MAHANOY CITY.
Sudden Closing of the Williams Business College Causes Talk.
Mahanoy City, Pa., March 25.—There has been in circulation for a week, tending to the alleged slaky condition of the Williams Business College, which occupies rooms in the corner of the school building. Until last evening these rumors were not in a shape to do any harm to the institution. Yesterday, however, Prof. J. C. Williams, who has been an instructor in the college for several months past, announced to the students that the whereabouts of Principal J. E. Williams, who was conducting the school for his brother, G. W. Williams, of Williamsport, were unknown. The latter has been absent from this town for a week or more.

Prof. Williams had been written to by J. E. Williams, but he received no reply. He said the school would have to be closed and the students were instructed to take their books and other belongings from the building. The college was closed at 8 o'clock. At the time that J. E. Williams departed his brother, G. W. Williams, was in difficulty with his Mr. C. and Mrs. A. Williams. It was supposed that these difficulties had been cleared up in a few days. When he left his family residence and this gave rise to the belief that his absence would only be temporary but last week Mrs. W. H. Williams, who is a sister of Mrs. J. E. Williams, said that her brother should call on her nearly every day. The neighbor should know that Mr. Williams was very ill. About 50 pupils were attending the school, about 25 being night students. They paid from $2 to $2.50 per month and quite a number had paid for a term in advance. McLean had a plan for the school to be closed for one month. He said he would pay the school next month if the pupils will pay $2 each. He says he will run it about a month, in which time about thirty pupils are expected to graduate in bookkeeping.

It is a good thing to push along. They are great upgrades to our baby cars. Quality and price are always our motto.

Dishes For Invalids.
An accomplished housewife and practical nurse states that dishes for an invalid should be cooked and served in the following manner, and she suggests some excellent viands for the sick.

One of the most satisfactory ways of giving an invalid raw beef is in a sandwich. Butter lightly on the hot bread, scrape a clove tender piece of beef, season it with salt and also pepper, if the latter can be taken; spread it upon the buttered bread, put another piece of bread over it and then cut the sandwich into finger pieces, being sure to remove all the crust. Serve them upon a prettily embroidered dolly or a fringed napkin as soon as they are made. When a stimulant is required, by putting a spoonful of whisky or wine in a cup of, best for instead of a glass of milk. Beef tea is a food of which an invalid quickly tires. Try making it into a jelly. Boak for an hour a third of a pound of gelatin in water enough to cover it, then pour over it a pint of hot beef tea; season to suit the taste and turn the liquid into small cups or individual molds and set it away in a bucket. When needed, turn the jelly from one of the molds out upon a dainty saucer. It will be very inviting.

NOT IN THEIR CLASS.
The London Church Times tells of a Low Church clergyman who, on going to a new parish, inquired if there were any Positivists in the community. "None, sir," said the clerk. "There used to be some, but for the last two years the boys have taken all their eggs." This reminds the Advance of Chicago of the Georgia "cracker" who replied to a Sunday school missionary that he did not know where there were any Presbyterians in the neighborhood, "but there was some yarmint around which was catching the chickens and lambs."

THE ELECTION LAW BILL.
Passes Pennsylvania's Senate and the Anti-Treating Bill Defeat.
Harrisburg, March 25.—When the bill to protect the free exercise of the right of suffrage at primary and general or special elections, and to prohibit interference with the right to vote at primary elections and meetings for party purposes, and to provide penalties therefor, came up for final passage in the senate yesterday the anti-Quay leaders made vigorous objections to it. There was an extended debate, but the bill finally passed by a vote of 25 to 2, those voting in the negative being Messrs. Magee, Flinn and Hummel. The anti-treating bill was defeated on final passage.

By unanimous consent Mr. Loach introduced a bill limiting the taking of testimony in all contested election cases, save governor, lieutenant governor and presidential electors, to 90 days, and providing that county, city or township pay no costs accruing or chargeable in any case after this time limit.

Among the bills introduced in the house one making it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than $20 nor more than $50, and not less than six months' imprisonment, for mine superintendents, foremen and assistants to either receive or solicit money or other valuable consideration from men in their employ.

Another house bill introduced appropriate $20,000 for the use of the state board of health, to establish an emergency fund to be used in the suppression of epidemics, prevention of disease and protection of human life in times of disease and disaster.

Speaker Boyer, in behalf of the House, approved the bill introduced in the senate for the purpose of amending the constitution of the state, which allows the senate to adjourn from to-morrow until April 24 at 4 p. m.
