PROTECTION AND FREE TRADE.

Twenty-seven Years of Protection (1870 to 1897) decreased our public debt $1,747,001,878.
Three Years of Free Trade (1892 to 1895) increased our public debt $262,349,630.
These are the plainest reasons why McKinley should be elected president, the sooner the better.

A COWARDLY CANDIDATE.

It was a most humiliating spectacle, presented last night at the Democratic meeting, when it became necessary to impart a speaker from Albiontown to this county for the purpose of answering plain and straightforward questions propounded to the Democratic candidate for Congress, Watson F. Shepherd, Esq. The Herald always draws the line of its political opponents, and the questions submitted to Mr. Shepherd in our column of yesterday were such that Candidate Shepherd, by his utterances upon the question, freely acknowledges that he cannot answer to the satisfaction of the voters. If he so desired, it would have required but a few minutes of the time allotted him to answer the questions. But he fully realized his position and knew that the interrogations opened up his indefensible record in an unenviable light before the public.

Many of his hearers laughed up their sleeves while he was endeavoring to prove to them the good effects of free and unlimited mining of silver, when they well knew he was merely a thoroughbred convert—for the sake of office. If it is necessary for Mr. Shepherd to secure a substitute to defend his position as a candidate, what earthly good can he do the citizens of this county as a member of Congress? The voters have little faith in a candidate who will forsake his long cherished views on a question of such vital importance to the people—for the sake of office.

We confess that Mr. Shepherd's political views displayed with discretion in refusing to allow him to explain his position upon the questions submitted by the Herald, but not only as Mr. Shepherd, knew that it would not be an embarrassing position before Democratic candidates, but would endanger his chances of election materially. The opinion of many of his hearers last night was that he acted the coward, and that the excuse offered was a mere subterfuge, in view of the fact that he occupied the platform for twenty minutes in reading extracts from speeches made by some one else, without offering a single proposition himself.

The Hon. W. H. Snowden, the gentleman who essayed to act as Watson Shepherd, has been read out of the Democratic party so often that, not unlike Mr. Shepherd, he can assume almost any position on public questions. There were three important interrogations, however, that even Mr. Snowden steered clear of, namely, those referring to the attack of the Supreme Court and the proper respect for the law of the land. No Democratic orator, outside of Algeed himself, attempts to defend the Chicago platform on this question, before an intelligent audience. They dare not.

Mr. Snowden had a poor respect for the intelligence of his hearers when he asserted that silver was demonetized "secretly and stealthily." The bill was considered by Congress for nearly three years, debated pro and con, before its final passage. In the course of its passage it was printed in full in the Congressional Record thirteen times. This effectively dispenses of Mr. Snowden's (Shepherd's substitute) contention that it was passed "secretly and stealthily."

The next statement by Mr. Snowden (Shepherd's substitute) was that the law of 1873 "demonetized silver." We will content, and the speaker failed to disprove it, that it is impossible to produce a single silver dollar that was ever demonetized by Congress. The act simply declared that hereafter the gold dollar was to be the legal unit of value, which had practically been the case since 1877, and that silver was to be the subsidiary coin for commercial purposes. The silver dollar was merely dropped from the list of gold, because it was at that time practically out of circulation. The law of 1873 gave a few hundred million of value, thus protecting the government from the masses of silver from the mines of the West.

Notwithstanding Mr. Snowden's (Shepherd's substitute) slipshod and schoolboy argument about planting five cent pieces and raising silver dollars, the government to-day pays out silver dollars in any one who will take them, and reserves them in payment of taxes and other obligations, the same as it does the gold dollar. Every business man receives silver dollars in trade the same as he does gold dollars. Every one knows this by personal experience. The Republican party favors the present standard, and we all know that the coin of to-day is silver and gold, with an abundance of greenbacks. The laboring man is not so foolish as to change the present system for the benefit of a handful of silver mine owners.

Mr. Snowden was read out of the Democratic party for opposing the Mills tariff bill, yet he had the audacity to say that the government derived a greater revenue from the Wilson free trade bill than it did under the operation of the McKinley bill. Then, pray, why did Mr. Shepherd's substitute vote against the Mills bill, which was similar to the Wilson bill? He did not vote against the latter bill, for the reason that the voters of Lehigh county refused to return him to Congress. If the revenue was greater under the Wilson bill why was it necessary for the Democratic administration to issue bonds in time of peace?

