THE HAWAIIAN TREATY

It Now Awaits the Action of the National Senate. CHANGES FOR ITS RATIFICATION.

The Hawaiian Government Agrees to Absolute Submission to Washington, the President Having Veto Power Over Acts of the Local Legislature.

Washington, June 17.—The treaty for the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands reached the senate chamber at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The senate at once went into executive session, and at 6 o'clock the treaty was read by the president. The treaty itself was read to the senate. They were attentively listened to. The treaty was signed at the state department by Secretary Sherman for the United States, and Messrs. Hatch, Thurston and Kinsey for Hawaii.

In one part of the chamber there was a group of senators who will bitterly oppose the ratification of the treaty. Among them are Senators Gray, Miller, Paces, White, Caffery, Pettigrew and McNery.

As soon as the reading of the document was completed, Senator Davis, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, moved that the message and treaty be laid on the table. The motion was carried by a vote of 10 to 1.

Senator Davis gave notice that at the next executive session he would present the motion for publication, as all the essential facts and an almost verbatim copy of the treaty had been published in the press of the country.

There was some discussion as to when the treaty might be considered, and Senator White asked if it was the intention to push it at the session, and upon the reply being made that it was possible, the California senator said: "I desire to announce that I am prepared to stay here all summer to prevent the ratification of the treaty which I consider a very bad proposition."

"I will join you," said Senator Pettigrew, of South Dakota. The message of the president was not a very long document. It dealt with historical facts concerning the islands, and showed that the United States and Hawaii yearly grew more closely bound to each other. This was not really annexation, he said, but a continuation of existing relations with closer bonds between the people closely related by blood and kindred. Since 1820, said the president, the predominance of the United States had been known. The sending of the first envoy there brought the islands in close relations with the United States, and those relations had grown more firm by succeeding events. At the same time the tripartite agreement made for the government of Samoa, he said, Great Britain and Germany wanted to include Hawaii in the group over which a protectorate was established, but the suggestion was rejected by the United States because this government held that there already existed relations between Hawaii and the United States which placed the islands under the special care of this country, and that this country could not allow any other country to interfere in the affairs of Hawaii. The annexation of the islands, said the president, and making them a part of the United States, was in accordance with the established policy of this country.

Referring to the treaty negotiated under the Harrison administration, President McKinley said that the failure to accept the proffer of annexation in 1892, while not a subject of congratulation, was not wholly without its value, as it had demonstrated that the Hawaiian government could maintain itself, and no question could be raised of the authority of the present government to negotiate the present treaty or of its right to yield the sovereignty of the islands.

Under the treaty as signed, the islands are for the present to constitute a territory of the United States, their local laws remaining in force until new ones are enacted. A local legislature is provided for, but the veto power is not given to the president of the United States. A commission of five persons, consisting of three Americans and two Hawaiians, to be nominated by the president and confirmed by the senate, is provided for the purpose of formulating the mode of government for the islands.

The treaties of the United States with other countries are substituted for the treaties of Hawaii with the same countries in controlling the international relations of the islands. The migration of Chinese laborers to the islands is prohibited, and the laws restricting Chinese immigration to the United States are made to apply to the prevention of Chinese removing from Hawaii to this country. This government agrees to assume the debt of the island republic to the extent of $4,000,000.

At the Japanese legation the document filed by the Japanese minister on Tuesday is not regarded as a protest against the Hawaiian treaty, but is considered as a request for official information. There appears, however, to be no doubt that as soon as Japan is notified officially of the signing of the convention our government will be informed that Japan expects and demands recognition of all the rights and privileges which she now enjoys under her existing treaties with Hawaii. While peaceful annexation of the islands would abrogate the existing treaties of that country with foreign powers, Japan probably will consent that the United States must assume and respect Hawaii's obligations to those powers.

It is also a Japanese contention that under the new treaty, to go into effect in 1893, special legislation cannot be enacted to exclude their citizens, as has been done to Chinese under the Chinese exclusion act.

Senator Davis, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, is a very ardent annexationist, and the treaty in his hands will be pushed with vigor. While he will not attempt to have it considered if it interferes with the tariff bill, which has the right of way over everything now, he will have early action in committee, so that the treaty will be taken up whenever opportunity offers. While there is a very large sentiment in favor of ratification it will be necessary to convince a number of senators whose votes are necessary that the treaty is a proper measure, as these senators are among the doubtful men in the senate who have taken no stand either for or against the measure.

FOUR BOXES DID IT.

Remarkable Success of a Few Pills Cure. People who have suffered for years or months from the pain and inconvenience of that common disorder, piles, will look with skepticism upon the claims of the makers of the new discovery for cure of all forms of piles, known under the name of Pyramid Pile Cure; nevertheless, the extraordinary cures performed by this remedy are such as to warrant the investigation of any sufferer. As a case in point the following letter speaks for itself:

Mr. Henry Thomas of sub-station No. 3, Hoosack Ave., Columbus, Ohio, writes as follows: Pyramid Drug Co.

Gentlemen—I want you to use my name if it will be of any use to you. I was so bad with the piles that I lost work on that account. Nothing did me any good. I read in Cincinnati of the many cures of piles by the Pyramid Pile Cure and I went to a drug store and asked for it. The drug clerk told me he had something else that he thought was better, but I told him I wanted to try the Pyramid first.

The first box helped me so much that I tried another and then to complete the cure used two more boxes making four in all. I am now completely cured. Have not a trace of piles and I had suffered for four years with the worst form of protruding piles.

I suffered death from piles, but I have found the Pyramid Pile Cure to be just as represented. I have recommended it to several of my friends and I am thankful to be able to write you what good the remedy has done for me.

Physicians recommend the Pyramid Pile Cure because it contains no opium, cocaine, or mineral poison of any kind and because it is so safe and pleasant to use, being painless and applied at night. The patient is cured in a surprisingly short time with no inconvenience whatever.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents per package, and if there is any constipation it is well to use the Pyramid Pills at the same time with the Pile Cure, as constipation is very often the cause of piles and the pills effectively remove the constive condition. Price of pills is 25 cents per package.

Write to Pyramid Drug Co., Albion, Mich., for little book on cause and cure of piles, sent by mail free.
