THE M'GUIRES SUE.
Quiet Brownsville Started Yesterday Afternoon by Their Antics.

Giving the residents of Brownsville ample time to restore quietness over the fighting which occurred at Anthony Grooms' saloon not more than three weeks ago, a repetition of a similar affair took place at the saloon of Thomas McGuire, a few doors above, yesterday afternoon. The fight was started, it is said, by the proprietor's wife, Bridget, making insulting remarks to Martin McGuire, a stone mason, and a fellow companion. The latter claims that as he was passing the place later on he was assaulted by Thomas McGuire, Sr., the son of Martin J. McGuire, and his daughter, Sabina McGuire, and beaten twice at different intervals. He also testified that the daughter, Sabina, hit him on the head with a stone that she had secreted under her apron, inflicting an ugly wound and that the McGuire, Sr., had followed him with a butcher knife and threatened his life.

The entire quartette was arraigned before Justice Tommy last evening, where the younger and the older McGuire were held in $500 bail each, while the two women were held in $200 bail each.

After their return to Brownsville the daughter and Thomas, Jr., appeared before Justice Mallis, of that place, and swore out a warrant against Martin McGuire for assault and battery. Martin was required to furnish $300 bail for his appearance at court. There is a feud of long standing existing between both parties.

Drave Escorts—No.
Among the participants at the hop at High Point park last night were two lady admirers of town, one being a school teacher and his gallant partner a clerk at one of the colleges. After arriving in town with four ladies they proceeded to escort them to their homes on East Raspberry alley, between Centre and Kemmerick streets. Reaching that part of the thoroughfare which is very dark, a sudden surprise was sprung on them (as a joke) by several young men bounding from behind a gate and accosting the group. "Fire!" "Police!" immediately echoed from the throats of the frightened young ladies, and soon the alley was in a condition of excitement. The school teacher dropped over in a swoon and the gallant clerk deserted the ladies by taking to his heels. His friends this morning say they believe him to be running yet, as his whereabouts is not known. Other young men came to the rescue of the frightened young ladies and escorted them home.

Arrested for Non-Support.
Several weeks ago Anthony Romanaitis, of West Raspberry alley, was arraigned before Justice Shoemaker for leaving his wife with a broom stick when she returned home late on a Saturday night. Officer Kester, who happened to be in the immediate vicinity took him into custody and he was held in $500 bail for the Justice to keep the peace. He returned to his deserted home a few days later and nothing was heard of him until he turned up last evening after the family had retired. He gained entrance to the house by breaking a large pane of glass in the door through which he crawled. He went in search of clothes which he had left there, and after a search of the house unlocated. His wife summoned Constable Phillips to arrest him on a charge of desertion and non-support. He was committed to the lockup in default of bail. Romanaitis has a wife and two children.

At High Point Park.
A large number of young folks had made preparations to hold a picnic at High Point park yesterday afternoon, but the event was marred by the slight showers that prevailed during the afternoon. Unhappily by the inclemency of the weather they turned the affair into a hop last night, which was attended by thirty couples. Several hours were pleasantly spent in dancing to the strains of Toole's orchestra. They returned home on the last car which passes High Point park at 11:30 o'clock. Mahoney City was also represented.

Man Down a Chalk.
Michael Hudak was before Justice Shoemaker last evening charged by Kate Tabolski with assaulting her baby on her 6-year-old child, Rose. Hudak was pushing a wheelbarrow on the sidewalk near the Tabolski residence and is charged with deliberately running the barrow over the child's foot. He was held in $800 bail for court.

MARCHING MINERS!
Another Demonstration Proposed in the Pittsburg District.

EUGENE Y. DEBS DISCOURAGED.
The Great Strike Agitator Admits His Inability to Induce the West Virginia Miners to Join in the Struggle For Higher Wages.

Pittsburg, July 21.—The attention of the miners of the Pittsburg district is now riveted on the Allison, Boone and Enterprise mines, near Canonsburg. The Boone and Allison mines, which were closed on Monday by the owners to prevent trouble between their men and the marching strikers, resumed yesterday with nearly a full force. The Enterprise mine started up this morning. The program of the strikers is to make another march on these mines. The leaders said yesterday afternoon that more than 2,000 diggers would be massed in the Pan Handle district and another march made on the mines. The men in the Miller's and Tom's Run districts are idle and have plenty of time to make another march. They are supplying themselves with several days' rations, and if the proposed march is made they will stay about the offending mines for several days. Up to a late hour last night no word relating to a march had been received at district headquarters. If the march is made the time will be kept a secret. Just at this stage of the strike sensational developments are expected. The men are beginning to feel the pangs of want, and in a condition bordering on desperation.

