usually more than 50 per cent of these voters were Democrats. Surprising as this statement is it is doubtless not an exaggeration. The Hebrews as a rule are shrewd, keen business men and accumulators of property. They are among the first to study and understand financial questions, and they know what the effect of free silver common would be upon every channel of business and industry, and they will do what lies in their power to avert the threatened disaster.

As the season for coids in drawing nich, it will be appropriate to state that it has been demotstrated by medical and other experionce that flaxscool is one of the most pleasant and surest remedees for colds that situals the lungs. The methods of its preparation and use are thus given; "Use thanced, either ground or whole, pour over it boiling water. let it steep and drain off the liquid; thin it sufficiently, so that it can be used as a drink. To every howiful add the jules of one lemon. and angur enough to make it palatable Drink freely of this whenever thirsty, and oftener if there is little thirst. While this is a remedy as old as the bills, that fact should not be allowed to militate against it. Our grandfathers and grandmothers understood its virtues fully, and used them with general species.

He said: "It is MONTHEAL, Sept. 18.—Promier Laurier undoubtedly the best feature of the Brooks law and should remain as it is so long as the law remains in force. It is the strongest point on which the people depend for good results. In other respects the law could very properly be amended. For instance, ns should be closed at a reasonable hour at night and kept closed until a reasonable hour in the morning; the kettle trade should be entirely stopped; barroom windowshould be kept clear, so that the people outside and the class known as bottlers, the majority | 25 cents.

or whom supply 'speak-easies' and clubs, should be abolished. But such improvements are not even suggested by the politicians. They are apparently not at all interested in making the law better, but are engaged con tinually in trying to weaken or do away with the strongest and best features of the law. If the granting of licenses were taken out of the hands of our Judges the foundation and framework for good in the Brooks law would be gone and if would simply be a farre."
