A POPULAR CANDIDATE

H. S. Albright, Republican Candidate For Sheriff, a Favorite.

TESTIMONIAL FROM EMPLOYEES!

An interesting story on the career of one of the most prominent and popular Manufacturers of the Anthracite Region—a Man of the People.

The nomination of Hester S. Albright for Sheriff by the Republicans was eminently wise. It was wise for many reasons. Among them we may enumerate some, while others will suggest themselves to those who are familiar with the circumstances and with the candidate. The people have already declared themselves in favor of business methods in all administrative offices. Such a position is that of the office of the Sheriff. The citizens of Schuylkill county want a competent and capable man to wear the mantle of Sheriff Scott when he retires from office, the duties of which he has so well discharged with honor to himself and a credit to the Republican party. The office of Sheriff is one in which the intricacies of its administrations are numerous. To discharge them faithfully and well it is required to have an incumbent who will bring with him special attainments, the result of thorough business training. Such a man is Hester S. Albright. His wonderful success in the business he is engaged in is one strong corroboration of the statement that he has the qualifications in a great degree to perform the duties of that office with dispatch and fidelity to the people and according to business methods.

HESTER S. ALBRIGHT, Next Sheriff of Schuylkill County.

Mr. Albright is at the head of an extensive shoe manufacturing firm having factories in successful operation at Orwigsburg and Landisville, this county. The following affidavit from a committee of Mr. Albright's employes gives positive assurance of the fair play and honorable treatment accorded to the wage-earners connected with his business. State of Pennsylvania, County of Schuylkill, ss. Personally appeared before me, the undersigned, a Justice of the Peace, in and for the county of Schuylkill, Frank J. Key, A. S. Yost, F. P. Moyer, George Wise and L. F. Heintz, who being by me duly sworn according to law, depose and say that each and every one of them is now and has been for many years in the employ of H. S. Albright & Co., who are the manufacturers of shoes in said county; that each and every one of them is a worker on shoes; that each and every one of them is personally acquainted with every manufacturer of shoes in said county; that each and every one of them is now and has been for at least from twelve to fifteen consecutive years employed by H. S. Albright & Co., who are the manufacturers of shoes and children's shoes, of Orwigsburg, in said county. And that if having come to their knowledge that some unscrupulous persons unknown to your deponents have circulated false and wrongful reports concerning the treatment of and wages paid by said H. S. Albright & Co., to their employes. Therefore, We the foregoing named persons and employes, after personal investigation made by us among the several manufacturers of shoes in said county, do further depose and say that we found that H. S. Albright & Co., maintain and pay a better rate of wages than any other firm of shoe manufacturers in said county; that in 1893 in accordance with an agreement entered into by all the shoe manufacturers of said county, a uniform reduction of ten per cent. was made in the wages of all the employes of all the shoe manufacturers in said county; that since 1893, no reduction of any kind whatsoever in wages has been made by said H. S. Albright & Co., and that now said H. S. Albright & Co., are paying a higher average rate of wages than any other manufacturer of shoes in said county. And further deponents say that they found said H. S. Albright & Co., have given their employes more regular work and more overtime during the last four years than any other manufacturer of shoes in said county; that said H. S. Albright & Co., have always treated their employes with uniform courtesy and manly consideration. And deponents further say, the foregoing statement is made voluntarily and for the purpose of preventing further wrong being done to said H. S. Albright.

FRANK J. KEY, A. S. YOST, F. P. MOYER, GEORGE WISE, C. J. HEINTZ, Sworn and subscribed to before me this 29th day of October, A. D. 1897. H. H. BROWNELLER, Justice of the Peace.

Mr. Albright's diligence, his indefatigable labor is exemplified in the eminent success of his firm. The large business enjoyed is the result. The success of this firm is noted for its excellent system in all of its ramifications. The system in vogue was inaugurated by the head of the firm, and by him taught and nurtured. Mr. Albright has a methodical mind, and has the executive ability to introduce and operate a system in whatever he undertakes. The citizens of this county favor business methods in all administrative offices, and therefore they should vote for Hester S. Albright. He has shown a great degree of public spirit in everything that tends to enhance the progress of his home town. He is the Vice President of the First National Bank, which stable institution he was one of the original promoters. He has shown a degree of unselfish patriotism in the purchase of the Dubert Grove, which he has devoted to a public park and picnic ground. This he has beautified at considerable expense to himself. He is also a director and president of the Anthracite Electric Light Company, and Vice President and a director of the Edison Electric Light Company, both of Pottsville. He holds membership in St. John's Reformed church. Now as to his earlier career. Hester S. Albright was born in West Brunswick township, Schuylkill county, at what is now known as Meyer's Mill, on the 26th day of June, 1830. Four years later his parents removed to Orwigsburg, where he attended the public schools until 1848, when his father died and he was compelled to seek employment. He found work in the general store of Meyer & Son, which position he filled until a more lucrative one was offered him elsewhere, and Mr. Albright accepted a position as a shipping clerk and packer, and afterwards, forming a co-partnership with Albert E. Brown. This firm was dissolved in 1883, when George C. Diebold purchased Mr. Brown's interests, and the firm name was changed from Albright & Brown to H. S. Albright & Co. Mr. Albright is married and has one child, a bright little girl.

