GUILTY OF ARSON.

A Wealthy Manufacturer Convicted by His Own Evidence,

New Your, Dec. 20.—Isaac Zuker, a wealthy real estate owner and manufacturer, was hat night convicted of arson in the first degree in enusing his Division street store to be set on fire and himself olding in the arrangements for igniting it. It was claimed by the prosecution that Zuker was the chief of the gang of firebugs whose gigantic operations three years ago startled the insurance world, and Morris Schownhole, a forty year termor in Sing Sing for his connection with this crime, was brought from prison to testify against

The district atterney, however, failed to make out a good case until Zuker went on the stand for himself. He was a wretched witness for his own interests, and made minissions that destroyed the defense his counsel had built up. The district attorncy questioned him about the numerous fires that had occurred in buildings occupied by him, and he incriminated him-self by his answers. Among the fires men-tioned were one at No. 48 North Canal street, Newark, in 1879, and another at No. 800 South street, Philadelphia, on Sopt He denied all recollection of the Philadelphia fire, and the prosecution in-troduced documents to prove that fire, including Zuker's testimony in a suit to collect the insurance.

Zuker is a Russian, 49 years old. He came to America in 1868 and went into the clothing business in New York, his success enabling him to open branch stores in Philadelphia and Newark.

Twenty-four Known Dead from the Cahaba Bridge Wreck.

WERE WRECKERS RESPONSIBLE?

George E. Evans, Superintendent of Transportation of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, Still Maintains That the Horror Was Not an Accident.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 29.-The death list from Sunday's wreck at Cahaba river, whereby a Birmingham Mineral railroad train dropped through a bridge 110 feet high on the Southern railway appears now to have grown to twenty-four. This includes the death of W. D. Rast, a bridge foreman, who was killed in a wreck, which resulted from a collision of construction trains at the scene of the first disaster six hours after the bridge

Twenty-one bodies were taken from Cahabs river, and since then it has been as-certained that S. W. Tibbs and wife, who coarded the Ill fated train at Gurnee for Adger, are missing. Tibbs and his wife had been on a visit to the latter's father, near Gurnes. They went to Gurnee early Sunday morning and bounded the train. Since then nothing has been seen or heard of them, so far as can be ascertained, their bodies were not found, and their absence can only be accounted for by the surmise that they must have burned up in the wreck. The railroad authorities say that they have received indefinite in-quiries about the Tibbs family, but know nothing of them

There was little of the debris at the scene of the wreck resterday. Mr. Bryson, who was listed among the fatally ints now numbered among the dead He lived for twenty-four hours in great agony. He was frightfully mangled and burned. When the train made its awful plunge Mr. Bryson did not at first go to the bottom. He was caught between the limbs of a tree, about twenty-live feet above the river bed. The flames from the burning cars below brought him to a consciousness of his perilous position. He managed to extricate himself, and fell bleeding and mangled to the river bottom into two feet of water. He then pulled himself underneath a large rock and, protected to some extent by the running water, he escaped the flames, but was not able long to survive his injuries.

Several persons from Blockton, who were sarly on the scene of the wreck, still declare that twenty-seven bodies were taken out of the river, and that the rail-road authorities are still mistaken in the number killed. The Blockton people seem to think that several bodies were taken away by friends before the relief train left on its return trip with the dead and wounded. The railroad officials, however, are firm in this statement, that only twenty-one corpses were recovered. They

The fact still remains, however, that it druggists. is impossible to know just how many pas-sengers were on the train, and who they were or where they were going.

Still Ascribed to Train Wreckers, LOUISVILLE, Dec. 22.—At the headquarters of the Louisville and Nashville Raiload company in this city Superintendent f Transportation George E Evans still maintains that the Cababa river bridge wreck was the result of a carefully plan-ned scheme of robbers, and does not entertain the idea that it was due to careless-ness on the part of the division superin-tendent or subordinates. He said he could not see how the wresk could have occurred, except as a prearranged affair. The trains move over the bridge at a very slow rate of speed, and it would take a very serious disarrangement of the rails to cause the train to jump the track. A Valuable Prescription.

Claims to Be a Benefactor to Weakened Mankind.

