THE BOMBARDMENT OF HAIL.

Yesterday's Storm Will Not Soon be Forgotten.

NEARLY 10,000 PANES BROKEN!

Several People Narrowly Escaped Being Killed—Many Buildings Sustain Considerable Damage and Glaziers Are Busy in All Parts of the Town.

The hail storm that swept over this town yesterday afternoon was the most severe that ever visited the borough within the recollection of the oldest inhabitants. The town had many times suffered from rain storms of great severity and it is not a stranger to blizzards, but the cyclonic sweep of last evening beat all. Such hail stones as fell were the greatest kind of curiosities. Herebefore hailstones of the size of plums have been the standard in this section, but yesterday they were eclipsed by thousands of pieces comparing favorably with hen's eggs in size. The damage done was considerable, but it is surprising that it was not more extensive. Great lumps of ice driven by a fearful gale swept against the building with a force that threatened to beat down everything in their path. It is also considered remarkable that bodily injury was not inflicted. H. C. Palmer and Alex. Sueddon found a hailstone measuring 3/4 inches in circumference.

A sharp electrical charge accompanied the storm and many cases of narrow escapes were reported. Robert Fishburn says a bolt struck the ground so close to him that several minutes elapsed before he became satisfied that he had not shaken off the mortal coil. Druggist Kirlin says a shaft of lightning toyed with his cash register for two or three seconds. He stood a few feet from the machine and was momentarily paralyzed by the shock. Mr. Kirlin says it was the most glaring attempt at till tapping he ever witnessed.

James Moyer, of West Cherry street, had a thrilling experience during the storm. He had been delivering goods down the valley and was driving through Lost Creek No. 4 when the storm appeared to be at its height. A gale struck the wagon, lifted it clean off the road and threw the vehicle upon its side. Mr. Moyer and a minor riding with him were hurled several feet, but neither sustained injury. When the wagon was thrown the horse took fright and plunged madly until it succeeded in breaking away. The horse was caught at Brownsville and taken back to haul the badly wrecked wagon home.

It is certainly an ill wind that blows nobody good luck and the storm was a gale of good fortune for the window glass dealers. They found difficulty in meeting the sudden and enormous demand for glass last night. At no other time in the history of the borough has so much glazing been done at one time. It is estimated that from 12,000 to 15,000 panes of glass were destroyed by the hail. The storm came from the north and windows facing that direction were bombarded as if by cannons. But there were many remarkable developments. For instance, the Isaac H. & L. Company's building at the foot of Locust Mountain presented a broadside to the storm. There is nothing for protection between the building and the mountain, yet all but six of the panes in the many windows escaped, while the German Parochial school and the McMenamin properties, with similar locations on Line street, looked as if they had been stormed by canister. Another peculiar instance was furnished at the corners of Main and Lloyd streets. On the north side of the building at the southwest corner, occupied by Jeweler Holderman, 12 panes within a small area were shattered. The L. J. Wilkinson property is located at the southwest corner and extends 150 feet east on Lloyd street, presenting a large area of glass to the storm, yet in the thirty-one windows only one pane was broken. In addition contrast with this the O'Hara property, located just east of Mr. Wilkinson's, and which is in a great measure protected by trees, lost 37 panes.

The storm played havoc with several of the school buildings and as the great hail stones pelted through the window panes and into the school rooms the children became greatly alarmed. In several instances panics were barely averted. Many children were struck by the hail and this, with the accompanying gale and vivid flashes of lightning, caused them to become terror stricken. Fortunately the teachers succeeded in pacifying and holding them under restraint until the storm abated.

A review of the damage caused by the storm showed that nearly all the buildings on the south sides of Line, Coal, Lloyd, Centre, Oak and Cherry streets suffered more or less, and many of them extensively. The Delaney property at the corner of Centre street and Pear alley lost 14 panes of glass, the Ferguson House 14, Egan building 11 and east of that place to Plum alley, including the rear of the Kendrick House, on north side, 60 panes were wrecked. The unprotected north side of the Dougherty building at the corner of Centre and Jardin street, escaped without a break. In the Centre street school building 16 panes were shattered. The old White street school building lost 32 panes and the High school building 8. The Schloss residence on North Main street also suffered. One of the large panes and two small ones in the new White street school building were ruined. John A. Lewis has 24 panes to replace in his West Cherry and Laurel street properties. In the building of Joe Raytkiewicz on West Cherry street 27 panes were broken. The Grant mansion lost 8, but the five three-story buildings on the south side of Wick street, between West and Chestnut, formerly owned by C. E. Titman, with 80 large windows fully exposed to the storm escaped with only the cracking of one pane. The stained glass front of E. J. Brennan's place on West Cherry street suffered considerably and a part of P. J. Mulholland's ornamental window on East Centre street also fell before the hail.