THE O'NEILL CASE.

Allegations That One of the Jurymen was Tampered With.

A hearing was held yesterday in the office of John F. Whalen at Pottsville before Court Commissioner H. C. Wilson, in reference to the charges that a jurymen had been tampered with in the famous O'Neill West Mahanoy township School Board libel suit. It will be remembered that in this case the jury was out many hours and finally brought in a verdict of not guilty but pay the costs. This verdict the counsel for the defense moved to have set aside. At the hearing yesterday morning Patrick W. Wolek, of Gilberton, a September jurymen, testified that he was an eye witness to the incident, when P. J. Ferguson, a member of the West Mahanoy township School Board and the prosecutor in the suit, took one of the jurymen aside and talked to him very confidentially for about 10 minutes, on the morning that Judge Savidge was to charge the jury.

This morning the jurymen appeared in court before Judge Savidge. John F. Whalen, Esq., was present in behalf of Mr. O'Neill, George J. Wadlinger, Esq., represented the Commonwealth, Patrick J. Welsh took the stand and reiterated the statements made before the Commissioner yesterday. Messrs. Cramerford and Hornitz, two of the Jurymen, took the stand and denied that anyone had talked to them about the case. An adjournment was taken until Nov. 5th to give Mr. Whalen time to produce evidence.

Obituary.

The announcement of the death of William Cooper, Sr., which occurred at his home on East Line street last evening, caused much regret on the part of the many friends of the family. Mr. Cooper was 70 years old, and had been ailing for many years, and was confined to his bed eight weeks previous to his death. He was a sufferer from miners' asthma. The deceased leaves a wife and the following children: Mrs. Thomas Baird, Mrs. William E. Phillips, William and Edward, all of Iowa, and Mrs. Sarah (Coughlin) of Mahanoy. The funeral will take place Tuesday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock, services being held in the Primitive Methodist church. Interment will be made in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

Married by a Justice. Justice William H. Shoemaker was called upon to dispense with his usual order of business last evening to officiate at the nuptial ceremony that made Miss Effie Crawford, late and John Patrick now and with. There was quite an assemblage of friends of the principals and upon the conclusion of the ceremonies all the male members of the party insisted upon kissing the Justice. The embarrassment of the expounder of law was such that he forgot to kiss the bride.

The Merry Dance. Harry Hart's hotel at Ringtown was invaded last evening by about fifty young people from town who held a select dance at that place. They left here early last evening and returned home at dawn to-day. At midnight the dance hall was transformed into a dining room where tables were laden with a tempting repast. It required five large teams to carry the party.

Breen's Banquet Cafe. Sour kroup, pork, mashed potatoes to-night. Hot lunch on Monday morning.

Funeral To-morrow. The funeral of the late John D. Shaffer, who was killed in the mines Thursday afternoon, will take place to-morrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Services will be held at the home of the family, No. 135 South Market street, and interment will be made in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

STANDING COMMITTEE.

GEORGE'S DEATH,

And Its Effect on the New York Mayorality Contest.

WHERE WILL HIS VOTE GO?

All Sides Claim That It Will Be For Their Man.

BUT HENRY GEORGE STILL RUNS.

The Great Labor Leader's Son Is Placed at the Head of the Ticket of the Jeffersonian Democracy—Measures the Friends of Other Candidates Distribute the Votes of the Dead Candidate to Their Own Satisfaction—Sketches of Henry George and His Namesake.

New York, Oct. 30.—Henry George, author of "Progress and Poverty" and candidate of the Thomas Jefferson Democracy for mayor of New York, died at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning in the Union Square hotel of cerebral apoplexy. In his great Union speech accepting the nomination for mayor, less than a month ago, he said: "I'll make this race if it costs my life. This is a call to duty, and as a good citizen I have no right to disregard it on account of mere personal considerations."

True to his word, Henry George, apostle of the rights of man, died as he wished to die—in harness, fighting for the cause toward the close of the greatest municipal political contest the world has ever seen. The end was peaceful, and he died without pain. This man of mighty brain and undimmed courage was physically frail, and the strain of an exciting campaign requiring speechmaking at points many miles apart, night after night, was more than he could stand. He kept up to the end, and only a few hours before the dread messenger cried halt. Henry George had addressed untold audiences in those of the towns of the borough of Queens and a still larger assemblage in an uptown hall here.