It is little wonder that the Democratic managers in this county anticipate a Republican tidal wave in November, when the head of the county ticket is compelled to resort to such a position on questions now before the people, and in which we are all so greatly interested. The voters of Shenandoah county have always shown their appreciation of the candidate who hits the courage to defend his position, and Mr. Shepherd will realize that it would have been better for him had he at least made the attempt to answer the Herald's questions, instead of importing a substitute, especially a person who has been repudiated by his own party.

We think Mr. Shepherd is beaten.

Among some good resolutions adopted by the United Mine Workers, at their recent convention in Pottsville, was one which indirectly praises the Hon. Elias Davis and should commend him to the workmen of the whole coal region. We refer to the one approving the semi-monthly pay law, of which Mr. Davis, who was then a member of the Legislature, was the father. This law has been of great benefit to the coal region in general, as business people, too, feel its beneficial effects as well as the workmen for whose benefit it was primarily intended. The Association could, not, of course, as a non-political body, consistently take a hard line political matter, but their commendation of the work of Mr. Davis is a commendation of him as a public servant who faithfully represented his constituents.

The Hon. Patrick Fitzpatrick is the Populist candidate for Congress in the First Minnesota district. Emulating the lead of his fellow, the Hon. Pat, dealt out the "crime or '73" the other evening in a speech. "You all know what Bryan and Lehigh and Algeed say about that, and now let me tell you what the immortal Lincoln says about that great crime." There was a united howl and the Hon. Pat, was hoisted from the platform. Since then he has several times attempted to speak but his appearance is always greeted with a shout of "Say, Pat, what did Lincoln say about the crime of '73," and Patrick subsides.

ELECTION OF MINE INSPECTORS.

We note with regret the resolution adopted by the United Mine Workers, in convention assembled in Pottsville on Saturday, favoring the election of Mine Inspectors by popular vote, the same as county officers are now elected.

When the law creating the office of Mine Inspector was passed, this subject was fully considered, and the consensus of opinion among miners then was that the law would fall of its object if the office were made a political one. After considerable discussion the present mode of selecting the Inspectors was accepted as the best means of keeping these officials free and untrammeled, and to make a change of the kind recommended would not help matters, but rather tend to lower the dignity and usefulness of the office and open the field to politicians, who, of necessity, resort to political methods to obtain it.

It appears from the tone of the resolution adopted that the present law, or the execution of it, does not meet with the approval of the United Mine Workers, but whether the organization fully represents the miners of the region or not does not appear, but the passage of the resolution referred to leads to the belief that the question has not been discussed as fully as its importance requires.

That present Inspectors have too large a field to superintend is apparent, and recognized by both the Inspectors themselves and the miners generally, and the resolution to restrict their duties to a certain number of collieries appears to be a move in the right direction.

We do not believe, however, that such a movement, namely, the election of Inspectors by popular vote, will add to the safety of the men engaged in the very hazardous business of mining coal. It merely places this most important office in the hands of politicians. As it is at present the office is open only to men who can prove, in a severe examination, that they possess the qualifications necessary, which would be impossible if it were made a political one.

Keep politics and the Mine Inspectors as far apart as possible. We have enough now without making this office the sport of politicians.

Cures Talk

"Cures talk" in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as for no other medicine. Its great cures recorded in truthful, convincing language of grateful men and women, constitute its most effective advertising. Many of these cures are marvelous. They have won the confidence of the people; have given Hood's Sarsaparilla the largest sale in the world, and have made necessary for its manufacture the greatest laboratory on earth. Hood's Sarsaparilla is known by the cures it has made—cures of scrofula, salt rheum and eczema, cures of rheumatism, neuralgia and weak nerves, cures of dyspepsia, liver troubles, catarrh—cures which prove

THE DEMOCRATIC MEETING.

Candidate Shepherd Falls to Answer the Herald's Pertinent Questions.