There is always more or less suspicion attached to anything that is offered free but sometimes a man so overflows with generosity that he cannot rest until his discovery is known to the world, in order that his fellow men may prealt by what he has discovered. It is upon this principal that a resident of Kalamazoo, Mich., desires to send free to mankind a prescription which will cure them of any form of nervons debility; relieves them of all the doubt and uncertainty which such men are pocularly liable to and restores the organs to matural size and vigor. As it costs nothing to try the experiment it would seem that any man, suffering with the nervous troubles that usually attack men who never stopped to realize what might be the final result, ought to be deeply interested in a remedy which will restore them to health, strength and vigor, without which they continue to live an existence of untold misery. As the remedy in question was the result of many years research as to what combination would be peculiarly effective in restoring to men the strength they need, it would seem that all men enfering with any form of nervous weakness ought to write for such a remedy at once. A request to H. C. Olds, Box 1712, Kalamazoo, Mich., stating that you are not wanding for the prescription out of idle curiosity, but that you wish to make use of the medicine by giving it a trial, will be answered promptly and without evidence as to where information came from The prescription is sent free and although some may wonder how Mr. Olds can afford to

ENGULFED BY A BOG Singular Death of an Irish Family of Ten Persons.

DUBLIN, Dec. 29.—A family of ten per-sons and a number of cattle have been enguilfed by the subsiding of a bog of 100 acres near Castle Island, County Kerry. It is stated that other persons were drowned at the same time and place.

The subsidence of the bog proves to have been an extraordinary affair. There were terrible storms throughout the night and about 3 o'clock in the morning the people of the district were alarmed by an unusual rumbling, which they feared was caused by an earthquake.

The bog, which was believed to be thirty feet deep, and which had long supplied the neighborhood with peat, was moved for several miles along an old water course, filling a quarry twenty feet deep on the way, flooding the rivers of the country with peat and water and doing a great deal of damage. At the Donely home-stead ten people have completely disappeared, leaving no trace.

An Appenl for Atd.

Boston, Dec. 23.-The Portuguese consul at Boston has received a petition from St. Michael, Azores, which was sent by the Portuguese governor of the province of Bom Jacintho de Teres Adao, asking aid for thousands of suffering inhabitants who lost nearly all their property in a great waterspout on Nov. 2. A number of lives were lost at the time. Part of the city of Povocano, with a population of 25, 000, was carried away, as was also the small town of Riveira Quente. The fishermen off the coast had practically all their boats and equipments destroyed. The authorities did what they could to relieve the distress, but so great was the suffering that they decided to ask Americans to send aid to the various Portuguese consuls.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—No information has been received at either the treasury department or the department of justice respecting the suspected filibuster Three Friends, except the announcement of her selfure, nor have any special instructions been given to the local officials as to the legal course to be pursued. There is no doubt that the officials are not entirely satisfied with the way the business of preventing filibustering expeditions from leaving our ports has been conducted, and it is believed that Assistant Secretary Wike, who is now in Florida, will make it his business to investigate the whole

It is known that the Spanish minister here has made repeated complaint at the state department that some of the government officers in Florida have money interests in some of the steamers engaged in violating the neutrality laws by carry-ing expeditions to Cuba. These complaints have been forwarded to the chief customs officers in Florida, and while the reports admit the fact of subordinates or members of their families holding interests in some of the well known fillbusters it is claimed that this fact has not had and could not have any influence upon the official acts of the subordinate officials. Up to this time these statements have been allowed to pass as satisfactory answers to the charges, but the officials here are greatly annoyed by the frequent suc-cessful trips of the flibusters, and it is not unlikely that more stringent meas ures to put a stop to them will be adopted. Whether the subordinates owning interests in these vessels will be required to resign is not known, but if it is made to ap-per that any one of them is under reasonable susplcion promptaction will be taken

Destructive Fire in Washington

Washington, Dec. 2k.—The large furni-ture house of Julius Lausburg, on New York avenue, near Thirteenth street, was destroyed by fire last evening. The loss on the Lansburg building, stock and ad-jacent structures damaged will amount to about $200,000. The loss on the stock alone is placed at $100,000, on which there is $00,000. The building was principally of wood and with the inflammable nature of the immense quantity of goods made the fire one of the flercest that ever occurred here. In a little over an hour every wall had fallen, and the department was playing upon a mass of smouldering rains. The fire department was handleapped by two additional slavns from other portions of the city almost at the same instant, but succeeded in practically confining the flames to the furniture establishment
