To ask $2,000 for a discredited newspaper seems like robbery, pure and simple. It is not probable, however, that a "snicker" can be found.

The standing of a newspaper is like wine. It improves with age. The trade bringing powers of newspapers for legitimate merchandise depend as much upon the age of the publication and the evidence which the public has in it as it does upon the width of its circulation.

The most insidious way in which disease is introduced into the human system is through the water used for drinking. Impurities or infectious germs in the water supply mean discomfort, illness and, too often, death. Especially is this the case in the public schools, where the use of impure or unfiltered water is a menace to the health and even the lives of thousands of the little ones.

JUSTICE FIELD, of California, after a service of thirty-four years and seven months on the Supreme Court of the United States, proposes retiring on the convening of Congress in December. He is now in his sixtieth year, and has had a busy life. Senator Morrill, of Vermont, who still clings to his seat, is Field's senior by nearly seven years. Field was a great man in his day, and one of his leading hobbies was a profound contempt for Grover Cleveland. He would have probably left the bench long ago had it not been for the dislike he had to Cleveland being given the opportunity to name his successor. Attorney General McKenna, it is believed, is looked for the vacancy.

APPLICATIONS will be made tomorrow before the Board of Pardons for a commutation of the sentence of Theodore Eisenhower, convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to be hung, to that of life imprisonment. Hon. Charles N. Brumm and George Dyson, Esq., counsel for the condemned man, are working indefatigably in behalf of their client, with every assurance of success. Petitions have been in circulation in Shenandoah and other parts of the county and have been numerous signed. The readers of the HERALD are familiar with the facts in the case, from which counsel will be enabled to make a strong plea. Our contemporaries are unanimous in their expressions of approval of the course of the counsel for Eisenhower, and we believe a favorable decision on the part of the Board of Pardons would meet with general approval.

THERE are many families in Shenandoah so situated, the children of whom cannot attend the day schools. They are compelled to toil for a living during the day, and to most of them the evening schools are a boon. Many a young man has graduated from the helpful night schools who to-day are the leaders in their callings in their respective communities. If the time most people fritter away in idleness or worse during winter evenings was spent at these schools or in some line of regular study, not only would an admirable intellectual discipline be acquired, but a liberal education also. This remark is applicable to old as well as young. In deciding what to study the branch of learning that one naturally takes to will be the best to begin with. Desultory reading is not good. After reading a good newspaper enough to keep oneself acquainted with the world's current events, the best thing to do is to take up some one branch of study and persevere in it one to two hours each evening. An hour's study a day for seven or eight months would give a young man or woman an excellent start in learning a language. Parents should insist upon their children either attending the day or night schools. Shenandoah has an excellent corps of instructors, and its people feel a just pride in their public schools. Very few localities have the advantages which the youth of Shenandoah are afforded, and they should not allow the little moments to fritter away, without grasping the opportunity of acquiring at least a common school education.

LUETGERT AWAITS THE VERDICT.

Meaning a Mob Outside Almost Creates a Riot.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—The fate of Adolph Luetgert, accused of murdering his wife and dismembering her body in a vat filled with caustic potash, has been pronounced by the jury. Justice Tullish finished his charge to the jury at 4:45 last evening, and five minutes later the jury filed out. Not a word of any sort has come from the jury room, and the chances of a long wait for the verdict seem excellent.