The Democrats of town held a mass meeting in Ferguson's theatre last night and had an audience of about twelve hundred who vociferously applauded everything that crossed Bryan's lips and aided the speakers in ridiculing the Republican candidates and their platform. A notable omission in connection with the meeting was the fact that not one word of reference was made to the county, or "whole" ticket.

The meeting was called to order by James F. O'Haren, whose stock in trade was the reading of a list of 102 vice presidents, ninety per cent of whom had the pleasure of hearing their names publicly announced for the first time. The laughter of the audience attested the novelty of the incident.

Among those seated on the platform were Candidates W. F. Shepherd, Phil. Connell, George Folmer, ex-District Attorney James W. Ryan and P. J. Ferguson, Dolphin.

Andrew Burke made an address of about 20 minutes duration in which he briefly reviewed the history of the day and then introduced W. F. Shepherd, Esq., of Pottsville, the Democratic candidate for Congress, who prefaced his speech with the announcement that on account of the illness of his wife he would make his address short and confine his remarks to the monetary question, which he did. He studiously avoided all reference to the series of questions the Herald publicly put to him in its issue last night and confined himself to what he called a consideration of the monetary question. In the exordium of his address he apparently forgot home afflictions, but at no time did he come within touch of the Herald's challenge. As a matter of fact the greater part of his speech consisted of alleged quotations from speeches of Daniel Webster and Henry Clay. Once he allowed himself to drift towards the line which the Herald yesterday tried to draw him, but he was largely and scornfully out of the position by saying "There is no reason for discussing any of the little flippant theories to simply satisfy some inquisitive persons?" Later in the evening, however, Mr. Snowden discovered that there was reason and attempted to throw the life line to the wall-paper ornament who would decorate the walls of Congress if the voters of the county fail so inclined.

Mr. Shepherd's speech can be embodied in few words. He told the audience that he was opposed to England governing America. The audience signified its hearty approval of the sentiment. It was noticeable, however, that a storm of applause did not mark the speaker's withdrawal. The sleep evidently was not pastoring upon the greases that the shepherd assigned to them and were reflected upon poster's ears. Mr. Snowden, of Albiontown, was the second speaker and he was worth the best seat under the finest circus tent that ever hung from a pole. He is one of those stout, elderly gentlemen who rank among the inevitable companions. He can make one laugh by the manner in which he wrinkles his forehead and looks over his eye-glass in search of commendation and applause. As an orator he ranks fully with Denham Thompson, of "Old Homestead" fame and as a humorist he would give M. P. Wilder a sweat on the homestead. It is difficult to think of one who can afford a more pleasant evening. Albiontown should be proud of him. He is an excellent representative of the present county. His first utterance was a signal for retirement. He said, "I am delighted to be confronted by such a large assembly of sane and sensible men. The audience appreciated the compliment and applauded him vociferously. On second thought the speaker said, "I have never had a more magnificent or intelligent assemblage than that which confronts me now." The reception of the compliment may be imagined. Everything went so long as it was Bryanism and Mr. Snowden smiled as he discovered that those whose visions had not penetrated the anarchistic joke were still in sympathy with him. Mr. Snowden then proceeded to impress upon the assembly the argument that the Republican party was seeking to reach the footstep of the British government. The greater part of his speech, which extended over two hours, was on the monetary question. After speaking some time Mr. Snowden took up some questions propounded to W. F. Shepherd, Esq., the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Herald's issue of last evening, and attempted to answer four of them, but left four of the most direct and important queries without consideration. He said Candidate Shepherd had the right to change from the gold to the silver standard on the principal that the minority must succumb to the majority; that the candidate endorsed the gold standard at a state convention in Albiontown, but when he found that the national Democratic convention had turned down the theory Shepherd, too, turned down his views. Mr. Snowden also stated that the protection and free trade quotation at the head of the Herald's editorial column was not correct and that more revenue by $31,000,000 had been derived during the first year of the Wilson bill than the last year of the McKinley bill. Mr. Snowden also said he believed that silver was demonetized secretly and stealthily and said that James G. Blaine and Senator Voorhees did not know it had been done until their attention was called to it.

