The Audrus Mystery.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—But little has been done in the way of clearing up the mystery surrounding the death of Hamlin J. An-drus, of Yonkers, on Wednesday last. Coroner Miles continues to say that he has some direct information as to the persons connected with what he believes to have been a murder, but the coroner and the police are in accord neither in theory nor in action. The inquest was to have been held yesterday afternoon, but was post poned until more definite information has been secured in connection with the wires running into the office where the explosion
