Reeder Resigns.

A new trouble has sprung up in the Republican camp, or rather an old one has been revived and has taken on its original form, but with considerably greater intensity. The sum and substance of the matter, as reported, is that Secretary of the Commonwealth Gen. Frank Reeder has resolved to sever his official connection with the state administration and the his political fortunes with those of Senator Quay. In a word, the gentleman named prefers Quay to Hastings, and therefore felt awkward in a position supposed to be in harmony with the Governor, and yet acting in a party sense in full keeping with the Governor's most prominent political opponent. As a result Gen. Reeder tendered his resignation as Secretary of the Commonwealth, at 205 E. CENTRE STREET the request of the Governor, and the same takes effect to-day.

It is said there is quite a good deal of interesting history connected with the resignation, the details of which largely confirm it, though the parties to it themselves decline to say yea or nay when questioned in regard to it. ROBBINS': OPERA: HOUSE. From this brief recital of facts it becomes very apparent that there is Hkelihood of trouble in the state in the near future, as Gov. Hastings is known to have a warm side for the Combine. Gen. Reeder's place, it is said, will be filled by a prominent Combine leader, and the fight will in an protability be continued vigorously throughout the entire state. The vacant position has been ten-

The Governor will not only in due time announce himself as a candidate for United States Senator against Quay, but he is determined to exert all the power of his waning Administration in support of the one distinctively anti-Quay candidate for Governor Attorney General McCormick,
