HOOKE & BROWN 4 North Main St.

TO BANQUET CLEVELAND.

The President to be Complimented by New York Merchants.

President Cleveland, upon leaving office, will receive a hearty "Thank you" from the merchants of New York for what he has done while occupying the executive chair.

This will take the form of a complimentary dinner tendered him by the chamber of commerce, with the presentation of a set of resolutions and some form of souvenir to mark the occasion. The idea is to give formal recognition of the fact that Mr. Cleveland stood on the currency question.

The recent attack of the president on the treaty question with England has given a second topic on which the merchants are almost united in approving Mr. Cleveland, and the discussion of this will be given much attention in the after-dinner speeches at the proposed complimentary banquet.

COWS ARE SAVING KANSAS.

A New Way to Pay Off Farm Mortgages Discovered by the Women.

The cow is saving the farmer of the plains. She is not the handsomest of his possessions, but she is coaxed into a corner of the yard and gives her milk she does more to pay off the mortgages than any of the fancy investments of which the western farmer has heard so much. The last few years have been hard ones for the dweller on the prairie plain. He has found the price of grain low and the yield light. He has experienced and found the result vexatious. Now he is undertaking something that is more certain, though slower. The creamery is being brought to the front and promises to be the coming favorite in all the prairie regions where the possibilities of diversified farming are understood.

In Kansas scores of creameries are being built each month. Less than ten years ago the first creamery was established in one county, and it was one of the first in the state. Now there are 15 in that county, and of the 2,000 families in the farming communities 1,700 take to the factory each morning a greater or less supply of milk. They get from $8 to $100 each month for milk the year round. The average yield is $10, and the total is nearly $500,000 annually. That means much to the settlers, who are thus enabled to have a steady income not dependent on the rainfall or the winds.

The prairie women are responsible for the great advance made in this direction. They were the first to see the profit to be gained from the little things on the farm. The men are said to have saved Nebraska, and the women are doing as much for Kansas. Said one woman the other day: "I have paid almost all of the mortgages on one place by the milk money, and my husband and I now know for a long while the source of my income. While our neighbors who have depended on straight farming have suffered, and some of them have lost their places, we have saved money and are all right. She was one of the frontier women who have done so much to build up the west.

The economy is reaching out to the furthest places of the west for a market, and all the mining camps are now depending on the plains for better and costlier goods. The Mexican trade is also coming to the front because of the increase of the cattle raisers, who make it possible to take the product to its destination in good condition. The cattle that were once supposed to be worth nothing, because the winter was now carefully shodded, and their fur was saved with solicitude, and their farmers are seeing that herds live the way to better times. Twenty cars of corn take about the same money in the market as one car of butter. The latter pays little more freight than one of the cars of corn. Here the farmer finds the solution of the freight rates, and if he can work along this line people will see and hear less of the dissatisfaction that has become so common in many sections. The west is all right if there is a right way to use it. The humble cow is pointing out one way that promises to be very successful. —New York Times.

It pays us to lose— Sometimes! Here's a case in point. We have left a small lot of those excellent, popular warm-lined shoes. We haven't the room, nor the disposition to keep them until next winter, and rather than run the risk of so doing we've cut the prices even below the money-saving factory prices. It's positive loss to us, but we'd rather lose than carry them over. Factory prices were 65c., 75c., $1 and $1.25. The get-out-quickly figures are 50c., 60c., 75c. and $1. If you want a taste of this best of all shoe chances, you must come quickly. Can't last long at these prices. Checks with every purchase; $25 worth gets a handsome Parlor Lamp. Pan-Tins, 25c. At Grubler Bros., drug store. Butler Township Tactics. The anticipated trouble in Butler township came to pass, but so far as voting illegal receipts, that district can be closed without a hitch in the lead. Shenandoah needs the Sweeney just now, who wrote the following statement in the returns from Butler township: "I, M. J. Sweeney, Minority Inspector of the North Butler Election District, refuse to sign the returns because I am convinced that there has been a gross fraud practiced by issuing illegal receipts and withholding them from the voter until he consented to vote as those who possessed them dictated. I am satisfied that a fair election would have shown a very different result, and believe that the Majority Inspector and Judge of Election acted in collusion with those who handled the said illegal receipts. This with other information which I possess respecting the manner and time of issuing these illegal receipts prompts me to withhold my signature." "M. J. Sweeney, Minority Inspector." "CHARLES BOYER, Minority Clerk."

Pottsville's Tie Vote. The tie for Councilmanic honors in the Second ward of Pottsville was regularly remedied by the board. It was the general opinion that the election board could not decide the tie. The law, however, gives the Inspectors power to cast lots in the presence of the judge and clerks to decide the tie vote for larger or lower council. This was done and Mr. Shaffer was declared elected. Lost.—A dear little child who made home happy by its smiles.