Several of the churches also suffered and the Annunciation rectory presented a bombarded appearance. Six parts of the stained glass in the front of the church were wrecked and nine in the Methodist Episcopal church. The P. M. church and personage also suffered, and the old Evangelical church. While the Yom Kippur services were in progress in the synagogue the hail shattered several panes at the rear of the building, causing some alarm among the worshippers.

One freak of the storm occurred on West Lloyd street. A hail stone passed through the window of a barber shop making a hole as clean as a bullet could have made, and carried a chimney from a lamp that was on a bracket just inside the window.

The houses at Turkey Run suffered greatly. In one house only one of twelve panes escaped.

At Park Place at least 1,000 panes of glass were destroyed, while Jackson's patch looks as if it had been battered with shot. On the south side almost every pane of glass was destroyed. In one house 57 panes were broken and 31 in another.

The Catawissa Valley suffered greatly. The farmers came to town in droves to-day looking for window glass and putty. The apple trees were stripped of all the fruit and many farmers say they will not be able to get the crop from the ground in time to prevent great waste.

At the Delano shops every pane is broken and Supt. Blakley's house is badly wrecked. At Mahanoy City, and Shoemaker's similar damage was done. The Lehigh Valley east bound train from Mahanoy City, was in the storm and every window on the north side of the coaches was broken, as well as all the ventilators. Several of the houses in Shoemaker's were unroofed.

At Bloomsburg Dillon's hot houses are practically a total loss, as between 28,000 and 70,000 square feet of glass were broken, as well as many valuable plants. At the State Normal School 500 windows were broken, and throughout the town at least three-fourths of the window panes were smashed by hail.

Lewis Lehe, engineer at West Shenandoah colliery, carries on his head a lump raised by a blow from a large hailstone that entered through the open sky light of the engine house.

The trough which is used to carry the slush from the Wm. Penn colliery was blown down and the greenhouse at the residence of Superintendent William H. Lewis was greatly damaged.

At Breese's Haulto Cafe. Delicious Boston baked beans and pork will be served as free lunch to-morrow morning. Plenty for everybody. Meals served at all hours.

SAVE YOUR MONEY. Buy Your Clothing Where You Get the Best Value.

Whenever you hear of a clothing house buying a stock by wholesale, that is the place where you want to go to get your clothing at retail, because you save the difference that dealers who buy small stocks must pay. We have a brand new stock of clothing and can undersell any other house in the town as we have bought 100 pieces of each style so as to save the difference between the manufacturers' and jobbers' prices.

Besides this we have the largest retail clothing house outside the large cities and our recent enlargements have given unequalled opportunities in the way of light, so that our customers can see just what they are buying. We challenge competition in prices and are offering clay worsted suits at $4. No other dealer in the town can sell them at less than $8 or $10. We also have a great stock of nice dress suits, with satin lining, or without, and children's suits we have by the carloads, with an end to styles. See our line of hats, especially "The Broadway." Nothing like it.

THE LAST DYNAMITE ALARM

Tynan Relies on France to Refuse Extradition.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST A RESCUE

No One Allowed to See the Prisoner—He Replies to a Series of Written Questions That He Does Not Desire Legal Assistance.

BOULOGNE-SUR-MER, Sept. 13.—Frederick Gallagher, representing himself to be a cousin of Tynan, in company with a journalist, vainly sought to obtain access to Tynan in prison yesterday. The strictest precautions are being taken to prevent any attempt at a rescue of the prisoner. The public prosecutor permitted Gallagher to write a series of questions, which were submitted to Tynan, who only replied to one effect, that he did not desire legal assistance, and that he relied upon the French government to refuse his extradition.

It is learned that Tynan embarked at New York under the alias of London, and that he touched at Gibraltar en route, where he obtained leave from the authorities to inspect a part of the fortress. Tynan had £25 sterling in his possession, when arrested here.

