The Shamokin Accident.

The coroner's jury has viewed the remains of Miss Maud Götlich, who lost her life by driving with her lover into the mine branch on North Shamokin Mountain. As Mr. Graber will be the principal witness, if he recovers, examination of witnesses was postponed. Mr. Graber is still in a critical condition, his right foot having turned black from being frozen. Heavy damage suits will result, the Mineral Mining Company, of Coal Township, to be held liable for the death.

Specimen to Death.

HAZLETON, Jan. 28.—Near the Last Chance wharf at the bottom of the stripping bank south of Treason, alongside a path that leads from the depths of the pit to the bank, was found the form of a man frozen stiff last evening. The body was under a coat of snow and ice and the parties who discovered it were on their way to this town. The body is that of James Neel, of Locust Gap, aged about 35 years of age. The authorities have turned the body over to Prof. J. B. Boylston in order to give his relatives an opportunity to claim the body, and unless this is done promptly it will be sent to one of the medical colleges.

IMMIGRATION BILL HAS CARRIED.

House Passes the Conference Report by a Vote of 131 to 118.

THE CANAL BILL IN THE SENATE.

Senator Sherman Speaks on Friendly Relations Between the United States and England—The Dupont Case Again Before the Senate To-day.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The debate on the Nicaragua canal bill in the senate yesterday brought out an energetic statement from Senator Sherman, in which he fore-shadowed a new treaty by which the United States could build the canal without the intermediation of a private concession. The senator declared that this governmental execution of the project was the only feasible one and that all private efforts in that direction had proved failures. 'The senate of the United States,' said Mr. Sherman, 'does not fear England or any other power, and the president of the United States does not fear England. We have had two wars with England, and I hope that war with England will never occur again. The two nations ought never to fight each other. They ought always to be friendly. Great Britain is more and more following the example of the American people of having a government for the people, of the people by the people, and I believe the time is not far distant when Great Britain will be as free as we are.'

The committee on privileges and elections is called to meet today to consider the Dupont petition. It is Mr. Konyer's intention to appear in the senate later in the day, present his credentials and ask to be seated as a senator from Delaware. His friends say that if a vote is forced there will be at least ten majority in his favor.

The military academy appropriation bill, awaiting approximately $200,000, was passed, after the defeat of the amendment for participation of the West Point cadets in the inauguration ceremonies.

The amendment led to a sharp controversy between Mr. Allen, of Nebraska, and Mr. Cady, of New York. The house yesterday adopted the conference report on the immigration bill by a vote of 131 to 118. The principal criticism of the measure agreed on by the conferees in debate was based upon the extension of the educational test to female citizens as well as male immigrants on the grounds that it might divide families and to the limitation of the ability of an immigrant to read and write the English language or the language of their native country or residence.

Mr. Danford, of Ohio, made the opening argument in support of the report. As it passed the house, he said, the bill applied the educational test only to males. This test was now extended to females. It was this extension of the educational test, he said, which caused the principal antagonism to the adoption of the conference report on the ground that it would separate families. Husbands might be admissible and wives excluded, or vice versa. If the bill became a law, he said, it promised to cause the separation of some prospective immigrants, and very few families would apply at our shores for admission who were not eligible.

Mr. W. A. Stone, of Pennsylvania, said the house was confronted with the alternatives of accepting the argument of the conferees or having an immigration bill passed at this session. He quoted some statistics to show that last year but 149 immigrants of the class of which we are proud would have been excluded by this bill. It was the importation of those from Italy, Hungary and other countries in southern Europe, a large percentage of whom would be excluded by this bill, which was causing the glut in the common labor market. Two hundred and twenty thousand of the 300,000 immigrants who came last year, he said, remained in the three states of Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania.

Mr. Dolliver, of Iowa, said he had voted for the house bill, he would have supported the bill as it passed the senate, but he felt obliged from the report of the conferees to vote for the conference report. He would vote for no bill which admitted the husband and excluded the wife, because he believed it vastly more important that a man should enjoy the society of his wife than that of his grandfather.

A Woman's Deliberate Suicide.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—Bertha Ida Link, living at 1049 Vienna street, committed suicide some time during the night by setting fire to herself in a closet door in her bedroom by means of a match. She was 35 years old. It is supposed she grew dependent through ill health. The body was found touching the floor with legs drawn up. The gas had been turned out and the things in the room had not been disturbed. It is thought she must have decided on the act shortly after entering the room. The towel was simply thrown over the top of the door, and Bertha placed her head in the hanging loop and leaning forward and withdrawing her feet allowed herself to hang in that position, thus being strangled.

