Minneapolis' Crooked Aldermen. Minneapolis, Oct. 2.—The grand jury has indicted Alderman Dunthorpe for offering a bribe of $5,000 to John De Laitre, a member of the state capital commission. De Laitre charges that the alderman told him there was $5,000 in it if he would vote to give the contract for the stone work on the new capitol to a bidder using Kettle River sandstone. Alderman Dunthorpe was arraigned on a new indictment covering a defect in the old one charging him with demanding a bribe from Charles H. Richards for a grading contract. He pleaded not guilty.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

Statistics of Failures Show an Encouraging Change. New York, Oct. 2.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: The failures during the third quarter of 1907, obtained yesterday by telegraph, were 2,903, with liabilities of $28,963,261, of which 23 were in banking, for $3,387,069. Commercial failures were 7,874, with liabilities of $25,576,192, averaging only $3,599 each, lower than in any quarter for 23 years. The amount of defaulted bills were 2,903, with liabilities of $28,963,261, of which 23 were in banking, for $3,387,069. Commercial failures were 7,874, with liabilities of $25,576,192, averaging only $3,599 each, lower than in any quarter for 23 years. These evidences of reviving prosperity are the more important because prices for most manufactured products have advanced but moderately, and are much below the level of 1902, while speculative markets are all declining with curious unanimity, as if the large crops which make grain and cotton weak would not assure increased business to railways and warrant better prices for stocks. Speculation in wheat and cotton has been set back by bright crop prospects. The price of wheat has declined five cents, and of corn nearly two cents for the week. Diagram reports about cotton have been frequent, but the market shows more faith in predictions of a large yield, and the price has declined a quarter of a cent for the week.

Speculation from speculative markets to products of industry the change in tone is striking. All industries are pushed to increase the working force, with occasional rise in the rate of wages, by the growing demand. This is largely for the replenishment of stocks, but dispatches show that the retail trade at nearly all northern points continues to expand, and dealers well know that the increase of the working force and of wages insures a larger distribution of goods.

ABOLISH BOARD OF HEALTH

Deputy Attorney General Recedes Powers of Third-Class Cities. Deputy Attorney General Receder has transmitted to Dr. Benjamin Lee, secretary of the State Board of Health, a written opinion in which he takes the ground that the proposed action of the City Council of McKeesport to abolish the Board of Health and substitute therefor a committee of Council, is clearly within the letter and spirit of the law and is entirely legal.

Mr. Receder holds that the powers vested in third-class cities clearly gives such cities the right to such ordinance to carry out the provisions and purposes of their charter, especially with reference to the general health of the inhabitants. The act governing such cities does not provide that this shall be accomplished by or through a Board of Health, but may be accomplished by or through a committee of the City Council for that purpose. The language of this section of the act, Mr. Receder adds, clearly contemplates that the city can use its discretion, whether to accomplish this purpose through a Board of Health or by a committee of Council.

The decision was given in response to a request by Dr. Lee for an official opinion as to whether or not the proposed action of the McKeesport Council would be legal.

A LIFE SAVING DEVICE.

Prevents Railroad Accidents Through Forgetfulness of Engineers. St. Paul, Oct. 2.—A very ingenious and valuable contrivance for the saving of life by preventing railroad accidents through forgetfulness of trainmen has been invented. The machine has just stood a very severe test on the Great Northern railroad, after having been previously operated successfully on the St. Louis and Duluth road. Practical railroad men in this section have given strong endorsements to the device after seeing it work. The object of the device is to provide an accurate and reliable reminder signal and distance indicator for locomotives, by means of which engineers are prevented from forgetting their train orders as to stopping or meeting points.

The mechanism is simple, but positively connected with the forward trucks of the engine, thereby accurately measuring the distance traveled, the dial placed in front of the engineer showing correctly the distance traveled. Above the dial are placed 15 triggers, or dogs, pivoted at equal distances around the dial. When the engineer receives his orders, he sets one or more of these triggers to a point one mile short of the distance traveled before reaching the stopping place. The mileage indicator, on reaching such point, releases the trigger, which starts a signal whistle blowing. This continues to blow one-quarter of a mile, promptly warning the engineer of the near approach to the stopping place.

If the engineer is inattentive, and fails to stop when this last whistle has been run over, the machine sets the airbrake and stops the train for him. A train similarly equipped coming in the opposite direction would be stopped in the same manner, and a collision be prevented. The device can be made to run forward or backward. For foggy or stormy weather, or for dark nights, the device is considered especially valuable for ordinary road use, although its life saving feature was the point first sought.

Stuyvesant Set at Liberty. Philadelphia, Oct. 2.—Marion Stuyvesant is free, having been declared by the grand inquest to be guilty of the murder of his former employer, Librarian William C. Wilson. In other words, the grand jury, after listening to all the evidence the commonwealth had to offer to substantiate the charge of murder, deemed that the testimony was insufficient to require the accused to answer before a petit jury, and accordingly ignored the bill of indictment.
