DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

The Wives of Drs. J. S. and M. S. Kistler the Victims.

Mrs. J. S. Kistler and Mrs. M. S. Kistler, wives of the two well known physicians of town, met with a serious accident last evening. They drove to the Old Farmers' cemetery in the afternoon, accompanied by Mrs. J. S. Kistler's 8-year-old son, John. On the way home and while descending the steep mountain road leading to the northern end of Main street one of the breeches straps of the harness broke, allowing the carriage to run against the horses. Before the ladies could fully realize what happened the horse took fright and ran away. The screams of the terrified occupants only served to still greater alarm the horse, which was descending the road at a swift pace. At the turn of the road near Superintendent Baird's residence the two ladies and boy were hurled from the carriage. The latter escaped with a cut lip and some slight bruises. The ladies were much more unfortunate. They had fallen so that the crowns of their heads struck the stony road. Both were found stunned. The news of the accident spread quickly. Scores of people hurried to the scene. The ladies were carried to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Keiper, the parents of Mrs. M. S. Kistler, which is next to Mr. Baird's residence on East Line street and but a short distance from the place where the accident occurred. Drs. J. S. and M. S. Kistler were promptly notified and they immediately proceeded to administer relief and treatment. Shortly after Drs. D. John Price and Harry Clauser, and later Drs. W. N. Stein, G. M. Hamilton and J. Heron Roberts arrived in the order named and the victims received ample attention. Rev. Alfred Heebner, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, was also among the early arrivals and friends docked to the residence. It was first thought that both ladies had been dangerously injured, but careful examination showed that, having the effects of shock, there was no cause for apprehension. Both ladies received several very ugly scalp wounds penetrating to the skull and laying the bone bare. Mrs. J. S. Kistler's wounds were the most severe, but seven stitches were put in the scalp of each. The ladies were removed to their homes on North Jardin street at an early hour this morning. Both will no doubt suffer from the effects of the accident for some time, but, as already stated, the ultimate result is greatly dependent upon the extent of shock to the brain and system. From present indications the friends have reason to believe that a critical stage can be avoided. The accident caused much excitement and in all parts of the town there were expressions of sympathy for the victims, as both are as popular as they are prominent. The horse and carriage were promptly recovered and neither sustained any serious damage. The horse is a very docile and reliable animal, excellent adapted for use by families, so that the accident was due to circumstances that could not be foreseen. The members of the Hook and Ladder Company rendered service in assisting the unfortunate ladies to the Keiper residence.

MEMORIAL OBSERVANCE

The People Pay Homage to the Soldier Dead.

REV. HEEBNER ORATOR OF THE DAY

Impressive Services Held by the G. A. R. Post and Kindred Organizations in the Odd Fellows' Cemetery. Church Service Will be Held To-morrow Morning.

The observance of Memorial Day by the people of Shenandoah sufficiently demonstrated that they still cherish the memory of the sacrifices of the brave men who went to the front to preserve the Union. It was an unmistakable declaration that they do not forget the nation's debt, Sherman's march to the sea and the terrible conflict at Bull Run and Gettysburg. They remember that the duty they owe to the Grand Army of the Republic is honor to the dead and respect to the living.

But while the parade was such as to arouse a spirit of pride in the breasts of the people who witnessed it, there was a perceptible difference from other demonstrations on similar occasions in town so far as members were concerned. The ranks of the veterans are fast diminishing and the silver heads of those left show that the time is rapidly drawing near when the survivors of the rebellion will be as few as the veterans of the war of 1812 now number.

The arrangements for the observance of the day passed off without disagreeable features. There was a vexatious delay before the parade started, but it was an excusable one, and such as the majority of the people were willing to accept under the circumstances. When the arrangements were made it was not known that the P. & E. G. & I. Co. would pay its employees in the morning. Hence it became necessary to defer the parade until after the original hour in order to give those who were fortunate enough to have money coming to them to first visit the collectors.

The line of parades moved as follows:

Carriages containing order of the day, old soldiers and flower committees of G. A. R. and S. V., forming on East Oak street.

Carriages containing delegations from other societies and citizens.

The line of parades will move over the following route: Out Oak street to White; north to Oak; west on Oak to Jardin; south to Chestnut; east on Cherry to Main street; north on Main to the cemetery.

It was remarked that flowers were more plentiful this year than in many former years. The donations were certainly generous, especially those made by the pupils of the public schools. The hearse and carriages in the line of parades were laden with beautiful flowers and they by no means represented all that were consigned to decorations in the respective cemeteries. The graves which received special attention at the hands of the G. A. R. to-day were as follows:

G. A. R. LIST:

Henry Hornsbee, David P. Brown, Daniel Rose, James Kenyon, James Kerrigan, John Higgins, John Blinn, Hugh Lucken, John Dougherty, William Brunsen, John Easlerick, Unknown, Lieut. Michael O'Hara, Michael Rogers.

ODD FELLOWS' CEMETERY:

ASSOCIATION CEMETERY:

When the Odd Fellows' cemetery was reached the large gathering of people surged towards the G. A. R. plot, the preference of position at that point being given to the G. A. R. Sons of Veterans, Women's Relief Corps and Ladies' Aid Society. The Post conducted the services of the ritual and a squad picked from the Sons of Veterans fired the salute of honor over the graves within the plot, after which Rev. Alfred Heebner, pastor of the M. E. church, was introduced as the orator of the day. Rev. Heebner's address was listened to with marked attention. It was an able effort full of brilliantly patriotic sentiments. His remarks were those of a citizen trying to formulate some lesson from the beautiful ceremonies. Upon the conclusion of the address the assemblage dispersed and attention was turned to general decoration of all the cemeteries, although much had been done in this direction before the ceremonies, and even prior to today.

