Birthday Party at Wm, Penn. A very pleasant birthday surprise party was tendered Mrs. Daniel Rick, at her residence in Wm. Penn, last evening, in henor of her 36th birthday anniversary. That the hostess is held in high esteem by her many friends and neighbors was demonstrated by the many gifts she received. Between 60 and 70 people participated in celebrating this happy event. Mrs. Rick's appreciation was returned by the serving of a luncheon after several hours had flitted rapidly by amusements of various kinds. Dancing music was furnished by McGuire's orchestra, to which the old as well as the young folks tipped the light fautastic. Several vocal solos by Miss Kline, of Wm. Penn, and Miss Lizzie Hogan, of Shenundosh, were well received.

of which the best man will ultimately occupy the gubernatorial chair at Harrisburg. It can be said upon the very best authority that Colonel Quay will absolutely keep "hands off" in the gov-ernorship contest. Every one of the candidates, with a single possible exception, is numbered among the political and personal friends of the senior United States senator, and common sense and good judgment alone would dictate neutrality upon his part if the more sentimental ites of friendship did not compel him to do so. ley Quay. What was intended as a great political sensation has turned out to be the smallest kind of a fizzle. Reeder and Elkin stand higher than ever in the estimation of the people, while the men who made a deliberate attempt to cast shadows upon their fair names have been "sized up" at their true worth by the honest Republican voters of Pennsylvania. The attempt to conceal the plot behind the thin veil of a reform mask has utterly failed. With secretary of the commonwealth this cover has been fore ruthlessly aside, and Governor Hastings and his political allies stand unmasked before the public gaze.
