

Of all Throat Disease Terrors

In a family none are abhorred more than that of Diphtheria. The only speedy and positive preventative is

THOMPSON'S DIPHTHERIA CURE.

Which cures as absolutely as it is used according to instructions. This is a broad assertion but made without the least fear of contradiction, as those who have used it in their family freely testify.

Every claim here made is fully substantiated by the thousands of unsolicited testimonials. It also cures Croup, Whooping Cough, and any throat affection.

Sold by Druggists at 50 cents a bottle.

If your dealer chances not to have any on hand write to the manufacturer at once, enclosing a two-cent stamp for full particulars. It not only cures but also prevents Diphtheria, if taken in time. Read what a prominent divine says:

Williamsport, Pa., Mar. 5, 1908. To whom it may concern: This certifies that I have used Thompson's Diphtheria Cure in my family and regard it as the best and most speedy remedy for such and sore throats I have ever known. I do not hesitate to recommend it to all who are afflicted. D. D. Foster Grace M. E. Church.

VETERANS ON PARADE.

The Grand Army's Grand Reception to St. Paul.

NEARLY FORTY THOUSAND IN LINE

The Contest for Commander-in-Chief Between Rear Admiral Meade, Major Clarkson and Comrade Lineham—Buffalo Will Get the Next Encampment.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 3.—Nearly 40,000 veterans tramped the streets of St. Paul for several hours yesterday, renewing the traditions of their martial spirit that animated them in the old days. The wind was an ideal one for marching, the warm rays of the sun being behind the clouds nearly all day and a slight breeze making the tramp touch easier for those in line. The crowds had no fears of possible showers for they were here to see the Grand Army parade and proposed to see it even though it did rain. But the showers held off and everything went off according to program.

Seldom has so large a parade come so near moving on time. Departments were directed to form at 8:30 o'clock, and to be prepared to move an hour later. Not to exceed fifteen minutes later the commander-in-chief removed south on Western avenue and the various divisions fell into line rapidly. It was 11:30 when the head of the parade reached the grand reviewing stand at Smith Park and General Walker took his place on the platform and the first division passed in review.

It was 2:35 in the afternoon when the last post in the big Eighth division, containing Minnesota's veterans, had passed, and there was scarcely a noticeable break in the line, post following post and department coming after department in almost endless succession. The entraining music and the stirring martial sound of the veteran drum corps signaled the approach of each new department, and the crowds showed prompt appreciation of the appearance of various favorites. Waves of applause went up and down the crowded streets, and at times the veterans themselves took up the refrain, one of the favorite shouts being "What is the matter with St. Paul? She's all right."

Nothing was thought too good for the marching men. As they were lined up on the side streets waiting the signal to start the residents served ice water and otherwise looked after their comfort. Taken together the parade was an unqualified success, and the leading features of it have touched the soldier heart as it has seldom been touched before.

The leading flag was the feature of the day that most appealed to the marching veterans, and many touching scenes were witnessed in front of the mammoth chorus. The children had been thoroughly trained by Professor C. H. Congdon, of the city schools, and were quick to respond to his every signal.

General Skeels of New York and Department Commander William Shakespear of Michigan were allowed to appear in carriages and both were cheered as they were recognized. General Russell A. Alger, past commander-in-chief, and many other individuals who marched with the rank and file were singled out for applause. Brigadier General E. C. Mason, U. S. A., retired, president of the St. Paul citizens' committee, was given hearty greeting all along the line, especially by the veterans themselves who saw in him the present representative of St. Paul's hospitality.

The candidates for commander-in-chief are still being urged by their friends, the leaders being Rear Admiral Meade, Major T. S. Clarkson, and New Hampshire's candidate, Comrade Lineham. It seems to be dividing between the east and west, and the fact that Buffalo will surely get the next encampment may affect the result, as the sections are somewhat jealous of the honors. There are other candidates who will have strong support, but those mentioned are the leaders. The other officers will depend to a considerable extent on the result for commander-in-chief, so that while the election is going on at a fairly lively rate it is a minor affair to most of the delegates.

Foreman and Altgeld.
CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Ex-Democratic Congressman Foreman publishes a rejoinder to the answer of Governor Altgeld to the charges of borrowing state money, etc., made by him against the governor. He repeats the charges and says: "The public has a right to expect an explanation of every charge, but instead they are met with personal abuse, insinuations and hypocritical cant. I want to remind you, that the issue was squarely presented to you and as you refused to accept it, I shall await with confidence the verdict of the people of the state of Illinois, to be rendered in November, and predict your overwhelming defeat."

