THE Republicans of this county matter—have been considering the doubt the fire constantly until forced to give up. Unless something is done by the government there is no limit to advisability of adopting some other method than that now in vogue in making nominations. Under the present delegate system it costs a candidate a small fortune to secure the nomination, and the nomine is not always the choice of a majority of his party. At the Republican convention of Lackawanna on Tuesday a committee was appointed to prepare a plan, to be submitted at next year's convention, for a system of making nominations by popular vote. What is known as the Crawford system is doubtless contemplated, which is the only way of making inomination to which any political party should consent. The scheme is not a new one Postal Savings banks exist in different countries of the world and in all places they have been the means of promoting thrift and industry, besides strengthening the stability of the national government which finds in the reserve funds ready and material assistance when government bonds are marketed. The system furnishes absolute security against loss, which in itself has been one of the most discouraging features to accumulation of money by wage carners. It educates the masses in the banking business and gives greater assurance against want and poverty. It discourages speculation, and reckless expenditure of money, and educates the young and untrained to a knowl-