It was learned yesterday that organizers have been secretly at work among the miners of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company for several days. One of them was served with an injunction to remain off the company's property and leave the men alone. He said that he had been at work among the miners at Plum Creek, and expressed great hopes of being able to have them join the general suspension. As near as can be learned a concerted effort will be made in the near future to bring to a standstill the Allison, Sandy Creek and Plum Creek. It is not yet decided on the official side that in order to make the strike a success in this district these miners must be brought out. They admit that they have been at work among the men as DeArmitt's men seem determined to remain at work. The miners are running to their fullest capacity, and are supplying a large quantity of coal to the trade.

The coal market was quiet yesterday. Much coal was offered at $1.35 a ton. Slack took a big jump and now sells for $5 cents a ton. Before the strike it was sold at 40 cents a ton. There are hundreds of tons of slack coal at the mines in the Pittsburg district, but the miners' officials will not permit any of it to be loaded.

A number of strikers interfered with men who were loading from barges into cars coal that had been purchased by W. H. Summons, a dealer, from C. Jutte & Co. The men were compelled to quit work. Miners' Secretary Warner disapproved of the action, and issued orders to the strikers to molest no men who are handling coal that was mined before the strike was inaugurated.

A dispatch from Wheeling, W. Va., says that last night the 169 miners employed in the works of the Glendale Coal company, eight miles below Wheeling, notified the management that they would not return to work this morning. A few days ago the 60 cent rate was conceded to the men, with the understanding that they would not strike. Since that time, however, the officials of the Pan Handle district have been at work on the Glendale men, and their efforts have proved successful. The efforts of the miners will now be turned toward getting the Moundsville mines stopped, also the two or three still at work in other parts of the Pan Handle district.

Notwithstanding the break among the miners in the Fairmount (W. Va.) district, large quantities of West Virginia coal are passing through Wheeling for the west and lakes. There has been no repetition of the driving of spikes at three still at work in other parts of the Pan Handle district.

At Altoona, on Monday, 20 striking miners went to the mouth of the Gallitzin mine and beat drums with the intention of getting the non-union men out were arrested and locked up by the deputies on duty. The strikers held a long meeting to discuss the situation, but no conclusion was reached. It is predicted that a compromise will be entered into, and that all the men will go to work. The Mitchell Coal and Coke company got an injunction from Judge Bell at Ebensburg yesterday restraining striking miners from interfering with the miners or property of the company at Altoona. The company will keep the county an account of the expenses incurred in defending its mines from the strikers.

An Elkton (W. Va.) dispatch says: The only signs of any of the miners coming out on the Norfolk and West- Virginia in the immediate future is at the Switchback colliery. Here a little dissatisfaction has manifested itself, but otherwise all the mines are running to their fullest capacity and operators and miners are on the best of terms. Of the 600 to 700 miners in the Flat Top field who were out Monday, about one-fourth had returned to work yesterday morning. The meetings of agitation Monday night and yesterday availed naught for their cause, and the indications are that unless something very extraordinary develops the agitators will leave the field in this section.

Changes that have an important bearing upon the coal strike situation in West Virginia came yesterday. The state, taken as a whole, is against the strike for financial reasons, and as who have struck have been brought out under the pressure of the organizers and agitators from elsewhere. Generally they have been ashamed into striking, and their minds change when the agitators move on to other sections.

In the Fairmount region Eugene Y. Debs admits that he is sorely discouraged. Seventy-six of the Monongah men brought out Monday returned to work yesterday morning. The Fairmount managers declare that if the Watson men, about 1,000 in number, can be kept at work the other mines will be working tomorrow as usual.

Debs will speak at Worthington and Moundsville today to the west of the Watson men. The Watsons and their men are on excellent terms, and neither side has any grievance. They lead the region in production and profits, and have the miners tied up in agreements to furnish necessities in sickness and death. The miners have cause to like and respect the Watsons, and will probably stick to them.

It transpires today that Debs has been shadowed by two Pinkerton men, and that he has been threatened with death if he goes to Kanawha. He will go, however, tomorrow.

A gang of 150 Italians are to arrive at Fairmount today. They were to work on a new railway, but have been told by the Kanawha valley there is no material change, the success of the organizers at one point being offset by resumption at others.

Governor Atkinson was at Wheeling yesterday. He thinks the strike will become general, and hopes the men will win. He says he has not been consulted about using the military, and that none but the most violent outbreak would call for its use.

