JOHN A. GRANT DEAD.

He Succumbed to Typhoid Pneumonia This Afternoon.

John A. Grant, one of the most prominent and popular young residents of this town, died at his apartment in the Lehigh Valley Coal Company's headquarters at East Creek at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. He had suffered since Monday last from an acute attack of typhoid pneumonia. On Wednesday night his condition became critical and the attending physician, Dr. Brady, of East Creek, called Dr. J. S. Callen, of town, into consultation. The patient rallied, but grew worse again yesterday and last night Dr. Brady, Callen, A. H. Halberstadt, of Pottsville, and Taggart, of Frankville, held a consultation. This morning Mr. Grant was reported as slightly improved, but about five minutes before death his condition took a rapid return for the worse. The deceased was 30 years of age and was the son of Mrs. Jane and the late William Grant. He was born and raised in this town and after graduating from the schools of the borough, took courses at the Girard College, Philadelphia, and Lafayette College, Easton. After completing his education he joined the Lehigh Valley Coal Company and was eventually detailed in charge of the Primrose colliery at Mahanoy City, and when Fred Zerby was transferred to the Hamilton division Mr. Grant was promoted to succeed him as Assistant Superintendent of the Mahanoy division with headquarters at East Creek, a position he filled with success and credit. The deceased was a gentleman of many virtues and had a brilliant future before him. His death will be source of regret to many.

THE BRIBERY CASE.

The Grand Jury Finds a True Bill Against Van Valkenburg.

POTTSVILLE, Jan. 8.—The Grand Jury today found a true bill against E. A. Van Valkenburg, charged with attempting to bribe Representative Weiss, of Northampton county, to vote for Hon. John Wanamaker for United States Senator. It will be remembered that Detective Tildard swore to the information before Squire Keubler, of this town, when the defendant waived further hearing and entered bail. In his testimony the detective says he received $500 in five notes from Van Valkenburg, with which to pay Representative Weiss for the latter's vote for Wanamaker.

Unfounded Report.

A report was circulated to-day that ex-Councilman Edward Devers, who was injured at the Kalkreuth colliery a few days ago by a fall of coal, had died at the Miner's hospital last night. This report was unfounded. In addition to a fracture of the left thigh, Mr. Devers sustained internal injuries and on Wednesday his condition was critical, but Dr. Biddle stated to-day that the patient's condition has since improved and, while his condition is still very serious, the chances for recovery are good.

They are Hustlers.

The advertising and billing of the Kellogg Bird Carnival and Concert Company, which appears here next Saturday evening for the benefit of the poor children of Shenandoah, which was under the supervision of Messrs. J. M. Mulhally and H. C. Hooks, has been completed. Both gentlemen started an active canvass on Thursday evening and solicited a sufficiency of "ads" for a four-page folder in three hours. They are certainly hustlers and deserve much credit at the hands of the residents of town. The folder will appear early next week.

A Shot Fired.

At about 9 o'clock this morning the residents of the corner of Jardin and Centre streets and vicinity were startled by the sound of a revolver shot, followed by the sound of rapid foot falls upon the board pavement. No trace of an encounter was left behind and it is believed that the shot was fired by some six-yearling young men.

THE GOLD DEMOCRATS!

Pay Tribute to Jackson's Day in Chicago.

WATTERSON THE CHIEF SPEAKER

The Eloquent Kentuckian Scores the Chicago Platform as Dangerous to American Institutions and Denounces Protection as Class Legislation.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Representatives of the gold Democracy of Illinois and other states of the middle west, northwest and south, met at the Auditorium last night for the purpose of celebrating Jackson day. Fully 600 men were present, and the banquet was in many respects a notable affair of its kind. Letters were received from President Cleveland, Secretary Morton and Senator John M. Palmer, and a large number of Democrats throughout the country sent messages of regret.

