BATTLE WITH SHEPHERDS

A Conflict in Idaho Results in the Killing of Four Men.
Pocatello, Idaho, Oct. 13.—News just received from Long Valley, in Washington county, says there has been a battle between the settlers and the shepherds, in which four men were killed and one dangerously wounded. Details are meager, but it seems that 15 of the settlers warned the sheep men to leave the valley, and when they refused made an attack upon the sheep camp. Thirty shots were fired by the settlers, and a man named Barber was killed. The sheep men then returned the fire, killing three of the settlers. The rest of the attacking party fled. The trouble is the outgrowth of the strained relations that have existed in that section between the settlers and sheep men for some time. It is not an uncommon thing for the stock to be maimed and hay stacks burned, and even settlers and sheep men exchange shots, but no one has heretofore been killed. Officers have left Weiser for the scene of the trouble.

A NEW JERSEY TORNADO.

It Results in the Death of One Man at Elizabethtown.

Elizabethtown, N. J., Oct. 13.—A tornado struck New Jersey yesterday, traveling from the little village of Far Hills, near Summit, to Elizabethtown. At Elizabethtown it wrecked a building and killed a man who had sought shelter there. The storm appeared in the form of a black cloud, which increased in size and rapidly as it approached the village. There was a perfect calm, and then the tornado struck the village. Its path was about 400 feet wide. A barn belonging to David Dumont was demolished. The roof of a house which stood near by was stripped of its shingles and shutters. Other houses suffered in the same way, but none were blown down. The most serious damage was at the railroad station, which was unroofed, the heavy tin being rolled up into a mass and carried several hundred feet.

When the storm reached Elizabethtown it swept down a partly finished dwelling house on Atlantic street.

John Clark, a laborer of Bayonne, with another workman, had taken refuge in the partly completed house and Clark was buried in the wreck and killed. His companion managed to get out with slight injuries. Throughout the storm did much damage, and telegraph and telephone wires were prostrated.
