DIED FROM SHOCK.
A Door Boy Dies After Being Crushed Between Cars.

Edward Lynch, a Polish boy 15 years old, died at the Miner's hospital last night from the effects of injuries sustained at the Maple Hill colliery yesterday afternoon. The boy was employed to attend flour in the West Split gangway of the mine and went out to a counter chute to get some sprags. While there he volunteered to help another boy in coupling cars and was caught between bumpers, his left leg being frightfully crushed between the knee and hip. The boy was brought to town and after being attended by Dr. M. Thammann was taken by train to Ashland. Amputation would have been necessary, but before the operation could be performed the boy died from shock. The parents of the deceased reside in Shamokin. The boy resided with an uncle on West Strawberry alley. He came to town about a month ago in search of employment and secured a place at Maple Hill. The remains were sent to the parents at Shamokin.

Passed Examination.
Arthur C. Morgan, son of Hon. John W. Morgan, of town, was yesterday successful in another examination of medical graduates. At the recent commencement of the Medical-Chirurgical College he was one of the gold medal graduates. Yesterday he passed fourth in a large class of applicants for positions in the Blockley hospital, at Philadelphia. Sixteen appointments are to be made at the institution and our brilliant young townsman is assured one of them. John Dyson, son of Rev. Dyson, of Wm. Penn, was also successful at the same examination and will also be one of the appointees.

Solitor Berke's Proposition.
EDITOR HERALD:—I am authorized to say to the hidden clumpings of the Citizens' Electric Light Company, who are indulging in acrobatic feats just now in the town papers, that if they wish to take up the electric light controversy before Council on Thursday evening with a representative of the Commercial Company, they can be accommodated. This is extended to any accredited representative of the old company whom they may see fit to send. It occurs to me that would be a proper time and place, the Council permitting, to have the subject thoroughly ventilated.

Yours truly,
M. M. BURKE,
Solitor.

The Camera Snapped.
Photographer Dan Snapper's camera on an amusing as well as "pretty" scene this morning, which caught his eye from his studio window, facing on Centre street. The scene was enacted on Dougherty's awning, and the photos will no doubt be in great demand. The amusing part of it was that a young man, in connection with the camera, was pulling a paint brush in such a manner as to cause a tired feeling to take possession of the onlookers, while the "beauty" of the scene was furnished by the female "knights of the thread," who have smashed the hearts of many young men, and its two to one that the camera met the same fate. No bonquets, ladies.

Purée of pea, food, at all patrons to-night. Nice Delaware hard shell crabs.

Miss Ables.
John Brown has been transferred from the position of inside foreman at the Knickerbocker colliery to the inside foremanship of Ellanoguan colliery.

It has not been decided who will succeed John Brown at the Knickerbocker. John Ballian, present inside foreman there, and Thomas Beldow, of Parky Run, are spoken of in connection with the appointment.

H. S. Boyd, of Shamokin, who succeeds William Broughall as district superintendent, spent to-day visiting the collieries in this vicinity with District Superintendent Rees Tucker, of Mahanoy City.

The undersigned is prepared to do all kinds of dressmaking on short notice and at reasonable prices. Miss Brecker, 31 South Main street. 6-15-97

Boy Bitten.
Roy, a son of Charles Newberger, of North Main street, was litten by a pet dog belonging to Rev. Leonard, of St. Catherine's R. C. church, yesterday afternoon. The boy had been dispatched to the residence of the priest with a telephone message, and the moment he entered the yard he was attacked by the dog and bitten on the leg, which is not a serious wound. With the assistance of Chief Tush and the boy's father the vicious animal was secured, and afterwards taken up on the hill, where it was shot.

VETERINARY DISCUSSIONS
Schuylkill Valley Veterinary Medical Association Meets at Pottsville.

INTERESTING PAPERS WERE READ
The Subject of Pathological Shoeing Exhaustively Treated by Dr. Yinet, of Shenandoah—Of Interest to All Who Are Concerned in the Care of Horses.