Congressman Snowden failed to touch the question bearing upon the plank in the Chicago platform attacking the Supreme Court and that attacking President Cleveland for maintaining respect for the law. He closed his address by declaring that Bryan was a wonder and his like never lived. He pronounced him a second Abraham Lincoln.

"Congressman Snowden is certainly a very interesting speaker and would score excellent success on the lecture platform."

Phil. Connell, the Democratic candidate for Clerk of the Courts, was the next speaker and he made an address that bubbled with patriotism. Ex-District Attorney James W. Ryan followed with a brief closing address in which he summarized what appeared to him to be tokens of Democratic victory and Chairman Burke dismissed the assemblage with a few well chosen remarks.

Engraved Invitations.

Notwithstanding the fact that we have one of the finest job offices in the interior of the state, none within the interior is being able to keep pace with the times and to meet the want of our patrons. Besides the addition of a number of the latest forms of job type, we are now prepared to furnish wedding invitations, ball programs, etc., equal to the finest work of the engraver of our-fifth the amount charged for this class of work. Call at our office, or drop us a postal card, when in need of these things or any kind of job work. You will be well pleased with the workmanship and the price.

The Coming Royal Wedding.

CETTIGIO, Montenegro, Oct. 20.—The Crown Prince of Naples and the Princess Helena of Montenegro, started for Italy yesterday, accompanied by the prominent members of the Montenegrin family, who will be present at their marriage. The route to the station was lined by the army, a royal salute was fired and the prince and princess were enthusiastically cheered.

Consul General Lee's Vacation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—It is estimated in official circles here that although no regular formal leave has yet been issued to General Fitzhugh Lee to absent himself from his post as consul general at Havana, that he has arranged the business of the consul generalship so that it may be safely left for a time at least to Mr. Springer, our energetic vice consul general. It is expected, therefore, that he will soon pay a visit to his home in Richmond.

Disbanded Postmaster Removed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The president has removed Postmaster John H. Lewis at Black River Falls, Wis., and appointed David Thompson as his successor. The summary action in dismissing Lewis is due to disclosures of alleged corruption entered into to obtain office. Lewis was appointed Dec. 11, 1896. In a recent political discussion it was asserted that Lewis paid a large sum of money to a local newspaper to support his candidacy for the office and a subsequent investigation, the department claims, has substantiated these charges.

Kansas Mail Robber.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 20.—A daring robber of the mails has been arrested here by the postal authorities. The culprit is C. H. Hamilton, alias Wallace. Hamilton appeared at the Union depot wearing the brass buttons and uniform of a railway mail agent. He stepped boldly up to a truck that was standing under the depot sheds, pulled down a letter pouch and carried it into a waiting room. There he placed the pouch under an overcoat that hung upon his arm and walked into the street, not knowing that he had been "shadowed." A short time afterward Hamilton was arrested at his hotel. He had cut open the sack, and was going through the letters which it contained when the officers broke into his room. He had already extracted several small sums of money.

ONE DISEASE AND ONE REMEDY.

"The art of painting," said Millais, "consists in selecting the right colors and putting them in the right place."—"The way to win a battle," said Napoleon, "is to mass your troops at the critical moment against the weakest spot in the enemy's line."—"The way to cure many ailments," said the great Dr. Abercrombie, "is to purify the poisoned spring in which they arise, generally the torpid and inflamed digestive system."

Thus wisdom and experience simplify and condense. Thus the Shakers of Mount Lebanon reasoned when they sought, and finally found, a remedy for indigestion and dyspepsia. Where one person has something else, they argued, a thousand have this. To cure this alone will almost rid the world of sickness. Why should we vex ourselves with confusing definitions? A good digestion is life and health; a bad one disease and death. Hence, from the healing and stimulating mountain herbs, they extracted the principles which make the Shaker Digestive Cordial the rarest and most effective of medicines for one disease, and one only—indigestion and dyspepsia.

Do you suffer from any of these miserable feelings—depression of spirits, heaviness and pain in the stomach after meals, bad taste in the mouth, wind in the bowels, irritable disposition, nervous weakness and alarm, worry and weariness, constiveness or irregularity of the bowels, nausea, palpitation, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite and sleep, dry skin, etc.—?