The chemist who sold acids to Kearney and Haines, the men arrested in Antwerp on suspicion of being concerned in the dynamite plot, states that the quantity demanded was so large that he demurred. Upon this the Tynan followers produced letters of recommendation signed by a large New York chemical firm. The chemist's name is Broch.

The correspondent of The Times says: "Now it is certain that the czar's plans (regarding his visit to England) have not been altered. The Paris newspapers are less inclined to excuse Tynan and less suspicious of the motives of the English police."

The Chronicle's correspondent at Paris professes to know that the United States government "has resolved not to allow its easily acquired citizenship to become a mask for crimes against civilization." The war office has doubled the force of police and sentinels who are guarding the powder magazines at Woolwich.

An Anarchist Arrested in Denmark. COPENHAGEN, Sept. 13.—An anarchist named Mackner was arrested here this morning on arriving from Stettin. Mackner was recently expelled from France and will probably be detained in custody here until the czar and czarina leaves Denmark.

Tynan a Citizen of This Country. NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The records of the court of common pleas show that P. J. P. Tynan, the dynamite suspect under arrest at Boulogne, France, has been a citizen of the United States since August, 1888.

Man and Wife Acquitted of Murder. WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 13.—Edward Younitz and his wife Catharine, were acquitted of murder in court yesterday. The tragedy took place at Lettimer last May. Angelo Dangelillo was found murdered in Younitz's house. Mrs. Younitz once gave herself up as the murderer. She claimed that Dangelillo had attempted to assault her while she slept, and she shot him down. The woman was committed to jail, where she remained until yesterday, and when she took the witness stand in court she told a different story. She said she was innocent; that she made the sacrifice for her brother, who is now in Europe. It was the brother, she said, who fired the fatal shot when the murdered man attempted to enter her room. She thought he would be hanged, so she concluded to shoulder the crime on herself.

After hearing the testimony of several witnesses Judge Lynch ordered the jury to acquit her husband.

Fire in the Diamond Match Building. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—Yesterday a fire broke out in the Diamond Match company's building, Nos. 216 and 218 North Fourth street, which at one time threatened the loss of the entire block, but, fortunately, through the plucky efforts of the firemen the flames were conquered after causing damage only to the extent of $4,000.

Half Time in a Lancaster Mill. LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 13.—Notice has been posted in Farnum Cotton mills, Nos. 2 and 3, that, beginning next week, the mills will only run half time. Slack demand for goods is the assigned cause. About 700 hands are affected.

Pennsylvania Lutheran Synod. EASTON, Pa., Sept. 13.—At yesterday's session of the East Pennsylvania Lutheran synod Revs. D. M. Gilbert, D. D., of Harrisburg, and W. S. Hinman, of Columbia, were re-elected president and secretary, respectively, and Rev. A. H. E. Fisher, of Boston, treasurer. Rev. Dr. A. S. Hartman, of Baltimore, general secretary of the board of home missions, made the principal address.

Writ Against Insurance Companies. HARRISBURG, Sept. 13.—The Dauphin county court granted a writ yesterday on the suggestion of the attorney general requiring the Commonwealth, Niagara, Atlantic and Rittenburg Mutual Fire Insurance companies to show cause why their business should not be closed and receivers appointed.

Terrible Accident to a Lehigh Student. SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 13.—J. ABER, aged 20, a Lehigh University student, residing at South Bethlehem, met with a terrible accident, whereby he had both legs cut off. He had been to Easton, and on returning home jumped from a Lehigh Valley train before it reached the depot, and was thrown under the cars. He may not recover.

FRIGHTENED BY THE STORM.

Several Teams Run Away, But Cause No Serious Damage.

After delivering a load of lumber to the Kelley Run colliery yesterday afternoon Robert Brobst started for his home in the Catawissa valley with the team of four mules and got caught in the storm. The mules took fright from the hail and ran away while descending Krebs' road. Brobst was thrown from the wagon, but only sustained a few slight bruises. He had a narrow escape from death, however.

A team driven by Anthony Haak was started by the hail striking their backs. All the beer kegs were thrown from the wagon and scattered along Main street. The driver had one of his hands injured. The horses collided with a telegraph pole at the Pennsylvania depot and were caught there. Four teams of the Columbia Brewing Company and one belonging to Christ Schmidt ran away during the storm, but were stopped before any damage was done. Schmidt's team took refuge from the hail under the awning in front of Block's clothing store on South Main street.

Hickert's Cafe. Our free lunch to-morrow morning will consist of nice oyster pie.