Franklin MacVough was the toastmaster for the evening. In the course of his address he said: "The recklessness and insanity of Populism are paralleled by the heartlessness and the timidity of protection. And Populism and Republicanism stand for the protection and centralization which Democracy abhors. We are the Democratic party of the past. We are the Democratic party of the present; we are the Democratic party of the future. To us will tend, from the one side and from the other, all who either now believe or shall come to believe in the principles we stand for. 'Nothing in American life is more inevitable than that our principles will always have a party. And nothing is more true than that no existing party except ours ever pretends to represent those principles. We can harmonize our currency views with those of the Republican party whenever that party, as in the late campaign, lives according to its best lights, for questions of the currency which involve the honor of the nation have never divided real Democrats and real Republicans. But when that is said all is said. No Democrat can be a protectionist, and no Democrat can be a Populist.' As Mr. MacVough took his seat Mr. Watterson, who was to address the company upon 'The Future of Democracy,' rose to his feet. The ringing cheers that greeted him made it impossible for several minutes for the eloquent Kentuckian to proceed with his remarks. His address, which was received with enthusiasm, was in part as follows: "It was said during the political campaign which closed the 3d of last November that what we call American Institutions were on trial; and, in a sense, it may be said that what we call government is, more or less, always on trial. If, in the creation of the world, God had meant to make anything perfect, he would have begun with man, which we are assured he designed after his own image. But man, at once the source and resource of government, is, among living things, most fallible, and, as nothing can rise above its own level, except Populism and protection—human institutions are apt to sink somewhat below that level. The strife to fix it high or low arises out of divergences in opinions among the combatants. My reading of history, however, is wholly at fault if the good of man be not the final result of every conflict; for I truly believe that, in long run, truth is mighty and will prevail.

