Mr. Spooner added his protost against tying the hands of the administration. Mr. Gorman closed the debate, resenting the suggestion that party lines were drawn on the resolu-tion, and asserting that the administration should have dispatched a war vessel to Cuba to protect our officials on the island. The final vote was then inken and the senate adjourned until next Monday.

Cuban affairs furnished the house with a day of bitter partisan debate. The resolution appropriating $50,000 for dealies the postpanement of final con-gressional action on the Cuban ques-tion until the report of Mr. Calhoun, who is on the island to investigate the conditions there, has been made. The senate resolution can be brought before the house only by a special rule, and Speaker Reed is known to be opposed to its adoption at this time. There may be much pressure brought to bear by the Republicans who think early action on the Cuban question advisable to have the resolution ador ted by the house, but so long as the leaders consider that it may embar-rass President McKinley's plans it is fikely to lie on the table.
