Uncle Sam's Efforts to Prevent Aid Going to Cuba.

THE INCOMPETENCE OF SPAIN.

as Has Our Government, Says Socretary Gage, Not a Manor Cartridge Would Have Been Landed.

Washington, Dec. 9 .- Secretary Gage has submitted to the department of state his report upon the action of the treasury department in suppressing diffusions of the neutrality laws. The violation of the neutrality laws. The secretary points out the fact that during two years and a haif only six American vessels, of an expregate of 1331 registered tons, are alleged to have successfully landed expeditions from the United States in Cuba. With the exception of the Laurada the six American vessels alleged to have successfully taken part in expeditions in Cuban waters are small tugs and a 1918th boat, each of less than 100 pet 1978, and obviously incapable of cartom, and obviously incapable of car-rying large numbers of men or large quantities of arms and ammunitions. Three foreign vessels of an aggregate of 1,772 registered tons are alleged to have been successful in the same effort. Referring to these for-eign vessels, the Norwegian steamer Leon, the Danish steamer Horsa and the British steamer Bermuda, the secretary Invites attention to the fact that the crews of these vessels are required to be shipped before the consuls of their respective nations, in accord with the laws of those nations, which also impose on the masters of those vessels various other duties to be performed before the consuls. He suggests the inquiry might be pertinent whether the Spanish authorities informed these consuls of the alleged expeditions, and whether the processing of rewhether, if not, some measure of re-sponsibility does not rest on the Span-ish authorities for the slieged departure of these vessels, or, if the consuls were notified, whether some measure of responsibility does not rest upon of responsibility does not rest upon them. This suggestion is made not to shift the responsibility, but to show that if these alleged expeditions started without the knowledge of treasury officials, they also departed without the knowledge of officials of other nations, whose action was a necessary preliminary to clearance.

With the vessels referred to it is alleged there have been associated about a dozen harbor tugs, three or four logged there have been associated about a dozen harbor tugs. three or four lighters, a few small steamers and about a dozen small sloops and schooners, in all less than 50. On the Atlantic and gulf coasts in 1896 there were 10,668 sailing vessels under 200 tons and 10,658 sailing vessels under 200 tons and 2,917 steam vessels of 1,900 tons or less, a total of 12,555 American vessels of a description and locality available for fillbustering purposes. That only six out of 13,585 American vessels succeeded in reaching Cuba, and that less than 50 had any share in these expeditions, Secretary Gage says, is a demonstration of the law abiding splirit of the tion of the law abiding spirit of the to the president's proclamation, and of a wholesome and repressive fear on the part of those who might be disposed to be lawless.

News and Opinions

They have captured seven yessels and 115 men, have broken up two expeditions and have beid under surveillance 13 vessels under suspicion. From time to time several other revesnue cutters have been employed on temporary duty.

Perhaps the strongest statement in the report is this: If the Spanish pa-trol of 2,200 miles of Cuban coast had frustrated one-half the number of ex-peditions which were frustrated by the United States authorities along a coast line of 5,570 miles, not one man nor one cartridge would have been lilegally landed in Cuba from the United States. have been broken up by Spain.

ustrating this statement he refers particularly to the expedition that left on the Laurada from Baltimore and landed at Banes on March II. Banes is an important scaport on the northern coast of Cuba with which the United The Sunday Sun states carried on a valuable fruit trade until the Spanish order prohibiting the export of bananas was issued. Yet it appears that the Laurada remained in this seaport two days, landing men and arms, and was not molested by the Spanish authorities in Cuba, who had been informed of her landing. The Spanish authorities have repeatedly asserted that all of the seaports of Cuba ware in their possession.

In all 60 alleged expeditions are examined. Of these Secretary Gage shows that 28 have been frustrated through the efforts of the treasury department, five have been frustrated by the United States navy, four have been frustrated by Spain, two have been wrecked, one driven back by storm, one falled from a combination of causes and one, the Delaware, he has declined to recognize Delaware, he has declined to recognize as other than a violation of the British foreign enlistment act. As Spain has suffered no injury from these 43 failures it is assumed that they will be accepted by Spain as evidence of the success of the United States in maintaining its obligations, and that a detailed statement concerning each is uncertailed statement concerning each is unalled statement concerning each is un-
