THE JUSTICES' CASES.

Considerable speculation as to the New Officials.

Copies of the judgments of Justice granted by Judge Bechtel at Pottsville yesterday were served upon Justice M. J. Lawlor and J. J. Cardin last night. Justice Lawlor left for Harrisburg on an early train this morning. Justice Cardin stated to-day that he and Justice Lawlor would follow the requirements of the law and set in their official capacities until the appointment of their successors, as an act to leave the borough without Justice in the meantime.

There is considerable speculation as to who will be the new Justice. Many maintain that the Attorney General will decide that those elected last February will receive the commission, but last night there developed a strong belief that the election would not be upheld and that the Governor will make appointments until next Spring. Should this course be taken it is said to be quite certain that the appointees will be either T. T. Williams and C. W. Dangler, or T. T. Williams and M. J. Lawlor.

THIEVING BANKER'S WIVES.

Served One Term, Now Being Tried on Another Charge.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 4.—The case of ex-banker F. V. Rockafellow was called in court yesterday afternoon. The prosecution is Mrs. Annie Mier, one morning in February, 1895, his bank failed to open. An examination of the books showed that there was very little money on hand. There were nearly 500 depositors, and their books called for nearly $500,000. When a distribution had made the depositors received about six cents on the dollar. Rockafellow was sentenced to two years and six months in the Eastern penitentiary. After serving his time he was arrested again. The ex-banker is now 72 years old, but stands the ordeal well. He claims he has no money. Mrs. Mier alleges that she gave Rockafellow $1,000 on the day before the bank closed. It was after banking hours, but Rockafellow reopened his bank and accepted the deposit.

Neise Miller, the leader of the party, was convicted of murder in the first degree, but died in prison before the sentence could be carried out. Frank Shaffer, another of the party, was also convicted of murder in the first degree, but the board of pardons changed the death sentence to life imprisonment.

NEWS FROM HARRISBURG I

Legislature Will Probably Adjourn the Middle of June.

OPPOSING CIVIL SERVICE BILL I

Probabilities That the Measure Will Be so Changed as to Make it Ineffective.

The Defeat of the Pool Selling Bill—Prison Reform Measures.

Special HERALD correspondence.

Harrisburg, May 4.—Notwithstanding the frequent recesses and junkets of the legislature, an effort will be made to forest all adjournment about the middle of June. It is understood that a resolution fixing June 1 as the date of final adjournment will be introduced this week in the house, and that the senate will amend this resolution extending the time until June 20. It is probable that a compromise date will be agreed upon, as the disposition of work suffers in proportion to the rise of temperature. Heretofore the members during the long spring days have sought the shelter of the trees in Capitol park during proxy debates, but the removal to Grace church will make it necessary for the members to stick to their posts, notwithstanding the heat and discomforts that they are sure to suffer. The experience of other years suggests that there will be no effect in pushing the work of the legislature during the winter months.

There has been a good deal of political backing and filling over the reform bills, to which the Republican party is pledged. At the opening of the session it was announced that these bills would be hurried to final passage but three months had passed away before any serious consideration was given them. Those who are lined up as opponents of Senator Quay charge that he was responsible for the failure to reform the civil service. He came to Harrisburg to confer with his lieutenants in the senate and house, and it was then given out, with more or less show of authority, that certain of these bills would be abandoned because it was impossible to induce the house to take any action in regard to them. Just when the anti-Quayites were about to take advantage of the situation and force the bills through a conference of all the Quay leaders was called to consider what was best to be done under the circumstances, these bills were hurried to final passage, and while concessions will be necessary to meet the views of the opponents of the radical reforms proposed it is believed that the more important measures will pass in practically their original form.

Opposing the Civil Service Bill.

There is much hostility among the practical politicians towards the civil service bill, and the prospect now is that this measure will be so changed as to be civil service in name only. The bill, as introduced, is very modified so as to not affect the giving of contributions for legitimate campaign expenses, but will make arbitrary levying and collection of assessments a misdemeanor. As to the poll tax bill, there is no opposition, because it will reduce party organizations to the great burden of paying taxes during important campaigns.

