ISH DRESS GOODS This department is so prohibits the final emictment of an ordinance upon the day of its introduction. It is a well known common practice of the legisla-tive bolies of the different boroughs through-out the state to take final action upon ordinances the same day they are introduced. Many of the most important would be invalid if it were held that this could not be done. Vosted interests would everywhere be destroyed.

In the absence of legislative inhibition I incline to the opinion that the passage of this ordinance on the same day of its introduction was legal and the rule is discharged. Grip-Colds-Headache.
