TURKEY THE TROUBLESOME.

British and French Residents Ask Their Governments' Protection.

BLUEJACKETS FROM WARSHIPS!

An Alliance Urged Between Great Britain And the United States—Placards Inciting the People to Dethrone the Sultan Posted in Constantinople.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 17.—Owing to the Turkish government's communication to the embassies of the powers in regard to rumors of another Armenian outbreak here the embassies yesterday deputed the foreign consuls to authorize the police to enter foreign houses when necessary and arrest Armenians throwing bombs or shooting therefrom.

The offer of the Turkish government to furnish the embassies with guards has been declined, the foreign officials preferring to rely upon the guards of bluejackets from the warships of the powers. Since the issuing of the Hynchakist circular 3,000 Armenians have been arrested, and the exodus of Armenians continues.

A serious panic occurred in the Galata quarter in consequence of the arrest of an Armenian in whose possession were a number of incriminating letters and a revolver. Everybody rushed into their houses and the doors of the shops and dwellings were hastily barred, the people fearing a repetition of the looting and massacring. The panic spread to Pera, and similar scenes were enacted there. It was not until some hours after the arrest was made that the fears of the people were allayed and the shops reopened.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The St. James Gazette, in an article commenting upon the indifference of the European powers in regard to the Turkish massacres, proposes the formation of an alliance between the United States and Great Britain in which Italy might possibly join. "Along among the nations of the earth," The Gazette says, "the Americans can understand the impulse driving a free people into war in order to rescue the oppressed. If the three powers mentioned should present a joint demand to the government at Constantinople it is improbable that any serious employment of force would be necessary." The Chronicle and Daily News yesterday published many columns of dispatches claiming that the European nations are rousing themselves against the actions in the Turkish dominions.

A dispatch from Constantinople says that the young Turkey party is covering the city with placards inciting the people to dethrone the sultan. Serious trouble, it is added, is certain to occur within a week.

The British residents, at the instance of the British embassy, have telegraphed to Lord Salisbury stating that their lives and property are in danger. The French residents have taken similar action. British and French fleets are now near the mouth of the Dardanelles.

The Berlin newspapers have Constantinople dispatches which record the dismissal of the servants of the palace and the foreign officials of the arsenal, showing the nervous tension and the intrigues. Redwan Pasha, governor of Constantinople, has been dismissed and the sultan's brothers have been arrested. Although the sultan still refuses the permission in response to the demand of the powers, that six ironclads should have free passage up the Dardanelles, a proclamation has been read in the mosques which is evidently calculated to prepare the population for this event.

General Weyler's Confidence.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Representatives of the Spanish legation in this city say that additional troops have recently arrived in Cuba, and that others are on the way to begin active military operations again as soon as the rainy season is over. It was originally intended to send 40,000 additional troops, but it is understood that General Weyler is now so confident of the weakness of the insurgents that he considers 20,000 additional men sufficient for the purpose he has in view. Spanish officials here confidently predict that the war will end within a month after military operations can be actually resumed. The 20,000 additional men, it is said, are to be distributed in Pinar del Rio. Immediately upon the arrival of all of these men it is the intention of General Weyler to strike the final blow to the insurgents.

American Passenger Ticket Agents.

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 17.—The American Passenger and Ticket Agents' association, after two long sessions, adjourned to meet at St. Louis in October, 1897. W. B. Martin, of the C., C. and St. L. railroad, was selected as orator of the next convention. The closing hours were occupied in debating the reports of the several committees on the question of interstate tickets and unlimited time tickets and the adoption of a new form of paper for tickets. The only one of the subjects decided was the fibre paper. Counterfeiting had become a source of trouble to the railroads and the action taken is to prevent it.

Death of Ex-Congressman Ashley.

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 17.—Hon. James M. Ashley died at the Alma (Mich.) sanitarium yesterday. He was born in Pennsylvania Nov. 14, 1824. His father was a minister, and his mother a woman of culture and refinement. In 1851 he removed to Toledo, and engaged in the drug business until 1856, when he entered politics, being a delegate to the Republican convention that nominated John C. Fremont for the presidency. In 1858 he was elected to congress and took a leading part in the stirring debates of 1859-60. He served in congress until 1869, when he was again re-nominated, but defeated.

Our free lunch to-morrow morning will consist of nice oyster soup.

WHITELOCK'S SHOE STORE for children's school shoes. The best and cheapest.

DESTRUCTIVE HAIL STORM.

Over A Thousand Panes of Glass Smashed To Pieces.

The hail and thunder storm which visited this borough shortly before noon today, was without a doubt the most destructive one ever witnessed in this section. The hail stones were nearly as large as eggs, and although it was of only a few moments, over a thousand panes of window glass were smashed to pieces. Nearly every building on the south side of streets running east and west shows evidence of the damage done. The West street school building probably fared the worst. Employes of window glass establishments will not want for work for at least a week or ten days.

SAVE YOUR MONEY.

Buy Your Clothing Where You Get the Best Value.

