CUBAN REFUGEESSTORY

How a Patriot Editor Escaped General Weyler's Clutches.

THE CAPTAIN GENERAL'S POWERS.

His Edicts, Which Have Cost the Lives of Many Innocent Persons, Are Published Only in the Official Gazette, Which Circulates Only Among Spanish Officials.

NEW YOUR, Nov. 20 —Manuel M. Coro-nado, the editor of the Cuban patriot news-paper La Discussion, published in Havana, who escaped from that city in the last days of October, after General Weyler had days of October, after owneral weyter has ordered his arrest, reached New York gas-terday and went to the home of his brother, Francisco Coronado. He brought with him important news for the junia in this city, and early in the afternoon vis-ited the headquarters. Of his escape he sold-said: "When I learned by private the that General Weyler had ordered my arrest I made immediate preparations for escape. The order was not a surprise. I had se-cured as a disguise the costume of an or-dinary sailor. When my house was surrounded by troops I hastily shaved off my heavy mustache, and doming my disguise, which also included a heavy false black goatee, I slipped into the house adjoining mine and made my escape to the street, as I thought, unobserved. Is was 2 o'clock in the afternoon. I jumped was 2 o'clock in the afternoon. I jumped into a carriage, but the alarm was given and the police pursued me in another. "Then I worked an old game. I told my driver to keep ahead, and watching my opportunity I jumped from the mov-ing carriage, and walking back on the pavement, mingled with the crowd and made my escape to the country. A few days afterward, I prefer not to give dates. I durned abcard a solling vossel as a con-I shipped aboard a sailing vossel as a com-mon sailar. The capitain, however, knew mo. "Weyler does as he pleases. His Intest Weyler does as he pleases. His latest sdict is that all persons, men, women and children, who are found outside of the Spanish lines shall be considered rebels and shot as such. This edict was pub-lished only in The Official Gazette in Ha-vana, which circulates among Spanish officers and officials only. There was no way in which those outside of these orders could here of the addet. These is really could learn of the edict. There is no rail-road to Pinar del Rio from Havana, and it is in this province that the edict has cost the greatest loss of life. People taken under this edict are marched outside the gates of the city and shot down by the soldiers. The reports of prisoners captured by Weyler are only the capture of these poor devils.

A POISONER CONVICTED. Sensational Ending of the Case

Against Rev. James C. Hull.

SENT TO PRISON FOR SIX YEARS.

The Prisoner, a Regularly Ordained Minister of the Gospel, Had Administered Arsente to His Wife with the Hope of Securing the Insurance on Her Life,

ST. PAUL, Nov. 20.-The case against Rev. James C. Hull, accused of attempted wife poleoning, came to a sudden and sensational end in the district court yes teralay afternoon. Hull had been on the witness stand since Wednesday afternoon. and had entered a categorical denial to all the state's evidence in regards to the ad-ministering by him of arsenic mixed with ministering by him of arsenic mixed with the medicine his wife was taking. Then the state sprung a surprise in the shape of a letter which Hull had written while in Portland, Ore, last February to the Rev. I. L. Spence, an intimate friend, who was then in Fernando, Cal. In this letter Hull stated that his wife was very slok, that she was suffering from a cancer, and that he generated to be called bence at and that he expected to be called home at any time, and that he thought she would not live through the year. He also stated that an operation had been performed for the removal of the cancer, but it had broken out again. Spence and Hult had been old friends and chums, and when the former heard of the charge against Hull be remembered the lotter received last February, and, thinking its contents would extricate his friend, he enclosed it to some one in Min-nesota. The state in some way because nesota. The state in some way became aware of this letter, and yesterday put it in as oridence. Hull was at first inclued to deny that he had written such a letter, but upon being urged by his own attorney finally admitted its authorship. The evi-dence of the state's witnesses and Hull's own admissions in his previous testimony showed that there had usen he talk of range for a way more no the date of the canon for a year prior to the date of the letter, and that the surgical operation had simply been the dressing of a slight lacer-ation. The state chained that the letter was written with the intention of preparing his triends for the death of his wife, and to provide a plansible cause and to provide a plausible cause. At the opening of the afternoon session Hull's atternet arose and addressing the court stated dat the last withere pro-duced (the latter was of such a character as to remove all further doubt as to his chart's guilt, and that upon his advice that is guilt, and that upon his advice fund's guilt, and that upon his advice and guilty and to throw himself upon the mercy of the court. He further stated that he now believed that Hull's mind was un-balanced, an i asked the court's merciful consideration of the plas. Hull then for-mally withdrew his play for the guilty and Judge Esgan contenced him to six years

Last August he was arrested on com-plaint of his wife, who charged that for a year or more be had been slowly poisoning here by the administration of arcenin mixed with her modifines and with ar-nicles of food. The motive, as shown by the evidence of the state in the trial just the evidence of the state in the trial just ended, was a life insurance policy for §2.500 which Hull had prevailed upon his wife to take out in his favor. It was also shown, and Hull admitted it on the wit-noss stand, that he had been criminally in-timate with his wife's nicce, a girl of 16, who was living with them. Mrs. Hull testified that her husband upon being charged with this misconding finally aicharged with this misconduct finally admitted lt.

Hull has claimed all along that his wife has been subject to fits of insanity since childhood and had treated him harshiy. The couple's 14-year-old daughter was an important witness for the state.

The scene in court when Hull changed his plea and was sentenced was an extremely dramatic one, and strong the nerves of all present to a high tension.