Said His Wound Was Self-Inflicted.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—C. C. Nordhausen, an Oakland capitalist who has been treated at St. Luke's hospital for a wound which he said was accidentally self-inflicted, died at the hospital Tuesday and at an autopsy yesterday the persons in attendance concluded that Nordhausen could not possibly himself have inflicted the injury from which he died. Just before his death he tacitly admitted to the physician that he had been shot by a woman, but declined to discuss the matter, saying: 'Oh, never mind; it is too late now.'

Trying to Prove Johnston Insane.

NEW BLOOMFIELD, Pa., Jan. 28.—In the trial of the Johnston murder case yesterday evidence was given by Dr. Moulton, of Charles E. Mills, of the University of Pennsylvania, and Dr. Garbhart, late of the Harrisburg insane asylum, all testifying in favor of the insanity plea. The defense rested, and the state will call about fifty witnesses in rebuttal.

Jail Breaker Captured.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 28.—William Shaffer, who escaped from the Luzerne county jail on Jan. 7, by picking the lock of his cell, was captured in Hazleton yesterday and brought back to Wilkesbarre. He was lodged in his old quarters in the county jail.

THE VENEZUELAN QUESTION.

Chief Justice Fuller and Justice Brewer Named as Commissioners.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Chief Justice Matthews, Fuller and Associate Justice David J. Brewer, have been nominated as commissioners to serve on the arbitral tribunal appointed to determine the boundary line between Venezuela and British Guiana. The supreme court at a formal meeting has officially agreed upon these selections. The nomination of Chief Justice Fuller was made subject of the approval of Venezuela.

While the formal assent of King Oscar to serve as the fifth arbitrator has not been given, it is understood that an invitation has been received that he will accept. All indications point to the nomination by the British high court of Sir Charles Russell and Sir Franklin Lockwood as the two members to be chosen by that body to complete the tribunal.

P. Mitchell; municipal affairs, Osburn; printing, Harshbarger; railroads and street railways, Snyder; public highways, White; House—Agriculture, A. L. Martin; appropriations, W. T. Marshall; banks, Stewart; city passenger railways, Kayser; congressional appropriation, L. W. Moore; corporations, Shortz; education, Hammond; forestry, Baldwin; iron and coal, West; labor and industry, Orme; legislative appropriation, Gilmore; mining, Maxwell; printing, Dunlap; railroads, Leslie; ways and means, Holmes.

Five Explosions Kills Two.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 28.—An explosion in the smoke mines of Hartz & Co. killed two miners and injured seven others, three of whom will die. The dead are Peter Houser and Charles McCalister. The injured are Andrew Ponzobid, John Augustine, Michael Horanc, Michael Kenna, John Mitchell, John Gillis and his son and William Gillis. Augustine, Kenna and Mitchell cannot recover. The explosion was caused by a quantity of a feter of gas, which was ignited by the open lamps of the miners.

Little One Found Frozen to Death.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—The body of a little girl was found dead in an alley at the rear of No. 877 Dalmatidge street yesterday. She was frozen to death. The little one had been missing from her home, No. 713 Linden street, since Monday. Her name is Merritts Moff, and she was but 4 years old. It is said the little one had been abducted by a person who is now under arrest. When found, the little one was in a state of unconsciousness, and it was abandoned to the terrible fate which it suffered.

Soldiers' Orphan School Commission.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 28.—Governor Hastings has directed the state department to issue commissions to Colonel R. H. Rippey, of Schuylkill county, and Major W. West Chester, and Captain George W. Shinner of Pittsburgh as members of the soldiers' orphan's school commission. They were appointed to represent the G. A. R. of Pennsylvania by Judge Darte, of Whitehall, department commander. Darte also appointed Thomas G. Sample and James E. Morrison, of Philadelphia, but the governor refused to approve their names, and notified the department not to commission them.

Fell From 'Big Engine Tank.

Collieries in Trouble.

The pumps, and in fact everything requiring steam for operation, was idle at the Gilberton colliery yesterday owing to a want of water. It was impossible to even secure water for purifying purposes up to noon, at which time the pumps were started. All water sources were frozen, most effectually. In the afternoon the conditions became more favorable.

Married Yesterday.

Miss Mame Bettinger and Thomas Ignatowski well known young people of Mineralville, were married yesterday. Mr. Ignatowski is one of the owners of the Taylor meat market and was shot in the jaw last week by burglars.

Harry Lilly, of Palo Alto, and Miss Josephine Murphy, of Puttville, were married last evening by Rev. F. J. McGovern, at the latter place. A reception followed at the home of the bride's mother, Miss Chris Murphy, sister of the bride, and Matthew Higgins attended the young couple.

A quiet wedding was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brady, of Clairville, where a delightful daughter, Miss Mame, was united in marriage to Samuel Harris, one of the wealthiest orange kings in Florida. The couple departed for the latter state immediately after the ceremony.

SOME SONGS OF THE STORM.

The Snow Drifts and Gales Are Sources of Complaint.

ELECTRIC RAILWAYS SUFFER!