Sensational Story Exploded.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Accepting of United States Consul Johnson, at Antwerp, there is no truth in the story which so excited American meat packers to the effect that broken down English omnibus horses are killed and packed at Antwerp as canned beef under American labels. The consular reports to the state department that he has made most careful inquiry and finds that while the English omnibus horses do come to Antwerp in large numbers, they are slaughtered and sold for fresh meat, and are not packed.

A Bazaar for the Confession.
READING, Pa., Sept. 3.—The mystery surrounding the burning of the Frill barn in West Reading has been cleared up by the confession of John Ganz, a demented vagrant, who had been sleeping in the building for a number of nights. He acknowledged that while trying to light his pipe he accidentally set fire to some hay. John Lyon and Thomas McComb, who were under arrest as accomplices, were discharged, and Ganz was recommitted to prison.

Hon. Joseph Chamberlain Arrives.
NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, the British colonial secretary, arrived in New York yesterday on the White Star line steamship Teutonic, which left Liverpool on Aug. 30. With him is his wife, who seven years ago was Miss Mary Endicott, daughter of the secretary of war in President Cleveland's first cabinet. Mr. Chamberlain will return home in about a fortnight.

TALK OF CANDIDATES

For the Presidential Nomination at Indianapolis.

BUCKNER FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

Generally Conceded that the Kentucky Will be Given Second Place—Illinois Delegates Urge Senator Palmer to Allow the Use of His Name for President.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 3.—Forty-one states and three territories, represented by 324 delegates, met yesterday in Tomlinson Hall as the climax of a six weeks campaign to repudiate the action of the Chicago convention and to elect a declaration of principles and name a presidential ticket. Senator Palmer, who called the body to order, termed it the first convention of the National Democratic party, while others referred to it as the Democracy which held its last convention in 1862. Admission to the hall was confined strictly to ticket holders. As a result many people were denied admittance.

Inside every seat in the space reserved on the floor for the delegates and alternates was taken and the galleries, except on the upper balcony in the rear of the hall where the band was located, were comfortably filled without being crowded, while the chairs in the rear of the platform reserved for the distinguished guests were nearly all occupied. The decorations were brilliant and lavish. There was a profusion of flags and bunting, trailing snuff, Spanish moss and potted flowers, but the most noticeable feature was the previous effort of gilt, symbolical of the spirit of the convention. Gold wreaths were everywhere in the decorations, and half the delegates wore sprays of golden rod in the lapels of their coats.

There was an unusually large number of ladies in the galleries and in the chairs back of the stage, their bright gowns and hats highlighting the general effect of the scene. Most of them were from a distance, but some of the most prominent ladies of Indianapolis were present. Mrs. Hendricks, the widow of late Vice President Hendricks, was especially conspicuous. Altogether it was an impressive scene.

The delegates themselves were an imposing body of men. Among them were many who have for years been prominent in national affairs and the counsels of the Democratic party. The big New York delegation of seventy-two members perhaps attracted the most attention. In it were such conspicuous men as Governor Flower, the temporary chairman of the convention; ex-Secretary Fairbank, ex-Minister to Turkey; Senator General Gray of Albany; Horatio C. King, Colonel John R. Fellows, Perry H. Belmont, John DeWitt Warner and others.

From the old Bay state, there were Dr. Everett, the son of Edward Everett, and Godfrey Morse; Maine sent C. Vey Holman; Connecticut, ex-Congressman Lewis Sperry; New Jersey, W. J. Curtis; Pennsylvania, General Pleckett and Assistant Secretary of the Interior Reynolds; Virginia, Colonel Reeves, the world famous engineer; Kentucky, General Buckner, W. H. Haldeman and Colonel W. C. P. Beckwith; Ohio, ex-Congressman Outhwaite, Seney and Haines; Illinois, Senator Palmer, Comdr. Lee Eckels and ex-Mayor Hopkins; Wisconsin, General Bragg and Senator Vilas; Minnesota, Daniel W. Lawlor; Iowa, Henry Volmar; Missouri, Judge Brauchler and F. LeMay; California, John P. Irish; Colorado, Louis R. Ehrlich; Louisiana, Senator Caffery and John H. Spellman; Alabama, J. M. Faulkner and ex-Governor Jones; Georgia, W. S. Thompson; Washington, Hugh C. Wallace.