Whenever you hear of a clothing house buying a stock by wholesale, that is the place where you want to go to get your clothing at retail, because you save the difference that dealers who buy small stocks must pay. We have a brand new stock of clothing and can undersell any other house in the town as we have bought 100 pieces of each style so as to save the difference between the manufacturers' and jobbers' prices.

Besides this we have the largest retail clothing house outside the large cities, and our recent enlargements have given unequalled opportunities in the way of light, so that our customers can see just what they are buying. We challenge competition in prices and are offering clay worsted suits at $6. No other dealer in the town can sell them at less than $8 or $10. We also have a great stock of nice dress suits, with satin lining or without, and children suits we have by the carloads, with no end to styles. See our line of hats, especially "The Broadway." Nothing like it.

TERRIBLE RAILROAD WRECK

A LEHIGH TRAIN RUNS INTO A P. & R. ENGINE AT MAHANAY CITY.

ONE OF THE ENGINEERS KILLED

ABOUT A DOZEN PEOPLE INJURED, BUT NONE FATALLY.

ONE FIREMAN'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Mail Agent McMurday Among the List of Injured—Fireman Brosius Says He Warned Engineer Beaver to Stop—Both Engines Were Badly Wrecked.

Special to EVENING HERALD.

MAHANAY CITY, Sept. 17, 3 p. m.—One man killed and about a dozen injured is the story of the terrible wreck which occurred here at the P. & R. crossing of the Lehigh Valley railroad, a short distance above the Lehigh Valley station, at 1:25 this afternoon. The unfortunate man killed is James Beaver, of Frickville. He was an extra engineer on P. & R. engine No. 412, which was running "empty."

George Brosius, of Frickville, fireman of the same engine, had the left side of his face and head badly cut, and his face was scalded. His body was also injured.

James Shaffer, engineer of the Lehigh Valley engine, was injured about the face, his left hand was badly cut and both his legs were injured.

A number of the passengers on the Lehigh Valley train were slightly injured. Many were thrown from side to side in the car and some over the backs of seats.

S. O. McCurdy, of Sunbury, mail agent on the Lehigh Valley train, was injured about the legs and sustained a severe gash over one of his eyes.

One woman whose name could not be learned was hurled bodily over a seat and in falling her head struck the car heater. She sustained a number of cuts on the forehead and both sides of the face. Her name could not be learned. It has since been ascertained that she resides at Delano. She was removed to the home of friends in Shenandoah.

The accident happened in this way: Lehigh Valley passenger train No. 1, drawn by engine No. 67 in charge of Engineer James Shaffer and Fireman Harry Folwell, due 1:14 p. m., was behind time on account of a delay at Park Place caused by a wait on a train going east. The train was running at a very rapid rate to make up time. When near Spockle's boiler shops and several yards from the crossing the Lehigh engineer noticed the P. & R. engine coming out from behind the boiler shops towards the crossing with no cars attached. He blew his whistle and put down brakes, but could not avoid the collision.

Conductor George Keating was awaiting the arrival of the P. & R. engine on the other side of the crossing. Brosius, the P. & R. fireman, saw the approach of the Lehigh train. Beaver, the engineer, could not see it, on account of the boiler shops cutting off his view. Brosius called to his partner, Shaffer, "Here comes the Lehigh train. You had better stop."

At this time the P. & R. engine was about 35 feet from the crossing. Instead of applying the steam to his brakes Beaver must have put on more speed to try and get over the crossing ahead of the Lehigh train.

The fireman jumped up on the tank of his engine and this accounts for escape from death. When the two engines struck each other one was thrown one way and the other in another direction. Beaver fell under his engine and was pinned under it about an hour before he could be extricated.

John Grant, of Shenandoah, was one of the Lehigh passengers, but escaped injury. [The train referred to above was due here at 1:40 p. m. It arrived here at 2:25 drawn by an extra engine sent down from Delano, the wreckage being cleared from the tracks at Mahanay City in the meantime. Etc.]

Test Ride at Lavelle.

S. K. Stutzman, of Reading, who rides a Faust Racer and was to have tried for a track record at Lakeside last Saturday, but was prevented by the storm, will make the trial at the Lavelle fair grounds on Sept. 22nd.

Last Night's Sociable.

Robbins' hall last evening was the scene of a pretty farewell gathering tendered to Miss Reilly, of Philadelphia, who left for her home to-day after a pleasant stay here for several weeks among friends. The hall was tastefully decorated with flags and bunting, which presented a beautiful sight. Dancing was the principal feature of the evening, which was indulged in by fully 100 couples, and the music furnished by Messrs. Reilly, Curtin and Portz was excellent. At midnight a luncheon was served. Visitors were present from Mahanoy City, Centralia, Mt. Carmel and Shenandoah. The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Messrs. John Connors, Michael Durkin and Thomas Baird.

The truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. That's our motto; and we add leather, solid leather and nothing but leather. That's the way our shoes are built. 7-18-14
