BAPTISM OF POCOHONTAS.

Beautiful reproduction in colors of the famous painting by... The remarkable picture, "The Baptism of Pocohontas," which hangs in the Capitol at Washington, has been reproduced in colors for the first time and will be given free to every reader of next Sunday's Philadelphia Press (July 11). It is one of the finest pictures ever given by a newspaper, and is certain to be eagerly sought after. In addition next Sunday's Press will have pages of gossip from the summer resorts; more sporting news than any two other Sunday papers; the finest woman's page in the country; and many special articles that will just fit the weather. A special feature will be the society news of this town. Do not miss "The Sunday Press."

Will He Marry Her?

Some time ago Harry W. Lessig, residing at Reading, received a letter that may lead to the consummation of a charming romance as has been reported for some time. The letter advised him that a niece, David Lessig, of Baltimore, Md., had died on March 23, leaving a valuable estate, and bequeathing him $10,000 on condition that he marry his cousin, Katie Lessig, the 17-year-old daughter of the deceased uncle, who in the will was left $25,000 outright. The will was a great surprise to the young man, as he had not seen his uncle for nine years, and did not even know his cousin. The cousins have become acquainted in their correspondence. They have exchanged photos and are good friends. The young lady is to visit Reading in August, when they will meet for the first time. She will be the guest of the mother of Mr. Lessig.

Factory Inspectors to Inspect.

James Campbell, chief factory inspector of Pennsylvania, and every deputy in the state, will at once visit each bakery in the respective districts to insist upon an immediate compliance of the act recently passed which is intended to direct the construction of bakeries and the management of such institutions that make and sell food to the public.

County Honor Insurance.

The County Commissioners and Controller have placed $17,000 insurance on the new buildings and machinery at the County Almshouse as follows: Hospital, $30,000; heat and light plant, $2,000; engines, $2,000; dynamo and switchboards, $3,000. T. T. Williams, the insurance agent of town, furnishes $4,000 of the insurance and agents in Pottsville, Minersville, St. Clair and Ashland the balance.

Death From a Lightning Flash.

Shanokin, Pa., July 9.—A gang of workmen, while driving to their homes in Mifflintown and Natalie, Wednesday night, were overtaken by the heaviest electrical storm ever known in this section, and one of their number, Daniel Rhoades, aged 70 years, was instantly killed by a bolt of lightning. One of the horses was also killed outright. The remaining workmen and horse were shocked.

No Currency Mess.

Washington, July 9.—The proposed message of the president to congress recommending the appointment of a commission to consider the question of a revision of our currency and national banking laws was not transmitted yesterday, as reported. It will not be sent in for several days. If it comes in at all, which is a matter of doubt.

The Orme Bill.
Governor Hastings yesterday accorded the advocates and opponents of the Orme company store bill a hearing in the Executive chamber at Harrisburg. Delegations were present from Hazleton, Mahanoy, Pottsville, and other towns in the anthracite coal region. The argument was an animated one, the principal address in favor of the bill being made by William Wilhelm, Esq., of Pottsville, the author of the measure, while Grant Herring, Esq., opposed the bill. Quite a number of others spoke for and against the bill.

Misconduct For a Detour.
New York, July 9.—A dispute over the payment for a round of drinks won at a game of cards led to a cowardly assassination last night in the back room of a saloon on Mulberry street, New York. The victim, Francesco, 35 years old, an Italian laborer, was the man killed, and his slayer is alleged to be Francis Curci, 24 years old, and also a laborer. During the afternoon the men played cards for drinks, and the game broke up in an altercation. Francis Curci snuck quietly behind Francesco and plunged a salletto into his breast.

Ex-Congressman Grossbeck Dead.

Proposed by the President.
Shenandoah, Pa., July 9.—Fred L. Kent, formerly cashier of the Ellsworth National bank, was pardoned from the state prison by President McKinley yesterday. He was found short in his accounts on June 20, 1893, to the amount of $19,000. His sentence would not have expired until 1905, he having been given a ten year term. Kent had been in ill health of late.

Sweeping Wage Reductions.
Bracon, Mass., July 9.—The employees at the George E. Knowlton factory have had their wages reduced. The finishers who formerly worked for $2.50 per day, have been reduced to $2.25, and those who earned the latter sum are cut down to $2, and some as low as $1.75. The general reduction in the factory amounts to about 10 to 15 per cent.