There was plenty of enthusiasm, and demonstrations were numerous. The delegates cheered at the sight of prominent men. In fact everything and anything. Every reference to Mr. Cleveland was the signal for a cheer, which men cheered and waved whatever they could get their hands on. Miniature flags found their way out of mysterious recesses and were wildly waved on every occasion.

The convention held two sessions, but got no further than effecting the permanent organization. Ex-Governor Flower, the temporary chairman, and Senator Caffery, the permanent chairman, both delivered addresses, and Dr. Everett, of Massachusetts, and John P. Irish, of the Pacific coast, voiced the spirit of the convention during intervals in the proceedings. There was not a jar or hitch anywhere.

The temper of the delegates was displayed in the vigorous fashion with which the denunciation of the Chicago platform and its candidates was received. Governor Flower referred to Bryan as an "ambitious, unsteady and unsafe" man and a "demagogic and word juggler," with a "revolutionary herd behind him," and the rafters rang with the applause. Governor Flower's speech went somewhat extensively into argument to show that bimetalism as proposed by the Chicago platform was a dream and that the gold standard was responsible for high wages and low interest rates on money.

Senator Caffery, in assuming the gavel for a permanent session, made a very effective appeal in the nature of an appeal for the life of the "old Democracy." He painted the Democracy at Chicago as indulging in a delirium. But he said reason must return, and he appealed from "Democracy drunk to Democracy sober," and asked the convention to again "unfurl the flag never yet soiled by repudiation or stained with dishonor." "While Democracy lasts," he said at the climax of his speech, "the republic will last, and while the republic lasts, human liberty."

Dr. Everett made a stirring speech against sectionalism, and John P. Irish likened the "silver Democratic party" and the Republican party to twin daughters of the same loom, both seeking to raise the price of the necessities of life. In conclusion, he predicted that if this convention did not succeed in vanquishing both it would at least leave one without a sister.

Perhaps the most important action taken by the convention yesterday was the adoption of a recommendation to make the organization permanent, and to empower the national committee appointed to call future conventions. This indicates a contest four years from now over the regularity of the two organizations, and may prove far-reaching in its effects.

Last night a great mass meeting was held, while one set of leaders were at work framing the platform and another trying to fix upon a candidate. There seems to be an almost unanimous sentiment in favor of General Buckner, of Kentucky, for vice president, but the contest for president is still open. Although General Bragg has been seemingly in the lead, powerful influences are at work to defeat him. His reception yesterday in the convention was a disappointment to his friends. It was not as enthusiastic as they thought it should be.

A strong effort is being made to bring out Senator Palmer or General John C. Black of Illinois, and Secretary Morton of Nebraska, and David Lawlor of Minnesota, an enjoyable incident honors. Senator Palmer does not desire the nomination, and there is said to be a letter from Secretary Morton declining to permit the use of his name. Were General Bragg not by, he would probably be named, but he absolutely refuses to consider the question as long as General Bragg is in the field. Watterson's boom does not grow.

The Illinois delegation held a meeting last night, and decided to present the name of Senator Palmer for president if the senator would allow this action to be taken. In case of his refusal it was determined to place General John C. Black in nomination.

It is positively stated that unless something is heard from President Cleveland to the contrary that his name will be presented to the convention for president. The Florida delegation adheres to its determination to place before the convention Mr. Cleveland's name. As the state is well up on the list on the call of the state for nomination of candidates, few nominations can be made before Mr. Cleveland's name is mentioned, and there is a possibility of a stampede in his direction unless the delegates are aware that it is contrary to his wish. In this connection it is stated that the New York delegation might be placed in a very embarrassing position, and it is understood that Chairman Griffin, of New York, has telegraphed the president desiring to know what his wishes are.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gaudeman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at River Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption, and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery. It was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at A. Wasley's drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.00.

Major McKinley's Mail.

CANTON, O., Sept. 3.—Ever since Maj. McKinley returned to Canton from Columbus he has received at his North Market street home an immense volume of mail and telegraphic matter. But the condition this week surpasses that of any time since the campaign opened. Heavy as was the flood of telegrams and letters on his nomination it does not approach that which has followed his letter of acceptance. The mail cannot longer be handled in the ordinary manner of neatly tied packs, but is now delivered in cartons, and the number of telegrams, if counted, would be surprising in the highest degree. To his signed as high as 1,500 letters of acknowledgment in one evening, and still those requiring attention continue to accumulate.

Quinn was surrounded by the posse and made a desperate fight before he was shot, emptying his revolver. Quinn shot Fowler through the head while the latter was hunting squirrels, killing him instantly.
