Trenton's Sad Fatalities.
 Trenton, July 12.—Trenton had three deaths within the last 24 hours as a result of three different accidents. Two of the deaths were from drowning and one was from an overdose of laudanum. Francis Collins, aged 5, was found drowned in the Delaware & Harlan canal Saturday afternoon. He had been missing from home since the day before, and it is supposed to have fallen in the water. Andrew Dothar, aged 9, was also drowned in the Delaware & Harlan canal. He was sitting on the bank watching some boys swimming, when he slipped and sank to the bottom. The third death was that of Benjamin Godolnick, aged 50. Godolnick was a printer who worked nights, and on account of the heat was unable to sleep. He took a dose of laudanum to induce sleep, and took too much. The doctors labored with him for several hours, but were unable to resuscitate him.

Ex-Congressman Goes Back Dead.
 Cincinnati, July 9.—William Stearns Greenback, aged 51 years, died yesterday at his suburban home, known as Elmcrest, near this city. He was elected to congress in 1877, and held many public positions after that time. He was counsel for President Johnson in the impeachment trial of 1868. In 1872 he was the presidential candidate of the Liberal Republicans against Horace Greeley. In 1878 he was a delegate to the International monetary congress in Paris.

Prominent Railroaders Dead.
 Pittsburg, July 12.—John E. Davidson, third vice president of the Pennsylvania company, controlling and operating the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, died at the Hotel Lincoln in this city, at noon yesterday from the effects of an operation performed last Thursday for appendicitis. The deceased was 59 years of age, and had been connected with the Pennsylvania system for more than twenty years.

Harpers' Bazar.
 "The Red Bridge Neighborhood," a brilliant novel of New England life, by Marie Louise Noel, will begin in the Bazar of July 10th, and will be continued during the rest of the year. Miss Noel's peculiar knowledge of New England rural life, and her skill in depicting strongly marked types of character, are shown to great advantage in this remarkable story, which has been finely illustrated by Clifford Corbin. Other features of the month will be "What Women are Doing in New England," by Helen Lesh Lessie; "An Every-day Story," by Virginia Van de Water; and "London Crises and Street Scenes," by Emma J. Gray. "The Outdoor Woman" will treat of summer pleasures for women, notably golf, bicycling and other vacation sports. An article on "Summer Desserts" will be of interest to housekeepers.

QUAY A CANDIDATE.

He Has Decided to Again be a Candidate for the Senate.
 PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—Senator Matt Quay is Washington's hot weather humorist. A remark dropped by him the other day, that he was "tired of that sweet-bait"—meaning the Senate chamber—and henceforth for private life, started the rumor that the crafty Pennsylvania politician intended to retire from the Senate. To credulous newspaper men who questioned him the Senator said, with a wink, that he would retire at the end of his present term, "unless conditions are such as to make it necessary for me again to be a candidate."

Mr. Quay really had no more hope of re-igniting that of never going further fishing again, but the story spread to such an extent that he was obliged to call it in, and he now officially authorizes the announcement that he will be a candidate for the Senate to succeed himself, in an interview as follows:

"It has been rumored from Washington that I would not be a candidate, but I have been overruled and my visit to Harrisburg was to consult Governor Hastings and other friends as to my candidacy. You may say that for the first time in my life I am a full-fledged candidate for the Senate, and that I will run the contest with the regular time, unless Governor Hastings will assist me, for Hastings and I will never again be apart. The fiery cross will again be carried across the state and the men in blouse will be asked to rally to my support."

DIAMOND DUST.
 Brownsville was Walloped Yesterday at the Hands of the Browns of Town.

There was a big attendance yesterday afternoon at Brownsville to see the home team fall an easy victim to the Shenandoah Browns. Each club had its voters for whom the result meant much.

It was a fast game of ball and was anybody's game for the first few innings until Harry McDonald, of the Brownsville team, resorted to "rocky" ball playing at third base, and who is largely responsible for the home team's defeat. The score was 14 to 2.

The Shenandoah Browns and the Cherry street team are scheduled for a game at the Trotting park next Sunday afternoon. The Browns will be strengthened by an addition of four players of the Famous team.

The Lehigh Valley Coal Company's base ball team suffered their first defeat of the season at the hands of the Lehigh engineers, at Lost Creek, Saturday afternoon. The game was very interesting from start to finish and was witnessed by a large crowd.

