THE Immigration Restriction League, with headquarters at Boston, is sending out circular letters urging the press to favor one of the two fundamental provisions of the Immi- Prices : gration bill passed by the last Congross and vetoed by President Cleveland, namely : the exclusion of illiterates. It is true, as the ofrenlar sets forth, that the educational test stands out now as an urgent necessity. Good government in this country rests upon intelligence, and the prosperity of working people here depends upon the standard of living among the new-comers, with whom they are brought into competition. The circular further sets forth "that immigrants into this country of free institutions shall be able to read and write, is a matter of universal importance to the people of this couptry. It would be unfortunate if this restriction should be so linked with one of comparatively local application, however good it may seem in Christs itself to many persons, that the edu- our Candy Will be Very Cheap for entional test should again fall to he come the law of the land." There appears to be a universal desire for the passage of the restrictive measure on the part of the people.
