murderous work was done. The per-petrators had ample time to escapo, and scores of deputy sheriffs, marshals, police and cilisons are now scouring this section of the state and the adjoining state of Maine, which from this city is just across the Salmon Palls

The men made their visit to the bank at the busiest time of the day in the locality where the bank is situated, and so completely and thoroughly did they accomplish the robbery that only an uncertain clew and a very meager de-scription of them was obtainable.

The bank was besieged by hundreds when the news of the terrible affair became known, and large numbers of people came here from surroundin cities. Had the robbers been appre honded soon after the murder and reb-bery became public it would have been found difficult to prevent a double lynching in the dranite state. at 1:20 o'clock. One of the men carried a bag. The first suspicion that the bank had been robbed was at 2 o'clock, when Mr. Frank P. Reed, a local merchant, went up the staircase of the bank building and found the thick plate glass in the hall door of the bank completely shattered. He was considerably alarm esh and without waiting to investi-gate he harried from the building and notified City Marshal Katon. The latter responded at once. They broke in the door and then found evidence of a desperate struggle. On the floor in a great pool of blood was the lifeless body of Stickney. His head had been nearly severed from the body, the rob-bers having cut his throat. The head was marked with several deep gushes made by a heavy blackjack, and the skull was fractured. The body was sovered with blood, and the walls and furniture bore additional evidence of the horrible deed. Stickney had fied