Special to EVENING HERALD.
POTTSVILLE, June 16.—The June meeting of the Schuylkill Valley Veterinary Medical Association was held here this morning and well attended. All parts of the county were represented and the meeting was one of the most interesting the association has ever held. After the transaction of routine business Dr. Pottelger read a paper on pneumonia and Dr. W. H. Yinet, of Shenandoah, read one on pathological shoeing. Discourses and reports of his interesting paper followed. The paper read by Dr. Yinet was as follows: The subject of my paper, pathological shoeing, is one that has attracted a great deal of attention and especially of late years. This subject, however, has not received a great variety of opinions. It is a subject of such a nature that if one is interested in it, he will find that each day will add to his knowledge, and that in every day being more than a study and practice before becoming expert enough to immediately by looking at a horse's foot, know what sort of a shoe to apply. This is a certain rule, and the horse's feet, by application and observation a man can acquire that faculty; which means that the same faults in different horses cannot all be corrected by the same shoe. The horse's foot contains the lower portion of second phalanx, third phalanx, and navicular bones, lateral elastic foot cartilages, having for a covering a vascular network allowing but moderate movement, and synovial of the flexor tendons, resting on an elastic cushion, and enveloped in a dense keratogenous box, sole and frog. In the front, are observed, besides the bones, in front, are observed, anterior extension of the phalanges, on sides, the anterior lateral ligaments and posterior lateral ligaments. The lateral cartilages occupy space between the posterior border of anterior lateral ligaments and anterior border of posterior lateral ligaments. The navicular bone and sprays into a wide keratogenous (or horn growing) substance. The planter cushion is a fibro-fatty mass, shape like frog, and lies between the posterior portion of phalanges, and corresponds to faces of lateral cartilages and is continuous with their front capsule; inferior surface rests on superior face of frog. It is denser centrally. The horny box represents the wall and sole. The wall if spread out, would be a perfect crescent, the ends of crescent turned in at an acute angle behind, the wall, but extending obliquely forward and converging toward each other, comprises the base; immediately above the heels can be observed the glands. At the upper extremity of wall, concave bevel (cuticular cavity)—in front the pericarp or coronary land. In very young animals it extends down the wall, but in a rarer hoof it disappears, except at top of wall where it is thick and adherent. Structure of horny box.—On the inner surface of the wall, the hoof wall, consists in all, if spread out on a flat surface would probably cover a space of twelve square feet. The longest, corresponding to the length of wall, is the coronary wall, and is one eighth of an inch in width. Next to laminae, a layer of white cement, next a layer of dense fibrous tissue, then two layers of fibres increasing in density toward the wall, and the sole joins the wall the laminae disappears, thus bringing sole in direct opposition with the cement layer, which is always in excess, while the sole is thin. The frog—homogeneous wedge shaped structure, is continuous with coronary band. In alluding to the white line, I will mean the cement layer, the horny wall, the laminae, the metatarsals of metatarsals to the third phalanx included. To at once come to the subject of this paper we will first consider a perfect foot and hoof, one upon which a horse travels with safety, and the secret of leaving and riding. The hoof wall is level, and the sole is in perfect position and area column. The front limbs are vertical with a line drawn from the point of the shoulder, down, the opposite is level, and on the same horizontal plane with the sole, which itself is level. Quite a number of horses are brought for treatment that would travel square and sound but hoof wall is level, and the sole is not on the same horizontal plane as the ground, but the hooves would represent a straight column, though they would be in an oblique direction from the body. In this case the hoof wall is level, but the sole is not level, and the horse would stand in a correct position and is made to travel or stand in a position that will cause the hooves to be a perfect column, though points, and, too invariably, to the highest part. The trouble with most pack farmers is, they do not level the secret of leaving and riding; which is the first and most important knowledge. If the wall is pared, cut or rapped, on a level with the sole, the horse will travel, and evenly seen, and a level bearing is assured from the ground up, that is, of course, providing the structure in the hoof are normal. The level of the hoof are too high the horse will point back under himself, the kind of feet may be perfect but they are necessarily carried forward under body to assist balance. In this way the structure of hooves will become overtaxed, the horse jams in all four feet (as example where the good suffers with the bad.) In a case of sore shins all that may be required is to level hooves. A centre bearing shoe answers nearly all troubles because with such a shoe, the horse is allowed to rock, and almost immediately ceases to point, and though painfully lame before applying the centre bearing shoe, an improvement will be noticed. In a case where the hoof is found to be level and the horse points, one would at once know that the bottom of hoof and end of column of bones rest not on the same horizontal plane, but for example a horse standing with front feet ten inches or more apart, you would at once know that there is a greater space between the hooves than the end of the hoof, that is, the inside, and at the same time bottom of hoof is perfectly level. You will at once understand why the animal stands and travels so wide, viz: To cause the hooves to stand as a straight column though it is an oblique column. A horse travelling wide from the above cause will usually interfere, striking the side of the hoof with the leg, and strike the opposite foot, usually the fetlock joint. In a case where the hoof is not level, but is a little above fetlock joint at each step, a pack farmer might wonder why a horse travelling wide could interfere, but an intelligent veterinarian can readily comprehend. As the foot is lifted from the ground, and leg advanced the adductor muscles carry the foot in, which gives it a semi-circular movement, at same time the hoof rocks in and strikes the opposite foot, usually the fetlock joint. If this fault is due to an uneven hoof, leveling is all that will be required. But due to pathological changes as above described or as often observed in the so called awkward colt, which is no less than an unbalanced third phalanx, usually in