Fifty miners heard E. V. Debs speak at Wheeling, W. Va., last night, but only a few of them came from Monongah, the most important mine in the region excepting Monongah. Debs' speech was the same appeal to the men to lay down their picks and throw their fortunes with their striking brethren. He was received very enthusiastically, and the miners seemed deeply interested, but no attempt was made to organize the men, as Debs thought there were not enough miners present. Every effort was used to keep the men away from the meeting, and many spotters were employed.

Maryland Miners Working Overtime.
Cumberland, Md., July 21.—George's Creek miners state that the miners in this region are all working overtime. The Cumberland and Pennsylvania railroad, for the first time in its history, has been compelled to run night coal trains in order to supply the mines with empty cars and move the loaded ones. Agitators from Pittsburg and elsewhere have been mingling with the miners of the George's Creek, but are not meeting with any success.

Who Wouldn't Have Tariff.
A Frankfort representative in conversation with George Johnson, of Lost Creek, was given a purse of iron nails last night which might induce many of our voters who are staunch believers in free silver to change their minds and favor the new tariff law. His son is a senior partner in the Eagle locality with at Mahanoy City, trading under the name of George Johnson. During the many years of experience they have at times negotiated with a California firm to handle their goods, but it was all without avail. Yesterday they were surprised to receive a letter announcing that they should ship 200 dozen nails to Mahanoy City. This Western firm has not handled anything but foreign product for the past four years. Now they have ignored it and will handle all American goods exclusively, which is due to the new tariff law. They say that under the new tariff law they can buy goods manufactured in America equally as cheap if not cheaper than imported goods.

HASTINGS' GUILLOTINE.
It Descends on the Orme Bill to Tax Store Orders.

EMPLOYEES WOULD PAY THE TAX.
The Governor Says the Pinched Wages of the Laboring Man Would be the Source From Which the Tax Would Come. Other Bills Vetoed.

Harrisburg, July 21.—The Orme bill was yesterday vetoed by Governor Hastings. The measure imposed a 10 per cent tax on the face value of all orders, checks, dividends, coupons, passbooks or other paper representing the earnings of any employe not paid in cash to the employe or member of his family, and provided a penalty for failure to report annually to the auditor general. These bills were also disapproved: Providing for the commitment and treatment of persons in asylums addicted to the use of cocaine, morphine or other stupefying drugs, directing the publication of the lists of applicants for liquor license in first class cities to be made in three newspapers, one of which shall be a German newspaper, regarding the act of April 8, 1896, for the registration of marriages and deaths in the city of Philadelphia.

The bill to tax store orders was introduced by Representative Orme, of Schuylkill county. It met with considerable opposition, but the labor leaders managed to pull it through the legislature only to be vetoed by the Governor, who gives the following reasons why the measure did not receive his sanction:

"This bill, should it receive Executive approval, would be in direct contravention of Section 1 of Article 9 of the Constitution, which provides that all taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax. The territorial limits of the authority levying this tax embrace the limits of the state. The class of subjects here divided, coupons, passbooks or other papers representing the amount of wages or earnings of any employe given, made or issued for payment of labor and not redeemed in lawful money of the United States.

The framers of this bill evidently intended that it should relieve the laboring man from the pernicious company store order system which, wherever and under whatever disguise it is practiced, has proved a curse, but this measure fails to meet the evil.

The owner of a company store who seeks to compel his employe to purchase any portion of his earnings in store goods by the issuing of store orders, or other devices, all of which are forbidden by law, could not be hindered in placing, however unjustly, this additional tax of ten per cent on the amount of such orders upon his employe. The laboring man's capital is his daily wage. The only collateral he can offer to secure credit is his monthly pay account. If he should be deprived of either of these he is left without the means of supporting his family. This bill deprives him of the means of obtaining credit, either from his employer or from anybody else, and would make him in addition, thereby pay the tax sought to be imposed by said measure. If the bill should become a law he must either pay cash for his coal, meat, clothing and other necessities of life, or go without them, or pay ten per cent above what any other man would have to pay to get credit for such necessities.

"If he received a check upon a bank in payment of his wages and used that check for the payment of his debts or sent it to a foreign country so that it could not reach the bank for payment within thirty days from the date it was issued, he would be liable to a tax of 10 per cent under this bill would come of the man who earned the money. If his employer should give him a check upon a private banking institution and it was paid in lawful money of the United States on presentation, the amount thereof would still be subject to the 10 per cent tax."

Against Greater Potville.
There will be no "Greater Potville" this year, nor some other year in the near future. Town Council last evening decided that the people should not vote on the question of the advisability of having Yorkville as the eighth ward. The special committee appointed to inquire into the matter after spending part of one-half day in Yorkville and sitting in one joint session with the special committee of the borough, presented a voluminous report in which it is shown that annexation would not benefit Potville. The report and recommendations were adopted.
