingly accept. We look forward to a further and further increase in the prosperity of workingmen, not merely by an increase in the daily wage, but by a further increasing in the purchasing power of wages.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure
Restores Health.....
M. EDWARD EDMONDS, long connected with railroad construction in Nebraska, writes: "My heart troubled and pained me for 19 years. Shortness of breath was the constant and most common symptom. Intense, excruciating pain, generally followed any severe exertion. Faintness, hunger without any appetite; fluttering that made me clutch my breast, and palpitation that often staggered me as if I would fall, were frequent attacks. Again, everything would turn black if I arose from a stooping posture quickly. Sleepless nights with their prostrating unrest were numerous and I could get no rest day or night. I consulted leading physicians and tried advertised remedies. They gave me no relief. One of Dr. Miles' circulars described my case so exactly that I took Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and I am now a well man. I hope every one troubled with heart disease will try Dr. Miles' remedies. If they will write me personally, I will gladly give them full details of my experience." EDW. EDMONDS,
