then, for the first time in three years, he broke down, and his usual air of haughty indifference gave way to one of despair. He begred the guards to save him from his fate, and requested that messures be sent to Governor Stephens interceding in his behalf. To nearly every visitor and attendant Duestrow appealed for assistance. One message he wanted sent was signed "General Brandenburg," of the United States army, a character he had as-

The murderer partook of a scanty breakfast, and when it was finished threw himself on his cot and gave way to a burst of tears. He subbed convolsively, and cried out frequently: Oh, God; this is terrible!"

It was but a short time, however, before the condemned man regained his composure. He talked with all his visitors, and even smiled. This was probably the result of the shoring order rescinding one made on Monday that the prisoner should not be allowed to have any whisky. At 19 o'clock he decided that small doses should be given Duestrow from time to keep his courage up, and Duestrow was much gratified.
