FRIDAY, MARCH 12, 1915.

GREENE has not yet gotten out of the frying pan into the fire.

His job is still with us. Don't let your interest in their welfare flag as the suffering is likely to continue with one and a half day's work in a week.

The board cannot change its spots, neither can "Mary" Whitaker, the "dollar-a-week" managing editor, assume a different cloak as superintendent of schools. He is the same individual, with the same bigoted ideas, in any position he assumes.

Examining his services at ten dollars a week, "Mary" Whitaker, the "managing editor," is an expensive luxury for his youthful employers. The latter must offer for their life's work, less than a penny for the suffering of the community at large.

SPEAKING seriously, would it not be more profitable for his employers to pay the "managing editor" ten dollars a week to "say nothing and say well." But, then, "Mary" must have an outlet for his bigoted speech, even if he is compelled to work for the "glory of his cause."

Ten dollars a week is not much, but "Mary" takes the ten all the same. His "merit" would not allow him to refuse even so small an offering. In fact, his "cause" is such that he would labor for a smaller stipend if necessary. Great is "Mary's" and greater still is his "own cause."

What will the morning star that is continually talking at the heels of people in his whining, effeminate way, do to fill the Daily News-columns, in the question frequently asked. To him, by the gratification of his devilish ego, brought prison doors to stare his employers in the face while his effeminate excess is left untouched. Ten dollars is a high price for such literary qualifications.

The Legislature of Pennsylvania is considering an amendment to the libel law, and the leading newspaper man of the state gave his views to the Judiciary General committee on Wednesday. The committee filed the editors with questions, and as the latter were fully prepared to discuss the matter, it is to be hoped they impressed the legislators with the necessity for the changes advocated.

Two doling and sayings of those two eminent gentlemen, Mr. James Corbett and Mr. Bob. Fitzsimmons, are faithfully reported daily to a breathless audience. But the crown bit of reporting will be Mr. John L. Sullivan's report of the fight to the New York Herald. That will be even more entertaining than some of "Little Mary's" heavy editorials.

We are somewhat surprised that the playmate "managing editor" has not labored through a column editorially shaming the connection between the "Bogart case" and the Caisa rebellion, or the beastly weather of the early part of the week. But as he is only an amateur yet he may be able to improve his sophistry in a few months or so sufficiently to work off his spleen through this channel.

In the Legislature at Harrisburg yesterday some of the Senators got to talking about trusts and investigations. As the state and national legislatures have several times investigated these same "trusts," with uniformly the same result, it would be simply a waste of money which is needed more badly for hospitals, capitol buildings, etc., and the August Senators should know that money is scarce, very scarce.

A new religious order, attached to the Episcopal church, has been established in New York, especially for work among the poor during the present Lent. The members are termed "Blessed Ladies." A "Blessed Lady," when she enters this temporary order and goes visiting among the tenements, wears a brown cashmere gown, a little bonnet, with a brown silk tulle veil. She ties the bonnet under her chin with white muslin strings and relieves the soot on her face by pulling white muslin pads and rollers. Brown shoes and gloves, with a brown umbrella complete this costume, which upon a pretty young girl is more fetching than the description might suggest.

PUBLIC OPINION.

In France in particular public opinion has asserted itself in a most satisfactory manner in connection with the Coteau forest indeed, it is distating her policy. The French government has been at last compelled to send her regrets to Russia that she will be unable to join in any severe or vindictive measures in Greece, at least while public opinion remains in its present state of excellent health. The same is true, in a more or less degree, of England and Italy.

Thus these three Powers are precisely arrayed against Russia, Germany and Austria. Russia, of course, for reasons of her own, demands and insists on coercion. William the Willess would be only too glad to do likewise, and Austria would be eager to follow in his footsteps, but the other nations had had and seem to realize that they have got into rather bad company.

This public opinion, based upon the harmony of Europe, and has served purpose, for it shows pretty clearly what the general result would be if the partition of Turkey were to take place today. The concert of the Powers would be thrown to the winds, and the west of Europe would be at war with the east.

It is true Greece is warlike—would like to wipe out Turkey—but when it comes to the cost of trying to do so, it probably will desist. A war with Turkey would undoubtedly involve other nations, and these nations cannot afford it. While at present it looks as if there was a prospect of war, there is more of a prospect that the Cretans, if not getting all they desire, either independence or annexation to Greece, will get relief from Turkish rule, and if they do get that they may be profoundly thankful.