In the late presidential election the country was assailed by two dangers, the greater and more imminent for the moment overshadowing the lesser. The voters had to choose between Republicanism, which they had tried and survived, and a combination of factions, with its positive menace to the public order and credit, and its unknown quantities of evil. They wisely chose to postpone the day of execution. But in doing this they did not mean to revitalize any of the abandoned policies of Republicanism, or to commission the Republican party with any new policies. They simply restored it to power and left it to its good behavior. 'As far as I am concerned, and no man's Democracy can go back of mine—though I got it of Jefferson and Jackson, and not of Tillman and Altgeld—whenever good morals against bad money, government against the mob, are the issues, I shall go with that party which stands true to the public credit and order, no matter where it takes me. But, following this law of my being in the campaign just ended, I surrendered none of my original, individual opinions. To my mind one issue absorbed all other issues. The public credit was at stake, and, with it, the public order. The defeat of Mr. Bryan, the election of Mr. McKinley, for the time being, secures us both. 'We are about to close a hundred years of party warfare in the United States. In 1800 we were a few millions of people, and we loved liberty. In 1897 we are eighty millions of people, and we love money. In 1800 the issue lay between the old order of English gentlemen who had signed the Declaration of Independence, led the Continental armies and framed the constitution, and the new order of Americans, who suspected every conservative with being a monarchist, and were in turn denounced by every conservative as a rabble plotting the excesses of the French revolution. In 1800, unless we can order otherwise, the issue will be between the forces of organized capital and the forces of organized anarchy. 'I use the terms 'organized capital' and 'organized anarchy' with advisement and in perfect good faith. They represent not merely the forces back of the present array of forces, but the changes wrought by a century of national development. In the late campaign the Chicago platform stood for 'organized anarchy,' the Republican platform for 'organized capital.' On the latter platform, can the vote that elected Mr. McKinley be held together? If I thought so I would not be here tonight. I do not think so. On the contrary, I think that vote will go to pieces if it be not cemented by something more cohesive than the protective theory of tariff legislation and a Republican fiscal policy, which, to say the best that can be said of it, is yet but a specious bridgehead at the marriage feast. 'The government of the United States has no right, constitutional or equitable, to levy and collect a dollar of taxation except for its own support; and, whenever the Republican party goes to the country on the question of this proposition, and on that alone, it will go to certain disaster. It was saved in the last election because the issue of the public order and of a sound currency stood between the voters and protection, the father of paternalism and the godfather of Populism. If the rich manufacturer can go to congress and demand legislation in the interest of his business, so can the poor agriculturist; so can the poor mechanic; and it is here where the evils of anarchism took their start and have their fortification. 'This is St. Jackson's day, and with reverent hearts we are here to celebrate it. He was a Democrat. We are Democrats. He was for honest money. We are for honest money. When treason reared its head in the form of nullification he struck it a withering blow. When treason, in the form of anarchy, reared its head we struck it a withering blow. And so again and again shall we strike it, whenever and wherever it appears, until we have wiped denouguages and demagogism from the face of the earth and brought our government back to its original functions, the just protection of property and life, and the equalization of all men and all classes in the pursuit of prosperity and happiness. 'Charles S. Hamlin, of New York, the assistant secretary of the treasury, came with an able talk upon 'Our National Administration,' which was very warmly received. 'The letters of President Cleveland, Secretary Morton and Senator John M. Palmer were greeted with cheers. Mr. Cleveland's letter, after regretting his inability to be present, pronounced: 'When passion and prejudice threaten to obscure the meaning of true Democracy and pervert its patriotic purposes, a reunion of those who are Democrats for the sake of principle and the good of their country cannot fail to be inspiring and useful. 'On an occasion when the character and achievements of Andrew Jackson are commemorated the old landmarks of Democratic faith should be distinctly pointed out. At such a time it should be impressed on the mind that Democracy is not simply order; that its regard for popular rights does not mean the care of only a portion of our people; that its loyalty to the constitution and law does not mean a petulant change of the duty of civic obedience; that its aggressiveness does not mean class hatred and sectional rivalries, and that its success should never mean mere partisan triumph at the sacrifice of principle and patriotism. 'The enthusiasm was even greater when General Simon B. Buckner rose to speak for the state of Kentucky. 'The first was represented by John P. Irish, of California, who spoke in response to the toast 'Our President.' 'Other speakers were Virgil P. Kilne of Ohio, W. L. Labb of Iowa, T. J. Mahoney of New York, E. D. Trimble of Missouri, Daniel W. Lawler of Minnesota and Hugh Ryan of Wisconsin. 'Breen's Rialto Cafe Free Lunch. Chicken soup to-night. Hot lunch on Monday morning. Meals at all hours. Free continuous photograph entertainment. All the latest songs and band marches. 'Deer Shooting Match. The Trotting park will be the scene of a gathering of many sports from the region who will contest in a shooting match for the beautiful deer, which was on exhibition at Bicket's cafe during the holidays. The animal weighs 160 pounds and is a fine specimen of deer flesh. Brewer Betz, of Philadelphia, has already offered $40 to the winner of the contest. The deer is still quartered at Bicket's cafe. 'Kendrick House Free Lunch. Sour krog and pork to-night. Hot lunch on Monday morning. 'Church Notice. Rev. Alfred Heubner, pastor, will preach in the M. E. church to-morrow morning and evening. All who are not members of any other church are cordially invited to the services. The morning subject will be, 'Shadow in the Streets of Jerusalem.' Evening subject, 'The importance given in the Bible' to Moral Surgery. An after meeting will be held for revival services. Everybody welcome. 'Schoppe orchestra dancing school on Saturday night. Excellent music and good dancing. 1-4-11 'DID YOU EVER HEAR Of the Kellogg Bird Carnival and its successful entertainment in Pottsville given during the Teachers' Institute last November? Ferguson's theatre, Saturday evening, January 10th. 'Very Cheer. 'The Factory Shoe Store window display is causing much admiration among the pedestrians on Main street. The display represents a donkey made of felt boots surrounded with a big assortment of winter footwear. The donkey is covered with a blanket which contains the inscription 'If this donkey kicks you, it will be felt.' Come again, Manager Moyer.

HENRY WATTERSON.

HOME FROM THE TRIAL!

School Directors and Others Are Returning by Squads.

LATEST REPORT FROM PITTSBURGH.

It is Said the Bogart Button May Have an Effect on the Court Should the Accused Appear For Sentence. Awaiting Developments.

