Why He Resigned the Leadership of the Liberal Party.

THE DEPOSITION OF THE SULTAN

Would Not, He Says, Remedy the Turkish Atrocities-Dangers of a Possible War with Russin-Urged to Retain the Leadership, Rosebery Refuses.

EDINBURGH, Oct. 10. - The Empire theater here was packed with 4,800 auditors last night to listen to the Earl of Rose-bery, the retiring leader of the Liberal perty. It was his agreement to speak at this meeting which precipitated Lord this meeting which precipitated Lord Rosebery's action in resigning. In his letter to Mr. Ellis, the first Liberal whip, Lord Rosebery said in explanation of his resignation: "When I speak, which I do this week, I must speak my mind without reference to party."

Tremendous enthulasm greeted Lord Rosebery upon his appearance before the audience, the whole assembly singing: "He's a jolly good fellow."

Six Thomas Gibson-Carmichael, mem-

Sir Thomas Gibson-Carmichael, member of parliament for the Midlothian di-vision of Edinburghshire (Mr. Gladstone's vision of Edinburghanire (Air. Giaustone's old constituency) presided at the meeting. In opening the meeting he said that Lord Rosebery was their chosen leader and they were in no hurry to desert him.

The Earl of Rosebery was pale with suppressed feeling when he arose to make his address. He said in part that he had resigned because he could not sucrifice na-signed because he could not sacrifice na tional interest to personal ambition. He welcomed the national agitation in Great Britain on behalf of Armenia, because it would convince foreign governments of Great Britian's unselfishness and integrity, and would strengthen the bands of the government.

But the present agitation, Lord Rese-bery pointed out, differed from Mr. Glad-stone's Bulgarian agitation. Then Great Britain was supported by Russia. Now we have Russia and her armius against us liu-sia's declarations on this point are Solutely conclusive. Moreover, then we had to force the hands of an unwilling government, while now the government is animated by the same wishes as ourselves. They possessed unprintable details, the speaker said, of crimes in horror surpassing all he had ever read. Their ferocity and cruelty seemed to transcend the imagination of very fiends. By advice of the powers they had first doubted these massacres, but the more recent Constantinople massacres made it impossible to dony them. After referring to the unspeakable gov-ernment of Turkey, Lord Rosebery pointed out that partial measures would not suffice. The whole eastern question, he said, was raised. In dealing with the various remedies proposed his lordship said: "The mere deposition of the Sultan the larger issue involved. The proposal to withhold the Cyprus tribute is impracti-cable, as this is paid to the sultan's credi-tors and not to the sultan, and it would e like tickling the tortoise's back to make it laugh.

were not so ideal as to warrant us in acquiescing. He also differed with Mr. Gladstone's proposal to cut off diplomatic relations with Turkey, but they differed, he added, as friends.

Augustine Birrell, member of parliament for the west division of Fife, then moved a resolution requesting that Lord Rosebery should reconsider his resignation. This was carried unanimously Mr. Asquith strongly supported the resolu-tion. Lord Rosebery, replying, said that his decision to retire was the result of mature reflection, was absolute, and was taken under a conviction of necessity.