One of the best indignities of a continued peace by Europe is the departure of Queen Victoria from spring vacation in the south of France. That monarch is never disposed to leave the seclusion of her kingdom when there is a possibility of her being drawn into a war, or even made the witness of a conflict between other nations.

They say a small that the most sensitive people take them, they are so effective. That the most sensitive cases of constipation, headache and neuralgic liver ailment, to them that is why DeWitt's Little Early Pills are known as the famous little pills. C. H. Hagenbach.

AN INTERNATIONAL SWINDLER.

Arrest of a Man Who Has Long Escaped a Heavy Conviction.

New York, March 12.—The police yesterday arrested William Carroll Woodward, alias Woodard, alias Hawley, and a woman who gave her name as Jennie Hawley. They were arrested in Philadelphia in a charge of receiving a jewelry store of $2,000 worth of jewelry. They were arrested and named, and the Philadelphia police notified. The police say that Woodward is a professional swindler, a good brick schmeer, a luscious man, and a confidant of confidence games, every variety, a man who always gets away with his money, and is so clever that he has never been convicted.

They say that after a series of crimes in this country, with the assistance of the notorious burglar, Bryant, Woodward and Hawley went to Chicago. The pair went to the fashionable west end of London, where they lived in style in Stanhope Gardens, South Kensington. Woodward, according to the Hon. Willard Musgrove, a British Member of Parliament, had an intimate acquaintance with fashionable society and good clubs, robbing every one with whom he came in contact. In the club he made large sums of money by swindling at cards.

Woodward was once denounced in the West End club, after his reputation had become unsavory. Then he and Hawley visited Arthur Coakburn and Alfred Saville, the men who had swindled them in the club, to thank them for their help, and they then set sail for New York with broadheads. The two swindlers succeeded in escaping from England, leaving their victims in despair.

Woodward went to Oyster, where he worked a number of months, and then returned to this country when India became too hot for him. Not long ago he was living in New Rochelle. He got mixed up while there in a jewelry store, and was arrested by the Garfield National bank, one of the Daily News-columns, in the question frequently asked. To him, by the gratification of his devilish ego, brought prison doors to stare his employers in the face while his effeminate excess is left untouched. Ten dollars is a high price for such literary qualifications.

Had severe attacks of gravel and kidney trouble, and unable to get a medicine or doctor to cure me until I used Hop Bitters, and they cured me in a short time.—A DISTINGUISHED LAWYER OF WAYNE CO., N. Y.

COLICIOUS AND COLO.—A young girl deeply regretted that she was colicous and cold. Her face was too white, and her hands and feet felt as though the blood did not circulate. After one bottle of Hop Bitters had been taken she was the rosiest and healthiest girl in the town, with a vivacity and cheerfulness of mind gratifying to her friends.

Bryan Addresses Tennessee Legislators. Nashville, March 12.—Yesterday, by invitation, Hon. William J. Bryan addressed both houses of the legislature and a large number of citizens in the hall of the house of representatives. Governor Taylor introduced Mr. Bryan as "the man who would be the first president in the twentieth century." Mr. Bryan spoke for an hour upon the principles of government, and during a speech criticized railroads and corporations and corporate influence at length. Afterward Mr. Bryan visited the Peabody Normal school and made a short speech to the pupils.

A scourge of black vomit is devastating the City of Mexico. Smallpox and grip are also on the increase in the republic.

A bill introduced in the Pennsylvania Legislature provides that all children shall be vaccinated before they are admitted into schools.

Chicago, March 12.—Citizen's Committee. The Record correspondent in Havana, declares that General Weyler has received positive orders from Madrid to end the Cuban war at once, even by going to the extent of selling the island to the insurgents if need be to accomplish that object. General Weyler, therefore, set out for Villa Clara to find General Gomez, and to undertake negotiations. Weyler himself has said the war will end within three weeks. General Weyler, it is claimed, is instructed to order Gomez to bring, unconditionally, the Cuban flag, arms, and property to the Cuban flag.

PITTSBURGH HEARD FROM.

The Little Conqueror Arrives and People Are Talking.

