DIAMOND KING SUICIDES.

Barney Barnato Leaps From a Steamer and is Trowned.

THE EUROID'S BODY RECOVERED.

His remarkable rise to fabulous wealth in the development of South Africa—A Fortune of $500,000,000 Announced by a Poor Showman.

London, June 15.—A special dispatch from Funchal, Island of Madeira, on the arrival there yesterday of the British steamer Scotia, which left Table Bay (Cape Town) on June 2 for Southampton, it was announced that Barney Barnato, the South African "Diamond King," who was among the passengers, committed suicide by leaping overboard. His body was recovered.

The Daily Telegraph, which announces the death of Barnato, says on the authority of a news agency that he fell overboard.

The late Barney Barnato was in many respects the most remarkable speculator of the century. Of all the Englishmen who have taken part in the development of South Africa two only have secured a worldwide reputation. These have been Cecil Rhodes and Barney Barnato, more often and less respectfully styled "Barney," and illustrated in an extraordinary way the financial genius of his race. Up to the point where his fortunes began to decline he made money by leaps and bounds, and in 1898, when his good fortune was at its zenith, it was estimated that he controlled interests worth in the neighborhood of £100,000,000. It was the fashion to call him the richest man in the world. At that time he was virtually the king of the London money market.

In the autumn of 1895, when the boom in "Kaffirs," the shares of the comparatively new gold mines of the Transvaal, South Africa, was at its height, every man, woman and child in London with money to invest invested in "Kaffirs." The craze was the last of those financial fevers which periodically attack conservative England, the "South sea bubble" being the first. For months it was the controlling passion in London, and it was scarcely less rampant in Paris and Berlin. The shares went to unheard-of heights, and fortunes were made in a day.

The center of this tremendous financial outburst was Barney Barnato, and he was conservatively estimated at that time as worth between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000. Among the assets was the last of those financial fevers which periodically attack conservative England, the "South sea bubble" being the first. For months it was the controlling passion in London, and it was scarcely less rampant in Paris and Berlin. The shares went to unheard-of heights, and fortunes were made in a day.

Barney was born in London. Little is known as to his early life, except that he received his instruction from a private tutor, instead of attending the public schools. He was a younger son, and at the age of 20 went to South Africa, then a much more savage territory than it is now, and actually populated by Englishmen or persons of European descent, to seek his fortune.

The Kimberly diamond mines were just beginning to be productive. With the little capital he could spare he began dealing in diamonds in a small way. He was clever and pushing. Everything he touched he made successful. In five years he had earned enough in the retail sale of diamonds to purchase shares in the mines from which his merchandise had come. Before another five years had elapsed his holdings at Kimberly had become very large, and when the Transvaal gold fields were discovered he had profits to invest in them.

In 1886 Barnato was a definite mine power in South Africa, and began to be spoken of as the rival of Cecil Rhodes. Unlike in personal ambition, the two men started in to be not opponents, but in 1888 they reached the conclusion simultaneously that their respective interests could be best promoted by combining forces, and the De Beers consolidated mines were the result, one of the most valuable pieces of property of the kind in the world.

Barnato repeatedly and persistently denied the story that he began life in South Africa by exhibiting a trick donkey, but there are many Afrikaners entirely familiar with his career in that part of the world who have as persistently and repeatedly asserted this to be the fact. There is no truth, however, in the story that he was ever a clown or a juggler in a wandering show. He frequently took part in private theatricals for the benefit of hospitals and similar charities. He had considerable ability in this direction, and his favorite roles in later years were Othello and Mathias in "The Hells."

Although Barnato represented Kimberly in the Cape legislature, he had little time to give to politics and little interest in that field of activity. Cecil Rhodes uses wealth only as a means to political control. Barnato aspired only to such control of men as comes from being fabulously rich. His second in the Cape legislature was the treacherous increase in his mining interests called for the establishment of a London branch, it took the form of the Barnato bank. From that date he spent most of his time in London, living at first in Earl Spencer's town residence, but moving finally into a magnificent mansion overlooking Hyde Park.

While in Africa he was married and had three children, two sons and a daughter. He always had, or professed to have, boundless faith in the future of the Transvaal, and his personal popularity among all classes of Afrikaners was very great. In London he was constantly besieged by flatterers, beggars and projectors of all sorts of enterprises, he finally became quite impregnable to all except his Remarkable Success of a New Pile Cure.

People who have suffered for years or months from the pain and inconvenience of that common disorder, piles, will look with skepticism upon the claims of the makers of the new discovery for cure of all forms of piles, known under the name of Pyramid Pile Cure, nevertheless the extraordinary cures performed by this remedy are such as to warrant the investigation of any sufferer. As a case in point the following letter speaks for itself.

Mr. Henry Thomas of sub-station No. 3, Honeck Ave., Columbus, Ohio, writes as follows: Pyramid Drug Co. Gentlemen:—I want you to use my name if it will be of any use to you. I was so bad with the piles that I lost work on that account. Nothing did me any good. I read in Cincinnati of the many cures of piles by the Pyramid Pile Cure and I went to a drug store and asked for it. The drug clerk told me he had something else that he thought was better, but I told him I wanted to try the Pyramid first.

The first box helped me so much that I tried another and then to complete the cure used two more boxes making four in all. I am now completely cured. Have not a trace of piles and I had suffered for four years with the worst form of protruding piles. I suffered from piles but I have found the Pyramid Pile Cure to be just as represented. I have recommended it to several of my friends and I am thankful to be able to write you what good the remedy has done for me.