The features of the game were Grady's sliding and a backward running catch of a hot liner by Daddow. Following is the score:

MAHANOY CITY.
 An Inoffensive Pole Shot and Seriously Wounded.
 MAHANOY CITY, July 12.—Joseph Grauler, a Pole residing on East Water street, was shot in the nose at about ten o'clock Saturday night. He did not feel the shot, but was left his house and was standing near the creek wall when a revolver was discharged twice in rapid succession. At the second report Grauler fell face forward and the boys ran away. The bullet entered the nose on the left side and shattered the nasal bone. The injury is not dangerous, but he later underwent a surgical operation.

The funeral of Joseph Hughes took place to-day. The pall bearers were William Palmer, T. H. B. Lyon, T. J. Hess, William Thomas, George W. Dennis, John Davis.

RIVAL LOVER'S REVENGE.

Alleged Brutal Murder Over a Woman in Massachusetts.
 Fall River, Mass., July 12.—Holder Alonzo Trippe, a farmer of Westport, was found dead on the New Bedford road, and Jerry Manchester, another Westport farmer, is under arrest in this city, charged with his murder. Trippe lived on Fisher's road, Westport, and for some time past, until a week ago, had as his housekeeper Sarah Husdam, who was also known as Sarah Faith. About a week ago Manchester, who was infatuated with the woman, married her and took her from Trippe's home to his own on Sanford's road.

The marriage and the removal of the woman have caused much jealousy and feud feeling between the two men, but what happened between them was known only to themselves and Mrs. Manchester. Saturday night Manchester and his wife drove into Fall River, and Trippe also came to the city with his own team. The two men were drinking together in a saloon in Flint village, but nothing is known of their movements after leaving the saloon, except from the statements made by Manchester after his arrest.

The last night car on the New Bedford and Fall River electric line, when one mile out of the city, came across Trippe's body in the road. Mrs. Manchester was sitting in the road, holding the injured man's hand in her lap, while her husband was standing over him. Trippe's head was covered with blood, and he was fearfully bruised. He was then dying, and expired before a physician could be summoned.

Manchester says that Trippe must have been killed by being thrown from his wagon. The police say that the men met and quarreled about the woman, and that Trippe was kicked to death. Mrs. Manchester said: "Both these men were crazy about me, but I had no hand in this." She was covered with blood. There were blood stains on the prisoner's clothes, and traces of blood were found in both wagons.

Fatal Ending of a Drunken Quarrel.
 New York, July 12.—John Kelly and John Casey, derelicts, employed on the same job, went out for a walk yesterday, and in their rambling visited several Baitinae law hotels. They were both pretty tipsy, and on their way home got into a drunken quarrel. Finally they squared off at each other and started to box. Casey led, and Kelly then made a savage pass at his antagonist, who dodged the blow. That caused Kelly to twist around, and he fell heavily to the pavement. He did not rise again, and when a surgeon came he pronounced Kelly dead. As a man who claimed to have seen the fracas told the police that Casey had struck Kelly in the temple with the point of his fist, and that the former was arrested for homicide.

Hired to Do Murder.
 Bridgeport, N. J., July 12.—Joseph Morrison, who, it is alleged, attempted to kill old Abbie Myers at Turkey Point on Friday, has made a sworn statement in which he says he was hired to shoot the old woman, and names Mary Woodlin, Sarah Shaffer, John Woodlin, Howard Woodlin and Corneil Garrison as all telling him to do a gun and shoot her. He alleges that they said they did not want her around there. They also told him, according to his statement, to burn Thomas Loper's house. Loper's house was set on fire some time ago, but discovered in time to save it from destruction. Morrison, who was seen in this morning, denied making any such statement, but Justice Joel Pierce holds his signed confession.

Tariff Conference in Session Yesterday.
 Washington, July 12.—The conference on the tariff bill held a four-hour session yesterday. The majority to reach a complete agreement as early as possible induced them to meet on the Sabbath and last night both the house and senate conferences appeared satisfied with the progress that has been made.

Several hundred of the minor amendments have been passed upon, many of them mere changes of phraseology, and on a large majority of these the house conference naturally have yielded. None of the real important problems in the bill, however, have as yet been solved.