Surprise, wonder and admiration follow in the track of the little conqueror. People are talking about it everywhere, and such cases as that of Mrs. J. H. Butler, a resident of Pittsburgh, are getting to be every day occurrences. Her representative called on Mrs. Butler at her place of residence, 100 South Street, and she gave the following brief account of her case, she says: "About a year ago I began to have severe pains in my back in the region of the kidneys. Sometimes the pain was worse than at others, and with each attack it grew more severe. The last attack I had led to my not being able to get up at all. I could not sit, and the hardest part was to attempt to rise from my sleeping position. I was only able to get up with a continuous dull one, interspersed with sharp piercing ones in the small of my back. I attempted to rise from a chair after continued sitting I found it a difficult matter. I managed to get along in this way with my household duties, but I was determined not to give up, and I felt many times as though I positively must. I read of some of the cases reported by Dean's Kidney Pills, and comparing the symptoms described with mine I concluded the pills would help me, and I procured a box and began to take them regularly according to directions. Within three days I felt better and continued to improve every day. I must admit they have perfectly cured me, and this much sooner than I could have anticipated possible. I am perfectly satisfied with the results, and glad to be able to inform other sufferers about Dean's Kidney Pills, so that they may know what to do who are in their condition."

MEMPHIS MAY BE INLAND.

Fears That the Mississippi Will Cut Out a New Course.

Memphis, Tenn., March 12.—The Mississippi river, registered 20 feet at midnight, and the rise has become more rapid since Wednesday. The danger line is 25 feet, and it is thought that the water will reach the river to 25 or 26 feet, which, so experienced men say, would sweep Arkansas as far as Crawley's Bluffs, 40 miles from Memphis.

The most serious feature of the present stage of the river is the possibility of it cutting out a new bed for itself through Crittenden county, Ark., and leaving Memphis high and dry, or at least leaving her on a shallow lake. Should this happen the $2,000,000 bridge which spans the river in this city will be cut off from the new eastern bank of the river. About five miles above Memphis the Natchez plantation is partly overgrown because of a break in the levee. The current through the plantation is very strong, and river men say that unless the heavy timber along Four Mile bayou breaks the current, so that it cannot eat out a new bed, the Mississippi will change its course and run through Four Mile bayou, cutting out a new bed, and leaving a long narrow island between Memphis and the river. The high waters have already reached a very critical stage.

"I was completely covered with sores. Every muscle in my body ached. Had been sick for five years. Doctors could do me no good. Most of my time was spent in bed; I was a complete wreck. Burdock Blood Bitters have completely cured me in three months." Mrs. Annie Zeev, Crookston, Minn.

Convicted of Selling Osmeargine. Trenton, March 12.—In the United States court yesterday Paul Paulson, of Atlantic City, was found guilty of selling osmeargine to Atlantic City hotels without a wholesale government license. Paulson had a retail license, and acted as selling agent for a wholesale dealer in Chicago. His sentence was deferred. Hannah Hubert, alias Brown, of Long Branch, pleaded no guilt on a charge of violating the pension laws by receiving a pension as a widow after she had been remarried. She will be sentenced within a few days.

Charged with Abducting Arson. New York, March 12.—George W. Holt, a fire insurance adjuster of Brooklyn, was indicted yesterday by the grand jury in this city as an accomplice in the abduction of Samuel Holt, the fire insurance adjuster in this city, who is in hiding from the police two years ago. Holt was afterwards found and turned informer. Holt, who is wealthy and respected, lives in a fine house in Brooklyn. He was indicted in Brooklyn some time ago for arson, and also indicted for arson here. He is out on $10,000 bail. The case grows out of the operations of the old-time gang, several of whose members are in state prison.

Weyler's Alleged Instructions. Chicago, March 12.—Citizen's Committee. The Record correspondent in Havana, declares that General Weyler has received positive orders from Madrid to end the Cuban war at once, even by going to the extent of selling the island to the insurgents if need be to accomplish that object. AN EXILED QUEEN.

Hanavonia III Sent to a French Possession Near New Mauritius.

Hanavonia III, the queen of Madagascar, who has held her position nominally only since the island was made a French colony, on June 20, 1896, has been exiled to the island of Reunion, a French possession near the island of Mauritius. The exiled queen started for her new home yesterday. Queen Hanavonia III was born in 1851, and succeeded to the throne on the death of her mother, on July 12, 1884, and succeeded to the throne on May, 1895, a French expedition was directed to Madagascar to enforce certain claims of France. On Oct. 1, the capital being occupied by the French, a treaty was signed whereby the queen renounced and accepted the protectorate of France. She is a religious, dignified, sensitive woman, of lofty character, fond of her people and imbued with an unselfish desire to elevate them.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY. New York, March 12.—An official of one of the largest insurance companies of this country, which makes a specialty of assuming maritime risks, has received a circular from London stating that from Jan. 1 up to Feb. 27 of this year the various English companies have lost $2,000,000 worth in shipwrecks. The loss exceeds any estimate for the same period within 20 years. The estimate for the two months, according to the circular, is a low one, and it is thought that fully $5,000,000 will have to be added to the amount to make the figures correct.

