The Mother Gets the Child.

CHAMBEBSBURG, Pa., Sept. 8-An im portant habeas corpus case was decided by Judge Stewart yesterday. Sarah L. Myers left her husband and took with her their three children. The husband recovered one of the children, and the wife sued for the possession of it, alleging that Myers ill treated her. The charge was refuted. The judge said they were both equally able to care for the child. Under the old law he would have given it to the father, but under the law of June 36, 1896, he must give it to the mother. The law makes the mother custoflian where both are equally able to care for the child.

CONLITZ, Prassian Silesia, Sept. 8.-Upon the arrival here of their majosties, the emperor and empress of Russia and the emperor and empress of Germany, the emperor and empress of Germany, instant the wore received in state by yesterday they were received in state by the provincial, municipal and military the provincial municipal and military authorities assembled on the platform of the railroad station. The burgomaster delivered an address of welcome, to which Emperor William replied, expressing the thanks of Emperor Nicholas, as well as his own. Their majestics drove togethe to the review ground, followed by the impresses in a second carriage.

The streets were profusely decorated with Russian and German flags, etc., and packed with crowds of people, the various veteran association, societies, etc., and nearly all the school children of the town and its vicinity in picturesque groups and attired in their brightest holiday clothing. The imperial party was heartily cheered on all sides.

The departure of the czar and czarina was marked by an enthusiastic popular ovation. All of the German princes and the court officials awaited their majestics at the station. The route of the march was lined with masses of troops, and behind the troops stood the dense masses of the people, who cheered vociferously as the two rulers passed. On the platform at the station the czar and czarina bade adicu to the German princes and to the other distinguished persons gathered there, and then, in the most cordial manner, they made their farewells to the emperor and empress of Germany. The two em-presses embraced warmly, both being vismoved, as were also the two emperors ac ezar and ezarina then entered the train, the band again playing the Russian anthem. The Russian imperial pair waved adien from the train until it was out of sight.

The town was splendidly illuminated last night in continuation of the celebration of the meeting of the two emparors.

Li Hung Chang at Toronte

TORONTO, Sept. 8.- The special train with Li Hung Chang and suite on board arrived in the city yesterday afternoon on time. The train was stopped opposite the exhibition grounds and the statesman was met by parliamentary and civic notables and escorted through the grounds to the platform in front of the grand stand where an address of welcome was read to him by Lieutenant Governor Kirkpatrick a man mand he of Ontario, to which Li Hung Chang, through his interpreter, briefly responded. He was chosend by the large crowd present and seemed pleased with the ovation. 4 o'clock he boarded the train for Ne Bay, whence he will continue on his journey to the Pacific coast.