Drummers Seek the Shelter of Hotel Corridors and Business Circles Present a Paralytic Effect—Falling-off dates Fear a Falling-off in Votes.

The stormy weather continues to have an unfavorable effect on all branches of business, especially the branches connected with the railroads. Drummers arriving in town complain bitterly of the delays in traffic at various points. The trolley systems suffer considerably from the falls of snow and neither the cars of the Schuylkill Traction or Lakeside line, are running through the town. The cars of the former line reached Coal street and the Lakeside cars got into the First ward. The latter cars experience much difficulty in ascending the heavy grades at High Point and Yatsville.

Business in town is badly demoralized. The snow drifts and cold blasts keep many people under shelter and the only shoppers are those seeking actual necessities, so that the patron at the business places are few in number. There is also a scarcity of teams on the street and the general effect much like that which is brought about by a genuine blizzard.

The hotel registers present a healthy appearance and drummers are 'laying over' in the towns wherever they can arrange to do so, to avoid the disagreeable weather and rest with a hope of an improvement in the condition of the weather for to-morrow. The greatest complaint comes from the politicians, especially those interested in the citizens primaries to be held to-night. It is frequently difficult to get the voters to the primaries even when the weather is clear and fine and the troubles of the candidates and their workers are doubled when a snow storm starts the voters in the face. For this reason it is quite likely that the vote at the primaries, taking all things, will not be as large as expected, although some of the politicians are of the opinion that the huffing of the eight candidates for Chief Burgess will bring the total vote pretty near up to the usual election mark. The storm has in many ways diminished the energies of these candidates and their work may prevent the vote from taking the big drop others expect.

All the collieries in this district were operated to-day, the storm having failed to disable them. The only thing that seems to give the mine officials any anxiety is the possibility of floods occasioned by a sudden thaw. They are getting pumps and other things to counteract such an event in readiness.

Mary, widow of Thomas Halsey and mother-in-law of the late James Bowers, ex-County Commissioner, died yesterday at her home on Grandville at 9:30 a. m. on Saturday.

William Kelly, a brother of J. J. Kelly, of town, died at his home at Central on Tuesday from miners asthma and other pulmonary ailments. He had suffered for years and during the past year spent several months at the University of Pennsylvania hospital in Philadelphia. The deceased was about fifty years of age and is survived by a wife and eight children. The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

Card of Thanks.

The undersigned in behalf of himself and children, desires to express thanks to the members of Lydia Lodge No. 112, L. O. O. F. and Degree of Poesantias, the pall bearers, Rev. D. L. Evans, and other friends for their expressions and acts of sympathy upon the death of my wife, Sarah A. Belle, and also for their kind services during the arrangements for and carrying out of the funeral ceremonies.

An Engine Derailed.

A large P. & M. coal train engine was derailed this morning on the grade between Boston Run and Frankville by the spreading of a rail. No damage was sustained. The Pennsylvania R. R. passenger train that left here at 9:05 a. m. for Puttville was obliged to make the trip via Delano, instead of the short line, in consequence of the accident.

WORTH WATCHING FOR.

An Announcement Which Will Interest Everybody, Young and Old. We have information that next Sunday's Philadelphia Press (January 31) will contain an offer by the publishers of The Press which is not only novel, but which is greater than any proposition ever made by a newspaper to its readers. We are not at liberty to give details, but are assured that the offer will be attractive to all classes—that it will interest equally men and women and boys and girls, and bring pleasure and profit to them. It is important therefore that everybody should make sure of getting next Sunday's Press by directing their newswatchers to-day to save a copy for them next Sunday.

Widow Captured.

Widow Shaeffer, the boy burglar who escaped from the Wilkesbarre jail on January 7th, last, was captured at Hazleton yesterday. He was found in the garret of his father's home. When the officers reached the foot of the garret steps they beheld Shaeffer sitting on the top step with a revolver in each hand. He commanded Shaeffer to get down, and when the first man attempts to take me, and then I'll shoot myself! Sergeant Eline, however, prides himself on his bravery and was of the opinion that the threats made by Shaeffer were only idle ones. He proceeded up the steps but needed a moment later, when a shot was fired in the ceiling above. The boy was subsequently induced by his father to surrender to the police.

Footpads Frustrated.

While on his way from Contralt, David Towall, a resident of Ashland, a veteran of the late war and widely known about the county, was held up by highwaymen, but put them to flight. He was approaching the "shanties," a neighbourhood notorious for midnight, when assailed by two young men of suspicious mien. With the power of the distinguished him in the late unpleasantness, the gallant blow-out turned on his opponents and began a tussle assault. One was knocked down by a stiff right on the chin and the other, evidently thinking they had encountered Jack Bauer or some ferocious usurer, shot a right over the hill, while the veteran pursued his march in the name of leisurely gait that he had begun it.