TAXATION OF ALIENS.
The Pennsylvania Law to Take Effect on July 1.

Harrisburg, June 16.—Governor Harlan yesterday signed the Campbell bill imposing a tax of 3 cents a day on all employed unfortunates foreigners. The tax is to be deducted from the wages of this class, beginning July 1 next. The bill will put about $1,000,000 a year into the treasury of the various counties in the state. One half goes to the school fund, on the basis of the number of schools, and the balance for the general expenses of the counties. This proposition was first introduced in the house by Mr. Campbell, of Fayette, in 1885, and he has since been working to have it become a law.

The governor returned to the house without his approval a bill making it lawful to erect and maintain fences constructed in whole or in part of wire along public roads and between adjoining lands. His objection to the measure is that it is indefinite in its description of the character of the fence and inadequate in all its provisions. The executive also states that the bill would likely lead to great confusion in the fence laws and cause much expensive litigation.

The house was thrown into a state of great excitement last night by Mr. Council, of Lackawanna, moving to discharge the ways and means committee from further consideration of the Illinois horizontal tax bill. The speaker ruled the motion out of order, whereupon Mr. Council moved to suspend the rules. Mr. Scott, of Philadelphia, called for a division of the question and the motion to suspend was defeated by 29 yeas to 106 nays.

The house killed the bicycle bill by 62 yeas to 70 nays. The measure levied a tax of 14 cents on pleasure carriages, bicycles and cycles, and was equipped with pneumatic tires, and $3 on traction engines. The money was to have been applied for road purposes. Mr. Baldwin, of Delaware, who had the bill in charge, said it would produce between $600,000 and $700,000 revenue annually.

To Increase Coal Production.

Scranton, Pa., June 16.—An order which is so general as to include about all the large operating companies in the greater valley of the Lackawanna, and which has put the mines on a five day per week schedule, has just gone into effect. For over two months the working average has been but two or three days per week. It is believed here that the activity will continue until the latter part of September.

Killed by a Lightning Flash.
Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 16.—John Kreskowiak, a Polish laborer, employed by the Pennsylvania Coal company at Nesquehoning, while engaged in unloading lumber from a car last evening, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. He was married, and leaves a family.

Their Salaries Changed.
A reclassification of a number of Pennsylvania postmasters has been made by the department at Washington. There are three changes in this county, and the salary of the postmaster at Shenandoah is the only one increased, from $2100 to $2200. Those receiving a decrease are Ashland, from $1800 to $1700; Trevinburg, from $1500 to $1400. All the other receive the same salary as previously. Columbus, Millersville and Quakertown have been relegated from third to fourth class and Gettysburg was advanced from third to second class.

Hickory's Cafe.
Our free lunch to-night will consist of pea soup, Boston Baked Beans and pork to-morrow morning.

Lyon Votes Debat.
The Lyon-Pitts judicial contest continues to bring the affairs many legal Lyon votes. About 44 witnesses were examined from the Fourth, Fifth and Seventh wards of Pottsville yesterday, and a great part of them voted illegally for Mr. Lyon. Judge Dunn is so gratified over his success in that field that he will continue to examine county seat witnesses for a day or so longer.

At Kepshinski's Arcade Cafe.
Purée of pea to-night.

Principal Knocked Out.
Monday evening Prof. Smith Murphy failed to be re-elected principal of the M. Carmel public schools on account of factional fight. Owing to the lateness of the meeting the Board did not elect his successor, but will do so at the next meeting. The salary of the High school principal in the future will be $90 per month, instead of $111.00 as heretofore. The assistant High school teacher's salary is not to exceed $65.

