As the anarchists are too much op posed to water to swim across the pond, it is probable that Powderly's vigilance will be successful in keeping many new recruits of that ilk from breaking in.

It is in politics as in everything else: the crowd worships the successful man and fawns upon the favorite of fortune. We have an illustration of this in the Thirtieth Senatorial district. A few short months ago, a political boss held away for several years, but to-day he has been shorn Hagenbuck of his power and is a nonemity in the JUSTICE FIELDS' LONG SERVICE councils of his party. This was made apparent at yesterday's convention.

connection with vesterday's convention, says the Miners' Journal, was the absence of any official participation in its proceedings of John J. Coyle. It is true he was present among the crowd of standers that lined the walls on the outside rim of the convention, but it was evident that he had been shorn of the effective strength that made him at one time a prominent participant in the councils of the party. Three men who have been the subject of his vituperation in his Mahanoy City newspaper, and whom he spent his best efforts to defeat as delegates. were present and voting for the very candidate whose only weakness was in the fact that he was supposed to be Coyle's candidate. If Messrs. Andrew J. Comrey, Harrison Bull and William H. Jones desired to visit upon Coyle's head the most torturing revenge for his malicious and merciless attacks upon them, they could not have secured it in a more effective way than was furnished by their comrades in the convention, who during the whole of its proceedings utterly ignored the presence of the fallen politician.

The endorsement of Mr. Brumm for the highest position within the gift of the people of the state is a compliment well deserved, and one in which you, etc. 7 his friends may well take much pride. It would be a fitting round-up of his political career to occupy the Executive chair, and none would fill it with greater ability.

The Ticket.

The representatives of the Republican party of Schuylkill, in convention assembled, completed the work delegated them in a manner highly choice of the great majority of the delegates. This was made plain in the contest for the Shrievalty nomination. In contrast to previous political conventions, there were no slates or combinations, but each candidate was placed before the convention upon his own merits, any one of whom would have made an acceptable nominee, and would have received the hearty support of the party voters at large. It was in every souse a Republican gathering, devoid of all cliques and combinations.

The nomination of Judge O. P. Bechtel, as his own successor, was foreshadowed in these columns several days ago, and is in line with the past record of the Republican party in favor of a non-partisan judiciary

His friends, while not successful, can felicitate themselves upon the fight they made for their favorite. The nominee for Sheriff, Hiester S. Albright, of Orwigsburg, is well known to the voters of Schnylkill county. He was born in West Brunswick township forty-one years ago, and is a native of pure American ancestry. He is identified with many of the business industries of his native town. He has always taken an active part in the work of the Republican party in this county and been a delegate to no less than 21 county conventions and six state conventions. He was chairman of two county conventions and his course in polities has always communded the respect of the people.

The contest for Director of the Poor resulted in the nomination of John Rowe, of Tremont, Though never before an aspirant for political honors, Mr. Rowe has always been active in the support of his party's nominees. The same spirit was manifested in the contest for Jury Commissioner, and the convention made no mistake in choosing John Anstock as the candidate for this STOCK AND PRODUCE MARKETS and a half hours. Taken as a whole the convention performed its work well, and we have no doubt will meet with the approval of the party at large, and will commend itself to the independent voters of the county. The Republicans have nominated a winning ticket, and the result in November is already foreshadowed.
