A dispatch from Gunnison, Miss., says that a break in the levee is expeted at Sunnyside, but it could no doubt be averted if 150 men and material could be had at once. Accordingly 160 white men were dispatched on a special train from this city to the scene. The negroes at Camp Congo were offered $1 per day and all ex-penses to lend a helping hand, but, with one exception, the offer was re-fused. A late dispatch from Greenville says: At I o'clock in the morning the leves at Dearfield, ten miles below Greenville, uccumbed. The leves and 100 yards of the vast embankment gave way, and torrents of water rushed upon the country. Hogs and cattle were drowned, while the people, mostly colored, rushed to the levee above and below the break, and huddled together until they were rescued. Negroes Fight the Police.

St. Joseph. Mo., March 39.—Coroner Richmond atempted to hold an inquest on the body of Mrs. James Payne, a negro woman who died under circumstances that are considered suspicious, and the bushand of the dead woman and her neighbors objected. The coroner and constable were driven away by a mob of colored men, headed by Payne. They returned an hour later accompanied by nearly a dozen police officers heavily armed, and the trouble was renewed. A hundred negroes had sathered, and they refused to give the body up to the coroner. The police and negroes fought with knives, clubs and revolvers, while the body of the dead woman was carled out of the house. The fighting was twice renewed, but the negroes were driven off. A number were arrested.