Since his return from the Grant monument ceremonies at New York Governor Hastings has heartily endorsed the proposition to furnish the National Guard with a dress uniform. During the past year the soldiers of Pennsylvania have won applause over and over again on account of their fine discipline and practical efficiency in all that constitutes the good soldier. There has been a disposition to compel on all occasions the wearing of a dress uniform, and this has been disapproved by the guardsmen. They feel that they suffer by comparison with troops of other states on dress parade. During the Beaver administration the present governor was adjudant general, and he was instrumental in having passed a bill appropriating $75,000 for a dress uniform. Owing to the failure of the revenue bill that year it was necessary for Governor Beaver to veto the bill, and nothing has since been done officially in the way of supplying a uniform for ceremonial occasions.

The Question of State Revenues.

The question of revenue for the state is one that is giving the financiers in the legislature much serious concern. Up to this time the only bill that has been agreed upon, and which is being pushed along, is the Elkin bill, taxing direct inheritances over $5,000 at the rate of two per cent. It is estimated by the friends of this measure that it will bring into the treasury about $2,000,000, but Representative Ward Bliss, of Delaware county, contends that it will not produce more than $900,000. He is the author of several revenue bills, among them one to tax beer, and insists that the legislature will have to do something more in the way of raising revenue before adjournment. There is pronounced opposition to any suggestion that beer be taxed, and any suggestion that the objection to the result of campaigns done with the liquor element. Whether that be true or not, it is very evident that no liquor legislation of any importance will get through this session. Under present conditions at the state treasury the deficiency of revenue is at least $2,000,000, and many worthy charities in the state will have to be cut off without a shilling unless more revenue is provided for this purpose.

A resolution has passed the legislature calling upon the governor to designate May 15 as a legal holiday, and he has agreed to do so. This is the day on which the Washington monument in Philadelphia will be unveiled with imposing ceremonies.

More attention has been given to politics and to factional differences at this session of the legislature than at any previous sitting for many years. Starting with a bitter contest over the election of a United States senator, the bitterness of factions has increased rather than diminished, and unless the pending harmony schemes are successful the outlook for Republicanism is not bright.

GASES AT THE COUNTY COURT.

The Grand Jury at Work on the Poor Directors' Case.

ALMSHOUSE EMPLOYEES QUIZZED.

Several Shenandoah Cases Awaiting the Attention of the Grand Jury—Tombstones and Parfit Homicide Cases Are Among Them—Chief Tash Determined.

Special to EVENING HERALD.

POTTSVILLE, May 4.—An immense throng of people attended the session of court to-day and all corridors of the court house were crowded from the early morning hours. A great many of the attendants were witnesses called from north of the mountain to appear as witnesses in several cases of considerable importance from Shenandoah.

The case of most general interest to-day was that against Directors of the Poor Series District and Fred. Ahrensfield, who are charged with bribery. All the almshouse employees and many of the ex-employees were called before the Grand Jury and several cattle and coal dealers were also called in. The result is not known yet.

Among the other prominent cases awaiting the consideration of the Grand Jury is that of William Snyder, the Shenandoah undertaker and moonshiner, who is charged by one of his boarders, Matt. Kaporowit, with being responsible for the death of Thomas Tomalinski. Snyder has been under $3,000 bail for several weeks and Tomalinski died in under $1,000 bail. Tomalinski died at the Mincey's hospital from fracture of the skull. About two weeks after the man was injured his wife caused warrants to be issued for the arrest of the two men who are under bail, alleging that her husband told her that he was beaten with a stove poker by Snyder and Kaporowit in the former's saloon. Subsequently, and after her husband died, the woman refused to talk about the case and refused to go before the Coroner's jury at Shenandoah. The jury rendered an open verdict, being unable to fix the responsibility for the death on any particular person, but the District Attorney concluded to hold the accused men for a hearing before the grand jury.

Another important case awaiting the Grand Jury's attention is that of Charles McHale, of Shenandoah, held for the death of William J. Parfit, of Lost Creek No. 2. It is alleged that Parfit died from a hemorrhage, alleged to have been caused by a blow on the nose received while fighting with McHale. The parents of the deceased and Dr. L. H. Brady were in attendance to-day.

Chief of Police Thomas Tash came down to Pottsville this morning determined to ascertain why the Sam Block robbery case has not been prosecuted. The case has passed over several terms of court and Chief Tash says he is determined that it shall not go over again. The men awaiting trial for the robbery are Gibson, Zollner, Anspach and Burns, of Shenandoah, and the first named is charged with having instigated the policeman Stanton when being chased.

Matt. Navolis, of Shenandoah, charged with adultery on oath of Andrew Markinsky to-day received a sentence of 5 months, $10 fine and costs.