To-morrow the G. A. R., Sons of Veterans, Women's Relief Corps and Ladies' Aid Society will continue the observance of Memorial Day by attending divine service in the Annunciation church, on West Cherry street, at 10 o'clock in the morning when Rev. H. F. O'Reilly, the pastor, will preach a sermon.

THE TARIFF AMENDMENTS

Those Necessary For Party Harmony Generally Conceded.

PROPOSED TAX ON BANK CHECKS.

It is Intended to Substitute Such a Tax For the Proposed Duty on Tea and Beer—Confident That the Change Will Be Made.

Washington, May 23.—The members of the Republican side of the senate are generally pleased with the success of their plan for considering amendments to the tariff bill at night, and are beginning to assert that they will be able to complete the consideration of the measure without any serious disagreement in their ranks. The finance committee is generally conceding amendments which are insisted upon in the interest of party harmony. It has, however, become apparent that many amendments will be necessary as progress is made, and the tendency is to in a general way increase the rates. Among the more important changes under contemplation are those affecting the Hawaiian treaty, the general reciprocity treaty, tea, beer, etc. The proposition in connection with tea and beer is to substitute for the proposed duty on tea and the proposed tax on beer a tax on bank checks, deeds, mortgages and other conveyances, which will compensate for the cost of revenue which those two articles would produce.

The first proposition was to provide a tax only on bank checks, but this has been broadened so as to include other instruments including a money transaction. The committee has not definitely decided upon the substitution, but inquiry is asked as to the amount of revenue that could be counted upon the source indicated, and sources familiar with the situation predict with the utmost confidence, that the change will be made.

There is no doubt that the bill will, when concluded, carry some reciprocity provision, but the form of terms of it are not yet determined. The friends of Hawaii are also very confident that the treaty with that country and that will be protected in some way.

Porced Divorce and Naturalization.
Cleveland, May 23.—Archer Weston Secretan and Mrs. Fowler, prominent and wealthy residents of Toronto, Canada, came to Cleveland in October, 1896, and were quietly married. Lately they went to England, and have been followed there from Toronto by Secretan's first wife, who at once had him arrested for bigamy. The case is in the high court in London. Secretan produced documents to show that he had been granted a divorce from his first wife by the common pleas court in Cleveland, and that he had been made a citizen of the United States by the same court, thereby placing him beyond the authority of the English courts in this case. An investigation was quietly made, and yesterday it was discovered that both the decree of divorce and the naturalization papers were clever forgeries. Secretan was never divorced in Cleveland and not naturalized.

Two Thousand Homeless in El Paso.
El Paso, Tex., May 23.—Over 500 homeless families, or 2,000 people, were in the streets of El Paso yesterday searching for shelter. Their furniture, clothing, etc., were piled up all about the principal thoroughfares of the city. Thursday night the waters continued to rise, and before day had dawned had reached that portion of the city in and around San Antonio street, where prominent business men reside. After 11 o'clock Thursday night the flood swept over six more blocks. The waters were full of straggling teams hauling out property from the flooded houses. The Texas and Pacific railway threw up a dyke to protect its track, but six prominent citizens armed themselves with Winchester and cut the dyke, letting the back water out.

More Evidence Against Luettger.
Chicago, May 23.—Dr. Charles Mark DeLaFontaine, the expert chemist, made a discovery in his investigations into the contents of the vat in the Luettger sausage factory which is considered by the prosecution to be of a nature most damaging to the defense. In the sediment not only has he found traces of teeth, but also a number of flakes of a composition only found in the human tooth. This, together with the broken false tooth found by the police near the vat, the prosecution holds, establishes the corpus delicti, which the defense has maintained was wanting in the state's case.

The Maryland-Virginia Boundary.
Richmond, Va., May 23.—The boundary line between Virginia and Maryland waters, which has been for some time imperfectly marked, will in the near future be re-surveyed, with a view to ending the controversy as to the respective rights of crabs and oystersmen of the two states. This has been agreed upon by the governors of the two states. Governor Lee of Virginia having already appointed a commissioner to look after Maryland's interests in the remarking of the line. Governor O'Fallen will in the next day or so do likewise.

Ten Years For Banker Johnson.
Indianapolis, May 23.—John F. Johnson, late president and cashier of the State National Bank of Logansport, has been sentenced to ten years imprisonment in the Ohio state penitentiary by Judge Baker, of the United States court for the district of Indiana. The case was no sensation, and Johnson received the words of the judge without a tremor, and Mrs. Johnson, who was present in the court room, intended to be of assistance without emotion. By counting of good time Johnson will have to serve about seven years.

Camp 112, Attention!
All members of Washington Camp No. 112, P. O. S. of A., are requested to attend the next regular meeting, in Egan's hall, corner of Main and Centre streets, Tuesday evening, June 1, 1897, as business of importance to each member will be transacted. By order of JOHN GALE, Pres. Attest—J. S. WILLIAMS, Sec'y.
