A FRENCH doctor has published in the Gazette des Honitaux an account of his bleyeling experiences. After a long ride he experienced paraesthesiae in the fourth and fifth fingers, with impaired sensibility, and paresis in the interossei, lumbricales, and the adductor pollicis. This paresis was followed by distinct atrophy in the affected muscles. He considers the affection to be the result of pressure upon the branches of the ulnar nerve. aggravated, doubtless, by the vibration opensioned by bad roads. He also considers that predisposing factors existed in the softness of the skin of the hand and in the exhaustion of the muscles and the consequent loss of protection to the nerves lying in or under them. It does not take any such terms to express how biking affected some of Shenandoah's heavy weight riders in the early stages, when the pesky thing would indst upon going through antics similar to those of the broncho on Main street last Saturday evening. It requires language much more vigorous and picturesque.

A RECENT experiment by the New England railroad between the cities of Hartford and New Britain Conn. has demonstrated the feasibility of using electricity as the motive power. on steam raffronds in place of locomotives, and the latter are likely to be relegated to the serap; pile, atleast upon suburban railroads. The cities named are nine unlesapart and as overhead wires and trolleys were impracticable, the engineers, after, long study of the problem presented, decided upon a third rail, A sluped; to convey the power. This rail is placed in the middle of the track and was found to fill the requirements of the case admirably and on Monday morning cars commenced running on half-hour schedules. Reports are to the effect that everything worked smoothly but the line had to be fenced in to prevent people from coming in contact with the rall which varries the electricity. This feature may militate somewhat against the of propulsion although its promoters appear to think not.
