The Chinese Statesman Monkeyed with Electricity.

IT RESULTED IN A GOOD SCARE.

Further Than That No Harm Was Done to the Nation's Guest-The Distinguished Statesman Continues His Quest for Knowledge by Asking Questions.

Ntagana Falls, Sept. 7. The special train bearing 14 Hung Chang and his party arrived here at noon yesterday. Bain was falling at the time and the visitors dampened their silk blouses and gold lace somewhat in the journey to the Cataract House, where rooms had been engaged. When the rain ceased carriages were quickly summoned, and the visitors spent two hours in inspecting the wenders of two hours in inspecting the wonders of

At the electric power house of the Ningara Falls Power company the distinguished visitor had his first experience with American electricity, the result be-ing as startling as it was unexpected. With his usual curiosity and desire to investigate the machinery before him he pointed at a switch board with his walk-ing stick. The metal forule closed a ciring stok. The metal fertile closed a cir-cuit instantly, and Li's stick was violently thrown from his grasp. He was naturally much astonished at the effect of the stick's contact with the switch board, but fortunately he suffered no damage but a good scare. However, he decided that he had seen enough, and he went to his room, where he remained until bed time. Saturday night Li and his party passed

Saturday night Li and his parry passed their first night in an American sleeping car. Before this noyelty they enjoyed dinner in a dining car. This meal, which was especially prepared by the Pennsylvania railroad dining car people, was quite elaborate. The menu card was decorated with the American and Chinese flags intertwined, and a fac simile of the autograph of Earl Li, done in yellow.

After cating a rather hearty supper Li sent for George W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, who piloted the train over the lines or his company, and spent about two hours questioning him about railroads. He had a map of the United States before him, and once he branched off to the war of the robellion, asking the mane of the states that seceded from the Union. of the states that second from the Union. Li asked particularly about the battles in which Grant participated, and all of them were indicated on the map for his benefit.

The deep interest Li shows in railroad matters convinces those who have paid attention to the subject that his principal object in visiting this country is to study American railway construction and man-agement, with a view to the adoption of ome of the features in a proposed general stension of the Chinese railway system. In fact, the vicercy intimated that he is negotiating for the services of an Ameri-can civil engineer, who, if he accepts the offer made him, will go to China in the offer made him, will go to China in the near future and take charge of the rall-way extension scheme how being out-lined. Li says there are only about 200 miles of single track railroad in China at slept outside the door of his state room.

At Canandaigm the train left the Pennsylvania line and passed on to the tracks of the New York Central. At Rochester General Passenger Agent George H. Daniels, of the New York Central, and Edson J. Weeks, his chief assistant, boarded the train. These gentlemen were presented to Li and then he settled himself comfortably in his arm chair in the observation compartment of his car and with Mr. Boyd and Mr. Daniels on either observation compartment of his car and with Mr. Boyd and Mr. Daniels on either side and Interpreter Marks at his elbow indulged in his favorite pastime of cross questioning for nearly three hours. After ascertaining Mr. Daniels' age and salary he inquired how much President Depew received, and was astonished to the other his salary he organized to the control of t lepew received, and was assentiated to learn that his salary is equal to that of the president of the United States. Li said that if he had some money he would invest it in American railway stocks. He declared he was "too poor, and could not raise $10,000." This statement from the man recombinity regarded as the righest man popularly regarded as the richest person in the world caused a smile.

Arrested After Embarking.

HAVANA, Sept. 7.—Samuel S. Tolon, the prominent merchant of Cardenas and a prominent merchant of Caronias and a maturalized American citizen, who was arrested on Thursday as the Ward line steamer Seneca was on the point of sall-ling, was arrested after he had actually gone on board the Seneca, and not as he was going on board. It is stated that his ticket was issued at the last moment and outside the regulation hours for issuing tickets, and a special passenger list was made up for him. Mr. Tolon when ar-rested was unwilling to go on shore, and a protest against his arrest was reported on his behalf. The captain and consignee of the Seneca persuaded him to make no violent opposition.

Albany, Sept. 7.—More than Iseal and almost national interest attaches to the Democratic state convention that meets in Democratic state convention that meets in Buffulo next week. The nominations which will be made by the convention are of but slight importance as compared with the other issues which confront it. No convention in years, known as a state affair, has been dignified with such im-portance to the rest of states and the peo-ple at large as this one, and this is not surprising in view of the questions that are to will Senator David B. Hill support the Chicago ticket and platform or the In-dianapolis convention:

Will the state organization support both the Chicago platform and ticket, or only the ticket on a gold platform? Will probable support of the Chicago platform lead to a split of the party in New York state?

These are the questions to be solved, and their solving will be the inspiration for one of the prettiest fights ever seen at a state convention and a probable splitting of Democratic hosts which were never of Democratic hosts which were never split here before. Answering the first query, relative to the attitude of Senator Hill, it may be said that Senator Hill's position is an exceedingly curious one. Every principle for which he contembed at Chicago was defeated, and every plank of the platform which he most bitterly as-sailed has become a part of the councila-tions of the Democracy.

one of the Democracy.

On the other hand, every principle which he fought for at Chicago has gone into the platform adopted by the National Democratic convention at Indianapolis Demogratic convention at Indianapolis, and the result would seem to indicate that Mr. Hill must indorse the latter and repudlate the former. But just here, when Scentter Hill's attitude would seem to be solved without any doubts, comes from one close to him a statement that would seem to Indicate another attitude. This trionic save.

Friend says:

"Senator Hill has fought all his life for party regularity, and his position will be defined by the party in convention assembled, and not by himself. When Mr. Hill made his light at Chicago against the adoption of the present platform he did it on behalf of the New York state Democratic party, and not for himself. In all his specches and battles he unceily represented his party in the state, and if that party now sees fit to indorse the Chicago ticket and platform it would be no stultification upon Mr. Hill's part to accept its ultimatum. He must, as at Chicago, go with the majority." with the majority

As to the second proposition upon the question of whether the state convention question of whether the state conventions will inderse the platform and ticket named at Chicago, there is little doubt but that it will. Tammany will send to the convention from each district in New York the district leader as a delegate, and they are instructed to vote for the indersement of Bryan and Sewall. In addition to this, at least nine of the interior countries, how given wideness of the districtions. ties have given evidence of the trier intentions by instructing their delegates to vote for the indersement of the Chleago conven-tion's work. This will result in a second state ticket as well as electors.

In confirmation that such a course is in-tended by the gold Democrats, there is the action by the late Syracuse concen-tion postponing their selection of electors and a state ticket until after this conven-tion has met in Buffalo. Of this General Charles Tracey says: "If the Bryan and Sewalt ticket is indersed and the platform wallowed by the Buffalo convenient there swallowed by the Buffalo convention there is no alternative for the gold Democrats but to name a second ticket. We would not vote even for state officers on such a