Don't indulge in fifty foolish fancies. You have indigestion and dyspepsia and nothing else. Set the disordered stomach right with the one medicine which will surely do it. Shaker Digestive Cordial, and those symptoms will vanish with their cause. A good effect will follow the first dose. Even chronic cases soon yield.

Test the cordial, at practically no cost, by taking a ten-cent trial bottle. For sale by nearly all druggists.

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS REVOLT.

Rapidly Assuming the Proportions of the Cuban Rebellion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—Advices by the steamer Peru from Singapore and Hong Kong say that the rebellion in the Philippine islands is much more serious than has been generally recognized. It is said the reports of revolutionist defeats sent out by Spanish officers have been greatly exaggerated, and that so far the rebels have more than held their own in the struggle for independence. It is stated the revolution is now beyond the control of the Spanish authorities, and that unless reinforcements are sent to Manila the Spanish forces are in danger of final defeat. The rebels now hold the province of Cavite, are well organized and have 5,000 Mauser rifles. There are many natives in the Spanish troops and the officers are afraid to take native regiments into the interior because their loyalty is doubted.

The Hong Kong Press says editorially that there is no longer room for the least doubt that affairs in the Philippine islands will in a short time assume the proportions of the Cuban rebellion. The natives are determined. As each rebel signs an agreement he writes his name on his arm with blood, and swears vengeance against the Spaniards.

The story of the original plans for striking the blow is a most serious one. For a long time the natives have been conspiring to overpower the government, and it was finally decided to make a strong attack on July 15. Governor General Blanco was to have been murdered by one of the natives on that day, and it was arranged to swoop suddenly down upon the body of Blanco who attended the funeral, kill as many as possible, then ransack the town of Manila and take entire possession of the place. It is due to a woman that the plot was discovered. In confession she disclosed the plot to a priest, who divulged the secret. The arrest and imprisonment of many natives plainly indicated that the priests were cognizant of the arrangements. Towards the end of August the fighting commenced in real earnest, and there have been repeated bloody conflicts between the government forces and the natives.

Holiday Books.

In a short time the reader will have forgotten the excitement of the present political campaign, and the words Republican, Democrat or Popocast will be a thing of the past and your thoughts will naturally turn to the coming holidays with the question, what will be the best thing to buy for Christmas presents for my adult friends, and what will give most pleasure to children and little tots? There is nothing of more value and lasting, or that has come into more general use than the giving and receiving of beautiful books. There are no doubt many of our readers who are ready to act as agents for the sale of a series of four attractive holiday books, ranging in prices from 50c. to $2.25. Such books are published by the well-known firm of Gillespie, Metzgar & Kelley, 639 North Broad street, Philadelphia, Pa. So confident are they of the selling qualities of their books, that they will furnish a handsome combination outfit, free of charge, pay freight charges, give premiums, also allow very liberal commissions to any one who will devote attention to the business. We advise any of our readers who want profitable employment to write to them for particulars.

Disinherited, He Killed His Grandmother.

CLARKSVILLE, Ga., Oct. 20.—St. Clair Glover and his brother, a deaf mute, have been arrested, charged with the murder of their grandmother, Mrs. E. Y. Glover. He states that he killed his grandmother because she put him off in her will. The old lady was wealthy. She was found dead in bed with a body of chloroform by her side. This was placed there to create the impression that it was suicide, but bruises on her face and throat indicated that she had choked to death.

Charges Her Father with Double Murder.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Oct. 20.—Marion Kennard, of Wise county, told his neighbors yesterday that a tramp had killed his wife and 14-year-old son Sunday night, but his daughter appeared with a wholly different account. She said that her father came home drunk, and after quarreling with his wife took a corn knife and deliberately murdered her and the boy. The daughter escaped. Kennard is under arrest.

Sailed Under Sealed Orders.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 20.—The United States revenue cutter Windom left here at 9:30 this morning under sealed orders. It is thought that the orders, which Captain Hand will open when clear of the capes, will instruct him to be on the lookout for filibustering expeditions leaving the Florida coast for Cuba. The Windom is the only United States craft that has left this port under sealed orders in many years.
