The courage and physical force of the Turkish soldier are prodigious, Many of them fought on Wednesday from dawn until 7 in the evening without the least distress.

A dispatch from Velestino says: "The Turkish forces have arrived at the outskirts of Volo. As yet there is no con-firmation of the rumor that the town has already fallen, but in any case its capture is only an affair of a few hours, as the defenses on the land side are very feeble. A portion of the Greek force has retreated by the coast road to Almyros, from which point it will probably be conveyed by sea to Lamia and rejoin the rest of the army at Domokos."

The news of the retreat from Pharsalos was at first received with consternation, but the public has already accepted the situation, and now regards the retreat to Domokos as a strategic movement dictated by prudence. It is generally felt that General Smolenski's defense of Velestino has vindented the remutation of the has vindicated the reputation of the Greek army and wiped out the disgrace of Mati and Larissa. The national onor is untarnished.

But while all this is so, the bellicose onthusiasm of the Athenians has van-shed completely. On all sides the deire for peace is expressed, and should be government invoke the intervention of the powers it would probably be supported by public opinion. The anti-royal feeling is visibly diminishing. The demonstrations due to a change of cabinet and to the flight from Larissa, which were somewhat superficial, have not been repeated. superficial, have not been repeated.
The galiantry of the princes at Pharsalos has also had a good effect.

Ambassador May and His Predecessor Vie With Each Other in Heneyed Words of Flattery-Many Leading Americans of London Absent.

London, May 10,-The farewell banquet given last evening by the American society in London to Mr. Bayard, former ambassador of the United States, was attended by 279 guests. Sent by Mail on receipt of price, St FIR BOTTLE.

The company included Ambassador Hay, Mrs. Hay and all the members of the American arches in the American embassy, the lord bishop of Lordon (Dr. Creighton), Baron Russell of Killowen, the lord chief justice, Sir Francis and Lady Jeune, Sir Edwin Arnold, Sir Henry Thompson, Lady Randolph Churchill, Lady An-derson, Mr. and Mrs. Raiph Vivian and Miss Genevieve Ward, the actress; but there was a notable absence of the ma-jority of the best known Americans residing in London.

Mr. Bayard and a cordial reception. He brought with him the log of the Mayflower, which he deposited in its glass case in the reception room, where it instantly became the center of at-traction. He took Mrs. Hay into din-nor, Ambassador Hay taking in Lady

The dining room was prettly decorated with flowers and banners, the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack being entwined about the arms of the state of Delaware above Mr. Hayard. The lord bishop of London, in a felicitous speech, proposed the health of the president of the United States. Newton Crane toasted the guest of the evening, Ambassador Hay cordinity applanding all his subogles of Mr. Bay-ard. During the presentation of the loving cup, which is in the form of a pumpkin, surmounted by a bust of Mr. Bayard, Mr. and Mrs. Bayard were visibly affected.

Mr. Bayard on rising to respond to

Mr. Crane's sentiments was greeted with a storm of applause. He spoks for an hour, slowly and impressively. He said in part:

"There is nothing we desire to con-ceal except a strange shamefacedness that temps us to restrain the love each feels for the other, but there never should be a trace of doubt as to that affection between the heads of the two countries. No man feels this more countries. No man feels this mo than my illustrious successor. If I was ever worth a button you have here a better button to put in my place. I rejoice in my successor, for he will be as far as I have always sought to be."

Mr. Bayard insisted eloquently that there was no cause of a quarrel be-tween the two nations, and, after a few words of graceful and touching farewell, concluded with a happy refer-ence to the log of the Maydower.

Baron Russell, in proposing the health of Ambassador Hay, said: "The United States have sent us their best men to represent them, and we have no doubt that the chain will be continued unbroken. To Ambassador Hay we will give the heartiest of weicomes, for we believe that he is the nurbinger of peace and goodwill to all." This toast was received with great enthusiasm.

Colonel Hay, responding, said:
"When your chairman kindly invited me to be present touight, and when Mr. Bayard added the sanction of his own friendly request, I could not but avail inviself of the opportunity to pass so delightful an evening in your company, I stipulated, however that I was to come not in any official capacity, but simply as an American temporarily resident in England and desirous to add my tribute of regard to your distinguished guest. "I always have been, and fancy I ard on almost every matter of publi concern upon which men of goodwill may differ, but I have always been happy and proud of his personal friendship. I have shared the pleasure all his friends have taken in observing the unexampled affection and popu-

"Certainly no successor of Mr. Hay-ard would be so injudicious as to at-tempt to rival his brilliant career or to replace him in the regard of the British people. Nothing but disaster could follow such an attempt. None but thysses could bend the bow of Ulysses, Mr. Bayard will always be remembered as our first ambassador. and all the more because he has gained the affectionate esteem not only government and the governing classes but also of the musses of the people of these islands.