Physicians recommend the Pyramid Pile Cure because it contains no opium, cocaine, or mineral poison of any kind and because it is so safe and pleasant to use, being painless and applied at night. The patient is cured in a surprisingly short time with no inconvenience whatever.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents per package, and if there is any constipation it is well to use the Pyramid Pills at the same time with the Pile Cure, as constipation is very often the cause of piles and the pills effectually remove the constipation. Price of pills is 25 cents per package.

HAWAIIAN ANNEXATION.

A Treaty to That End Now Only Awaits Signature.

TO BE SENT TO THE SENATE SOON.

The President, it is asserted, has announced that the Treaty Will Be Promptly Accepted by the Upper House of Congress.

Washington, June 15.—The officials at the State Department steadfastly refuse to make any statement as to the negotiation of a treaty providing for the annexation of Hawaii, and at the Hawaiian legation the same silence is observed. However, it is known that the treaty, though not yet signed, is drawn up ready for signature, and the President is fully aware of the scope there is no reason to doubt that he will authorize its signature. In this case it is expected that the document will be sent to the senate for its action very soon, even within a week. It is said in some well informed quarters that in this case it may be taken for granted that the president has taken steps to assure himself of a favorable reception for the treaty in the senate, and to guard against such a mishap as befell the arbitration treaty this session.

The treaty is a very simple affair of the treaty negotiated during the administration of President Harrison, and withdrawn by President Cleveland. It provides for annexation without the exacting of conditions on the part of the Hawaiians as to the form of government to be established in Hawaii, leaving that question to be entirely disposed of by the government of the United States. The United States will agree, however, to assume the debt of the present Hawaiian government, but will not assume possession of all the Hawaiian crown lands and other possessions.

Several senators have received definite information concerning the existence of the treaty, and are well acquainted with its terms, though they refuse to discuss the matter until they have received the information in confidence. The knowledge of the existence of the treaty has been communicated to members of the committee on foreign relations and also to members of the finance committee. In the Republican caucus the subject of the annexation was limited at, but in rather vague manner. Senators asserted that there were in progress negotiations looking to the annexation, but they would not aver that they knew a treaty had been drawn, nor would they give any assurance that it would soon be sent to the senate.

In private conversation with other senators, however, they gave information that was definite enough to satisfy those with whom they talked that the treaty was not only to be sent in, but that it was now already in the hands of the officers of the two governments to complete it. It is known that the approval of the committee on foreign relations is assured, as eight members of the committee have approved its terms. This will enable the committee to speedily report the treaty to the senate, so that it may be taken up immediately after the tariff bill is disposed of.

The senate has been canvassed to a certain extent by senators favoring annexation, and while there are some senators who are non-committal, the supporters of the proposition say they believe that they can count upon the two-thirds vote necessary to insure ratification.

The special friends of the president about the senate may that the treaty has been made in accordance with his views, and that it would have been sent in some time ago but for his objections as to details.

The Republican senators were in caucus for more than three hours last night, and when adjournment was reached not very much progress had been made. The Hawaiian treaty proposition was passed over to be considered at another caucus, as several senators expressed the opinion that if it was to be sent in, it would be absurd to enact legislation looking to the abrogation of the treaty of reciprocity, senators who were aware of the progress of the annexation treaty did not feel at liberty to give their consent to information. Although there was much reticence observed, it was believed the president would be consulted today on the subject of the proposed treaty.

A PIONEER SHOEMAKER.

WORKING AT HIS TRADE ALTHOUGH EIGHTY-FIVE YEARS OLD.

Mr. James McMillen, of Champaign, Has Followed the Shoemaker's Trade All His Life—Every Day at His Bench Working with Apparently the Same Vigor as a Young Man—A Sketch of His Life.

From the Gazette, Champaign, Ill.

At the advanced age of eighty-five years, James McMillen, of 112 West Washington street, is one of the most active men in Champaign, Illinois. Mr. McMillen is a pioneer of the city, and his firm is as familiar on the streets as that of any citizen of the town. All his life Mr. McMillen has followed the trade of shoemaker, and every day he sits at his bench, busily over his work with apparently the same vigor he commanded when he was a young man.

He has a little shop on North Wright street, in the vicinity of the University of Illinois, and he is the official shoemaker, as it were, for the students of that institution. About a year ago Mr. McMillen was absent from his bench for several weeks, and his familiar form was missed along the streets. The local newspapers announced that he was dangerously ill. For months he was a sufferer, but finally he appeared again at his shop, and has not been very long since then and none, perhaps on account of sickness. His friends were surprised to see him out again, and they were more surprised when he told them the cause of his recovery.

There was no small amount of food taken in his case, and a reporter visited him, to have him relate the story. "I feel," said the spry old gentleman, "that I owe my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Something like a year ago it appeared to me that I was almost a physical wreck. I was suffering from a blood ailment, and my feet and ankles were terribly swollen and inflamed. I could not walk, and it looked as though my days were numbered.

"I read in the newspaper testimonials from people who claimed to have been cured of blood trouble by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and thought that it would do me no harm to give them a trial. I bought a box of them at the drug store and began taking them according to directions. It may seem strange, but it is a fact that I felt the benefit of them almost as soon as I began to take them. After I had taken a few pills my feet and ankles were almost as black as tar and I noticed at the same time that the pain and soreness were leaving my limbs.

"A few days later the swelling began to go out of my ankles, and at the end of five weeks I had entirely disappeared, taking with it that terrible scurf which had formed on the bottoms of my feet and caused me so much trouble. I continued to gather my lost strength, and in the end of six weeks I felt entirely recovered and resumed my work at the shop. I think I took from four to five boxes of the pills and have taken none since."

Mr. McMillen's residence on West Washington street, is more than a mile distant from his shop, but nearly every day he walks the entire distance, morning and evening, and he would not do this if that swelling still existed. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contains in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk) by the 100, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.