The case of Superintendent C. D. Bogart continues to be the leading local topic and bids fair to continue so for some days. The trial of the case is gradually getting back to town and each new arrival reports a different phase of the case in some quarter, or another. The first to return was C. T. Stranglin, of the HERALD. He arrived last night. John J. Price, president of the School Board, T. M. Stott, C. F. Holderman and School Director Trevis followed this morning. T. R. Beddall, Esq., returned with the party from an interview with Judge Keiler and then went on to Philadelphia. A. W. Schelske, Esq., of Pottsville, reached his home in Pottsville last night. Jim Smith, Jack Toole, School Directors Hann and Higgins, Jack Monaghan and John A. Reilly, Jr., are also in Philadelphia and will return to-night. Superintendent Bogart remained in Pittsburgh and expects to return here before Monday. He is paroled in the custody of his counsel until it is decided whether he would enter bail pending the disposition of a motion for a new trial, or a direct appeal to Superior Court. The Superintendent is as firm in his declaration of innocence as ever, notwithstanding the result of the trial, and declares that those who complain with him as to the Judge's charge to the jury. Should it be shown on appeal that in charging the jury the Judge went beyond the scope warranted by the evidence a new trial would be granted by the Superior Court. 'The most important development in connection with the case this morning was the receipt of the following dispatch: 'PITTSBURGH, Jan. 8.—A Pittsburgh lawyer said to-day that Professor C. D. Bogart, principal of the Shenandoah schools, who was found guilty of assaulting a 13-year-old girl, will likely be sentenced to-morrow, but the punishment will be light. The court, whose charge was directed against Professor Bogart, has since learned that there are many who complain with him as to the Judge's charge to the jury. Should it be shown on appeal that in charging the jury the Judge went beyond the scope warranted by the evidence a new trial would be granted by the Superior Court. 'What effect the result of the trial will have upon the superintendent of the local schools has not been stated. Those in authority who have returned from Pittsburgh declined to make any statements in that connection at present, but it is quite certain that the School Board will meet some time during the coming week to take cognizance of the case. The School Directors who were at Pittsburgh will probably require a day or two to rest after their trip before entering upon conferences with their colleagues on the School Board, so that immediate steps in the matter are looked for. Of course the minority members of the Board will lose no time in demanding the resignation, or removal of Superintendent Bogart. The only hitch in sight is the question whether the Board can act legally, should the superintendent not resign voluntarily, pending an appeal. This question will be the subject of discussion when the School Directors meet for conference. 'At Kepchinski's Arcade Cafe. Hot Tamales to-night. Hot lunch on Monday morning. 'Deserted Her Husband. A pitiable scene was witnessed by several people at the corner of Main and Centre streets this morning. It was the alighting of a Polish woman from a Schuykill Traction car with a baby in one arm and all her personal property in the other. The lady's eyes resembled two lumps of coal and her face was a mass of cuts and bruises. She stated that she lived at Wm. Penn and that her husband had beat her unmercifully for reasons unknown to her. She then decided to desert her husband and seek shelter with her brother, who resides at Hackle. 'THERE IS BUT ONE KELLOGG. And he will be at Ferguson's theatre, Saturday evening, January 10th. 'Tomatoes Will Recover. A message from the Miner's hospital to-day stated that Thomas Tomoniski, the South Jersey man, who suffers from a beating alleged to have been received by William Snyder's saloon in the First ward, will probably recover. Dr. Kennedy, one of the hospital staff, operated on the man and found that the latter's delirious condition was due to a pressure of a part of the fractured skull upon the members of the brain. The inner table of the skull was fractured and the pressure was relieved by trephining. 'Edison X-rays on exhibition at in South Main street. 1-4-11 'C. E. Anniversary. To-morrow evening the Christian Endeavor Society of the Trinity Reformed church will celebrate its first anniversary. The pastor, Rev. Robert O'Boyle, will preach a sermon for the occasion. Everybody is welcome. 'TO CURE A GOLD IN ONE DAY Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25 cents. 'Mr. Cassidy Buried. All that was mortal of William Cassidy was laid at rest in the Annuclation cemetery this morning. The funeral was largely attended. High mass was read at the Annuclation church. A sister of the deceased is also lying very low of typhoid fever. 'AT CLOSING OUT PRICES. 'They are new, the latest and at the very cheapest prices ever offered in the history of hats. Our well known $1.50 hat, at $1.00; our $1.50 hat, at $1.00; our $2.50 hat, at $1.75; our $2.75 hat, at $2.25; our $3.00 hat, at $2.25; in stiff and crush hats, all colors and shades. Must Give His Wife a Home.

Charles Betz was before Judge Keiler, at Pottsville, yesterday charged by his wife with non-support. The case proved to be one of too much mother-in-law. Betz endeavoring to compel her to live with his mother while the wife complained she had found this so unbearable she had to go to her father's home. Judge Keiler ruled that a wife is not bound to live with her mother-in-law, which appears to the average man to be good law and good sense, and sentenced Betz to pay her $10 a month and give $500 bonds.