Baltimore Coal Operators.
A large delegation, comprising seventy members of the Baltimore Coal Exchange, arrived in Pottsville yesterday afternoon. The visitors comprise many of the most enterprising business men of the Monocacy valley, and a few from Washington and neighboring places. They are off on their usual summer jaunt, and will devote three days to a sight through the coal regions, and thence to Williamsport returning by way of Reading and Gettysburg.

HAWAIIAN ANNEXATION
An Unexpected Delay in the Signing of the Treaty.

SENATE ACTION ONLY NECESSARY
After the Document Has Been Formally Signed—The House Can Only Refuse an Appropriation to Pay the Debt of the Islands.

Washington, June 16.—It was the expectation that the Hawaiian annexation treaty would yesterday afternoon receive the formal signatures of the negotiators, Secretary Sherman for the United States government, and either Minister Hatch or Lorin Thurston, as a special commissioner for the Hawaiian government. The document itself had been prepared and everything was in readiness, when it was taken again to the White House for the president's final inspection and review. Secretary Sherman remained at the department later than his custom in order to receive the Hawaiian, but finally, at 4 o'clock, the attempt to secure the signature of the treaty yesterday was abandoned. This may prevent the submission of the treaty to the senate, as was the intention of the cabinet, but the delay in any case will not be material.

At the cabinet meeting, in the course of the discussion of the treaty, it was decided that its pendency in the senate would not necessarily cause any considerable obstruction to the progress of the tariff bill, and while there is every disposition on the part of the president to avoid any interference with the rights of the senate in the matter, it can be stated that the treaty will not go in with any idea that it will not be in the hands of the executive as it should be in with any promptness.

While the treaty is in the senate, either in the hands of the committee on foreign relations or on the calendar of executive business, it is the expectation that the people of the United States will have an opportunity, through the press and other mediums, to declare their sentiments upon the matter, and if, as is expected, there is an overwhelming declaration for annexation, it is believed the senate will be quick to respond to the demand. In this case the treaty, it is believed, can be carried by an affirmative vote of one or two executive sessions, while the regular tariff debates are in progress daily.

The manner in which the Hawaiian treaty will come before the house is in the paragraph which provides that the United States shall assume the public debt of Hawaii. This will not in any way affect the treaty or interfere in its adoption. Irrespective of and before any action will be submitted to the house will come the ratification of the treaty by the senate. If the treaty is ratified no action by the house can change the condition of the failure of the house to appropriate to pay the debt or the interest on it may become a future complication, but the ratification of the treaty by the senate will annex the islands.

The treaty which made Alaska a part of this country carried with it an appropriation of several million dollars. There was a most bitter contention in the house about making the appropriation, but the senate had by treaty ratified the agreement. Of course, if congress had finally refused to make the appropriation then Hawaii would have been a possession of Alaska. The case of the refusal of the house to appropriate for the interest of the debt of Hawaii will not, it is said, prevent annexation, but the payment of the debt or the interest would be a subject for future consideration and a question between the provinces, colony or territory of Hawaii and the holders of the debt if congress should not pay it.

Coal Miners on Strike.
Pittsburg, June 16.—The miners employed by the Pittsburg Colliery and the Webster Coal company, at Webster, on the Pittsburg, McKeesport & Youghiogheny railroad, are on strike. The diggers had been receiving 60 cents a ton until two weeks ago, when the rate was cut to 51 cents. They accepted and worked at that rate until the company had a question between them made a demand for 60 cents. They were all paid in full and discharged, but were told they could have work at any time at the 51 cent rate. The miners at Fayette City are also on strike against wage reduction.

Substitute Postal Clerks Reorganized.
Washington, June 16.—A mooted question in postoffice throughout the country has been settled by a decision of Acting Postmaster General Heath, giving official recognition of the department to substitute postoffice clerks. Postmasters at first-class offices may select from their eligible list a sufficient number of clerks to perform the work of the regular clerks temporarily absent from duty, such substitutes to be appointed to the first regular vacancy in the clerical force occurring thereafter. All similar paid to a substitute clerk must be accepted for by the regular clerk. Substitutes must receive the regular salary of the one for whom they have performed service.
