WHAT BRITISHERS THINK OF IT.

The London Papers All Discuss President McKinley's Inaugural Address.

London, March 5.—All the morning papers contain editorial references to the inaugural address of President McKinley. The Morning Post says that in view of "the embittered relations produced between Great Britain and the United States by President Cleveland's impudent message, it is gratifying to note President McKinley's words of wisdom and wisdom with reference to the arbitration treaty. It is also gratifying to find that he does not encourage the policy of interference abroad, and keeps an open mind on currency and economic questions."

The Daily Telegraph regards the message as "a most excellent and unflinching declaration for protectionism," and adds sarcastically: "Fortunately our conviction of the unsalvageable soundness of free trade principles enables us to regard a competition with equanimity."

The Daily News considers the address "most satisfying and reassuring, especially so in its reference to arbitration and non-interference abroad." The paper thinks the president's attitude toward bimetalism "safe, soothing and altogether unexceptionable." It adds: "The tariff paragraph is an endeavor to compromise between conflicting principles. We know what came of McKinley before, and it is unlikely that there will be any renewal of legislation on the old lines."

The Daily Chronicle says: "The address is a very safe utterance, showing that President McKinley, if not a great man, is at least a prudent one. Evidently high tariff is to be the sheet anchor of the new administration. It is hard to believe that a cabinet of millionaires and a president whose election was aided by enormous contributions from trusts will prove such antagonists of such trusts. President McKinley will stand or fall by his strength of resistance to the encroachments of organized wealth."

The Times thinks that the "obvious prominence given the protectionist idea in the most uncompromising form must put an end to any active cooperation between the Republicans and the free traders who compromised in fighting against the Bryanist propaganda. The president's language on the currency is encouraging, though vague."

The Standard says: "The address is smooth and kindly, but it has one serious underlying purpose, namely, protection. Experience has been useless either to President McKinley or to the American people. They have not yet suffered enough for their economic mistakes and heresies."

In the Scheme Plaguing Autonomy for Crete Under Turkish Sway—Italy Enthusiastic for the Greek Cause—Mr. Gladstone's Sympathy for Greece.

At Athens, March 5.—There is no longer any doubt that the reply of Greece to the identical note of the powers, delivered on Monday last, and insisting upon the Greek fleet and the troops having Crete within six days from that date, will be in the negative. The reply of the Greek government will explain the reasons why Greece cannot recall her forces, and why she considers the scheme for autonomy proposed by the powers to be inapplicable to Crete.

After a cabinet council held yesterday morning the premier, M. Delianis, had a long conference with the king. It is stated that the government has decided to call out the army reserves of 189, 189 and 188, and that this step will be followed by a general mobilization of the Greek forces.

Last evening a great public meeting was held here to protest against the action of the powers. At its conclusion the crowd marched to the palace shouting "War! War! War!" Before the palace several persons addressed the people, and then, in response to the urgent demands, the Crown Prince Constantine appeared on the terrace, wearing the uniform of a general, and made a speech. He thanked those present, in the name of the king, for the loyal and patriotic sentiments expressed, and begged them to retire, saying that at the present juncture an attitude of calm best befitted the dignity of the nation.

The situation at Crete is unchanged. Interest pivots on the position of the Mohammedans who are closely invested by the insurgents at Candamo. Ex-Commander Roinelco, of the Greek fleet, states that there are no regular troops, but only volunteers. Three days have been wasted in quarreling between the admirals and the Greek vice-consul, Barakat, who under direct orders from King George, wishes to proceed to Selino to negotiate for the safety of the Mohammedans under the command of the vice-consul, Barakat. Barakat insists that he must first communicate with Colonel Vassos and then proceed on board a Greek man-of-war. The admirals have refused both requests, but yesterday they invited him to go on board a Russian frigate.

Vice-consul Barakat still declines to go to Selino except on board the Greek ship Hydra. He says he has the king's orders to instruct Colonel Vassos either to go to Candamo himself or to send the vice-consul with a force sufficient to secure at any cost the safety of the beleaguered Mohammedans. The matter is so pressing that the French and Austrian consuls are granting the request of Barakat.

Italian Enthusiasm for Greece.

Rome, March 5.—The whole Italian nation is in a state of enthusiasm in behalf of Crete and Greece. Manifestations in behalf of the union of Crete to Greece are being held in all parts of the country, and resolutions denouncing the bombardment of the insurgent position near Canosa by the warships of the powers are being adopted. The German embassies and colleges are being repeatedly and strongly hissed.

COUNCIL MEETING.

First Regular Session of New Body Held Last Night.

The first organized Borough Council held its first regular meeting last night and considered reports bearing upon the close of the fiscal year and other matters. The members in attendance were Messrs. Lally, Oakley, and Sweeney, Mayor, Harkin, Straughlin, J. B. James, Brennan, Noble, Eggers, Hand, Ross, Murphy and T. J. James.

Mr. Ross, of the fire department committee, stated that the repairs to the Columbia Hose Company's new combination wagon, which had been damaged by a fire, had been repaired and made ready for service. It cost about $20 to repair the damage.

The most important matter considered during the evening was a letter from John E. Hillier, of Pottsville, who alleges that Hon. William L. Torbert cannot give a clear title to the lands in the water works. It is alleged that the title to the lands is in the hands of a woman who has an interest in the lands many years ago. Mr. Torbert has been repeatedly notified concerning the title, but failed to give any answer. The letter was referred to the water committee with instructions to result with the Borough Solicitor.

The question of supplying Turley Run with an additional fire plug was also brought up and the water committee said the matter would be attended to as soon as the weather would permit.

The Borough Treasurer submitted a report showing a balance of $5,234.84 on hand March 1st.

The report of the Chief of Police for February was as follows: Arrests, 10; paid fines, 10; collections, $60; furnished lodgings, 12.

The reports of the Chief Burgess and Fire Marshal for February were also read. There were two fires during the month.

The report of the water superintendent for February was as follows: Nineteen service pipes, four corporations and four joints on main lines laid. Two lines were blown apart by the setting of the surface on East street and Turkey Run hill. Twenty-one service pipes were shut off during the month. The plant generally is in good condition. The collections during the month amounted to $20.92 and the grand total to date is $12,801.40.

President James announced that he had been unable to arrange the new committee and asked Messrs. Shoemaker and Brennan to take the places of Messrs. Schoppe and Keenan on the old committee until the next meeting.

Chief Burgess stated that the Chief of Police had a pipe blown out on West Centre street where ice had filled the gutter and covered the pavement.

We know what came of McKinley before, and it is unlikely that there will be any renewal of legislation on the old lines."

The Daily Chronicle says: "The address is a very safe utterance, showing that President McKinley, if not a great man, is at least a prudent one. Evidently high tariff is to be the sheet anchor of the new administration. It is hard to believe that a cabinet of millionaires and a president whose election was aided by enormous contributions from trusts will prove such antagonists of such trusts. President McKinley will stand or fall by his strength of resistance to the encroachments of organized wealth."

The Times thinks that the "obvious prominence given the protectionist idea in the most uncompromising form must put an end to any active cooperation between the Republicans and the free traders who compromised in fighting against the Bryanist propaganda. The president's language on the currency is encouraging, though vague."

The Standard says: "The address is smooth and kindly, but it has one serious underlying purpose, namely, protection. Experience has been useless either to President McKinley or to the American people. They have not yet suffered enough for their economic mistakes and heresies."