Tours to California.

California has been most fittingly termed the "Italy of America."

California has been most fittingly termed the "Italy of America." All the delicious fruits, the splendid sky, and the rich verdure of the great European peninsula are duplicated in this sunny land of the Pacific. Here nature looks in the sunshine of her own beauty; and here she has established her own sanctuaries, where eternal spring invigorates every soul. With the snow-capped peaks of the Sierra upon the one hand, the calm Pacific with its soft breezes upon the other, and a veritable paradise of flowers, fruits and plants between, man can find and needs no lovelier land. To visit such a country is a privilege, a blessing.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, recognizing the need of a more comfortable and pleasant way of crossing the continent, inaugurated a series of annual tours to California, running a through train of Pullman palace cars from New York to the Pacific Coast, and stopping at the principal points of interest. The great popularity of these tours demonstrates the wisdom of the movement.

For the season of 1915 three tours have been arranged to leave New York, Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh, January 27, February 24, and March 27.

The first tour will run direct to San Diego via St. Louis and the Santa Fe Route, and return from San Francisco via Salt Lake City, Denver, and Chicago, allowing five weeks in California.

The second tour will run via the Mammoth Cave and New Orleans to San Diego, stopping at the "Crossed City" during the Mardi Gras Carnival. This tour will return via Salt Lake City, Denver, Omaha, and Chicago, allowing four weeks in California.

The third tour will run via Chicago, Denver, and Salt Lake City, allowing passengers to re-visit the principal points in different routes within nine months.

All of these tours, either going or returning, will pass through the famous Colorado region, Glenwood Springs, Leadville and the Garden of the Gods.

Rates from all points on the Pennsylvania Railroad System east of Pittsburgh: First tour, $310; second tour, $350; third tour, $210 round trip, and $150 one way.

For detailed itineraries and other information, apply at ticket agencies, special booking offices, or address George W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

PSUEDO MEMORY.

ITS MANIFESTATIONS AND CAUSES THAT ARE ASSIGNED.

Curious Illustrations That Have a Familiar Appearance to Many of Us—What Some Famous Men Have Said Concerning This Interesting Subject.

An Irishman once referred to what has been called pseudo memory as the memory that he had of things that never happened to him, but a more exact definition tells us that it consists in the belief that a new state has been previously experienced, so that when the state is produced for the first time it seems familiar. Or, as Wendell Holmes says, "All at once a conviction flashes upon us that we have been in the same precise circumstances as at the present instant once or many times before."

A sort of feeling that makes some people think they are ghosts. He adds fearfully that the feeling cannot be the memory of a previous state of existence, for he gives the case of a student who, when blanking his shoes, had the conviction that he had done so before, and he mentions as an explanation the fact of the brain being a double organ. One side of the brain receives the impression before the other, and in the second case there is the memory of the first impression. But to this view it may be objected that there is a conviction that the former state was experienced a long time before, sometimes, too, with the belief that it occurred in a remote and otherwise forgotten past. Sometimes, no doubt, there is an actual memory of events. The latter is the most frequent cause of a pseudo memory, and it recalls a dream of the previous night that had been forgotten on awakening in the morning. Another explanation founded on the theory of hereditary memory is not impossible. This would include the case of the students who, when they first enter a scientific point of view this explanation is perfectly rational.

A memory of things that our ancestors have done is consistent with strict reason, and we have many other things amounting to memory of this kind in the case of animals. Darwin tells of dogs that were taken to Central America and taught to hunt deer in a particular way, and the progeny of these dogs, when they were taken to another country, were able to hunt according to the particular method without being trained.

This kind of memory occurs in different forms. A sudden turn of the road in a strange country brings us face to face with a landscape that seems familiar. Meeting a person for the first time, we feel as if we had already seen him. Reading a book that we have never seen before, the thoughts or the language, or both, seem as if they had already been presented to us. A person, after a long absence, a procession or some event, all at once the whole scene seems familiar.

Many remarkable cases of this kind of memory are told. An inhabitant of New England, when on a visit to England, went to a house which he had never seen, but that he recognized the village church and the landscape, but he believed he must have seen a picture of them before. However, on passing through the churchyard his attention was especially attracted by a tombstone on which the name of a certain person seemed familiar. On inquiry he discovered that the young girl who was buried there had been engaged to one of his ancestors, who, according to an account given in a book written on the family, had died on a voyage to the East Indies.
