FINANCE AND TRADE.

SHENANDOAH PA., SATURDAY, MARCH 20, 1897.

New York, March 20,-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Though steadily increasing, business is still much below its votume in formor years of prosperity, and many exgain every week, and more mills in operation, and the sure result, larger purchases for consumption, cannot be long delayed. In some branches it is full already. There is larger distribution of finished products, and the demand for commercial loans has sharply increased, especially in dry goods and ornithely et shrdlu shrdlu shrdlumfw the iron and steel branches.
