The secretary was escurted from the Gult. The secretary was escapted from the Andrews Homes to the Auditorium by the Young Men's Democratic Sound Money ciub. He was greeted with prolonged cheering when introduced by George M. Davis, of this city. The appeause was almost equaled when in the course of his address he mentioned, abruptly, the name of President Cleveland.

Mr. Carlisle began by stating that it was not the Democratic party that he and those who believe as he does are fighting. those who believe as he does are fighting, but the most unnatural and indefensible presidential combination that ever existed in this country. It began, he said, by the betrayal of the Democracy at Chicago, culminated in the surrender to Populism at St. Louis, and has for its object the election of a candidate who represents both of the parties to the compact and believes in the decreases.

lieves in the doctrines of both.

"If they shall triumph," he said, "we may expect to see the day when thrift and contomy will be punished by confiscation and indolence rewarded by the distribution of spoliation from private estates and the United States treasury."

The result of free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 by the United States alone would be such as we have never known, such a reduction in the purchasing power of money as to make it impossible for a large portion of our population to secure the necessaries of life, and the cutting in half of the value of the savings deposits and insurance policies.

CRESTON, In., Oct. 29.—Amid artillery salutes and the obsering of thousands the salutes and the cheering of thousands the special Palmer and Buckner train drew into this city shortly after moon yesterday. An escort of several hundred G. A. R. men and citizens accompanied the party to the Opera House, already packed with an audience of 1,500 people. General Buckner spoke for thirty minutes, discussing the recovery control with Economy. ner spoke for thirty minutes, discussing the money question with keepness and force. He demounced sectionalism and paid an eloquent tribute to the flag and the integrity of the Union. General Palmer made a short address, directing his words to the old soldiers, commenting with spirit on the effect that free coinage would have in scaling down their pensions.

There was a transor in Major McKlner's voice when, after repeated attempts, e responded to the home greetings of housands of his neighbors and fellow cittsens. His door yard and those of his neighbors were not larget enough for the crowd. For blocks in overy direction street ears, trucks, delivery wagons and carriages blocked the streets. An improvised platform at the pavement edge was used. platform at the pavement edge was used. Above this was an arch of electric lights resplendent with national colors. Business had been almost universally suspended at 4:30 o'clock to allow all mercantile people and employes of their houses to participate. A score of bands and drum corps in the city volunteered their services, and were distributed in the parado which marched to the McKrieve home. which marched to the McKinley home.
This demonstration was the conclusion of an eventful day. There were several delegations from different points in Ohio during the day, as well as a big pairty of Buffalo Italians and a cartoni of West Virginian.

Major McKinley, in his address to Canbusiness men and citizens, said in

"It would be a hard heart, indeed, that would be immoved by this magnificent demonstration of my neighbors and follow townsmon who have assembled here tonight without regard to party, nationality or cread to give expression to their good will for the great cause for which I have been designated to stand. Great issues are involved in the positing struggle. The people are aroused as never before, and I believe that the election next Thosalty will show a much larger rote than was ever policid in the history of our country before.

"They are not only going to vote, but they are going to vote right, as God gives them to see the right, independent of old party or political relations. It is not a content of country to profit the right, independent of old party or political relations. It is not a content of country, not a contention for country; not a contention in content of country in the contention for country; not a contention in content of contention of candidates, it is not a content.

tion for office, it is a contention for country; not a contention inspired by sectional consideration, but of devotion to the duty which affects and Inspires the great heart of the American people. Not since the first shot went crashing against the walls of Sunter, rudely awakening the startled nation to the realization that civil war had commenced, have the masses of our fellow countrymen been aroused as they

"The American people are asked, as they enter the booths next Tuesday, sol-emnly to ratify a proposition that means national dishenor and repudiation. I do not believe they will ever do it. The is-sue may be obscured as it will; brilliant orators may weave the most alluring sophistries, but the plain, bald proposition cannot be hidden. The voters of the United States are asked to say by their ballots that they are willing that our national obligations shall be redeemed by the government in money worth only about one half as much as the government received for them, and that the pen-sioners of this government—the men who were willing to give the best they had, the best that any man possesses their own life-blood-shall have their pensions out

"The proposition is unworthy of Amer-The proposition is unworthy of American citizenship, and is an insult to the integrity, the good faith and the inspiring history of our great republic. It should receive, and I believe it will receive, fitting rebuke from the ballots of 15,000,000 of freemen. It should be so overwhelmingly defeated that no national convention of any great party will ever dare make so debasing a proposition in any im-government obligations. They will never consent, by popular vote or otherwise, to the repudiation of one farthing of their national debt. They will never brook the thought of not looking the whole world in the face and challenging any nation to point to a more honorable or creditable record than ours. There can be no danger of American citizens having to go bowed with shamed faces either at home or

"But, my fellow citizens, the arguments have been made, so the case is ready to go to the jury, and the jury is waiting impa-tiently to aurounce its verdict, and, as Republicans, we confidently submit our contention to the great tribunal of the American people, the highest and greatest hope in the world. They will, I am sure, give the most emphatic indersement of the great principles of our government and demand the continuance of our giverous institutions, unimpaired and un threatened, which for more than a cen tury past have made this the most highly honored as well as prosperous nation of