The Rev. Edward McGlynn reached the Union Square hotel shortly before 11 o'clock. At the hotel he was met by Henry George, Jr. When he was taken into the room where his friend lay dead he burst into tears. The scene was a distressing one. Afterward Dr. McGlynn said:

"Henry George died as Abraham Lincoln died. Lincoln was assassinated just after his great work of saving the union was consummated. Henry George was struck down by fate in the zenith of his powers. But the great work that he inaugurated will go on. As a man and a philosopher it will be long before his like will be seen again. His goodness and gentleness singled him out among all men, and with others, I almost worshipped him."

After the news of Mr. George's death had been flashed over the city and country messages and telegrams of sympathy began to pour in upon the bereaved widow and the party manager from all sections. Among the first to tender expressions of sympathy were his opponents of the mayorality campaign.

There came expressions of opinion as to the effect that the death would have upon the mayorality canvass, and the friends of each candidate declared that the bulk of the George vote would go to their man. The Jeffersonian Democracy, however, promptly placed in nomination the son of the dead leader, Henry George, Jr. The young man has accepted, and the name of Henry George will still head the column of that party on the ballot next Tuesday. It is not probable, however, that the full party vote will be cast for its nominee, now that that great leader himself has been withdrawn from the contest by death.

The followers of Seth Low point to the fact that Mr. Low was Henry George's second choice, and have flooded the city with extracts from Mr. George's speech in Liberty street on Tuesday last, in the course of which Mr. George said: "Low would strike at business, as I would. I would strike at Platt and Crozier, as he would. I naturally wish for my election, but, if I cannot be elected, I would prefer that Mr. Low should occupy the chair of mayor of greater New York."

From sunrise till sunset tomorrow the body of Henry George will lie in state in the Grand Central Palace. Delegates will be present to direct the people in their passage before the platform upon which the body will rest. During the afternoon, between 2 and 3 o'clock, the funeral services and orations will take place. The funeral car will start from the Grand Central Palace at 1 o'clock tomorrow evening and proceed via the Brooklyn bridge to the Brooklyn city hall. In this informal procession every friend and admirer of Henry George is invited to take part. The committee desires that no torches or transparencies be displayed. Banners without motion designating the organizations may be carried. A guard of honor, composed of prominent George men, will watch the dead body until its interment.

The World has opened a fund for the erection of a memorial to Henry George. Joseph Pulitzer subscribed $1,000, Mayor Strong $50, Mayor Gleason of Long Island $50, and Charles Stecker, leader of the Manhattan Democracy, $25.

VIEWS OF POLITICIANS.

Even Mayor Gleason Counts on Receiving the George Vote.

Party leaders have made haste to lay claim to the George vote, now that the leader has been removed by death, and all can see wherein their own candidate will be benefited. Senator Platt says: "Unless the Jeffersonian Democrats are betrayed by Tom Johnson, who has been their hoodoo from the start, their votes will be easily consolidated upon the other candidate. The disputable deal between Johnson and the Citizens' Union has further possibilities, so far as Johnson is concerned, but not so far as the real friends and followers of George are concerned. They are not deliverable in bulk to anybody except to another bona fide candidate of the party. General Tracy will not lose a single Republican vote as the result of Mr. George's death. Republicans recognize the Low movement as a Democratic conspiracy. They see in Low an attempt to revive Clevelandism and to betray the Republican party by another of those characteristic tricks of the Cleveland Democracy. If the George party should split up the Southern Democratic vote may be carried by Johnson to Low. Low is something of a socialist himself, or rather he is so much of a demagogue that, as he says, he is willing to stand on any platform that will fetch him a handful of votes. If George had lived he would have secured an enormous labor support that will not vote for General Tracy. Of all the candidates in the field the Republican candidate has much the best of it."

Mr. Sheehan, the Tammany leader, said: "George was too weak physically to be put up as a candidate, and the strain of the campaign was too great for him. I think that the great majority of men who were following him will vote the Van Wyck ticket."

Mayor Gleason, of Long Island City, a candidate for mayor of greater New York, said: "Mr. George was indeed the friend of the workman, honest, capable and conscientious. His sudden death will completely change the complexion of the political situation. The vote which would have been cast for Mr. George next Tuesday will now be split up, and as most of Mr. George's followers were workingmen I fully believe that the great part of them will now come over to me."

William J. Bryan was interviewed at Logan, O., regarding Henry George's death. He said: "The suddenness with which the summons came will make more keen the sorrow which the public generally feel at the death of so great, so pure and so brave a man. By his own unaided genius he made his name familiar to the reading public of the world around. Those who agreed with his theories found in him an ideal leader, while those who opposed him admitted his ability and moral courage. He was one of the foremost thinkers of the world. His death will prove a loss to literature, society and politics."

At Indiana Mineral Springs, Ind., Ex-Governor Altgeld expressed himself as follows regarding Mr. George's death: "Henry George was one of the great men of his age, and he made a deeper impression on the economic thought of this country than any other man. He was true and patriotic, and always on the side of justice and struggling humanity. His fame will grow broader with time."
