SUICIDE BY SHOOTING.

A Former Resident of Town Kills Himself at Mt. Carmel. Robert Littlehales committed suicide at Mt. Carmel last night by shooting himself in the head. The victim was 26 years of age and leaves a wife and a child about a year and a half old.

The suicide is supposed to be due to family troubles. Littlehales was engaged and recently had trouble with his wife through which she went to the home of her parents. Littlehales had threatened to take the life of his wife and child, it is alleged, and subsequently declared that he would end his own existence.

Last night he displayed his revolver and said, "It will soon do its work." It is also said that he called for drinks at a saloon remarking, "I haven't got the nerve yet to do what I want to do." At about eight o'clock he went to the residence of his brother-in-law, who is named Fenz, and while standing on the front porch of the house he shot himself. The first information the occupants of the house had of his presence was the report of the shot. Only one was fired, and it did its work effectively. It entered the right temple and passed out through the top of the skull. Death must have been instantaneous. The victim was found dead in a great pool of blood on the porch. Littlehales was a resident of this town up to four years ago. He boarded with the family of Samuel Rogers and when they moved to Mt. Carmel he went with them. He subsequently married. The father of the deceased is dead. His mother lives at Mahanoy City. The deceased was also a cousin of John Jefferson, who was buried in town this afternoon.

When the report of the suicide reached town to-day many people jumped to the conclusion that the victim was Robert Littlehales who formerly lived at St. Nicholas. That gentleman is an uncle of the deceased. He lives at Mahanoy City and was in attendance at the Jefferson funeral to-day.

MAHANOY CITY.

Deputy Coroner Fogarty last evening held an inquest on the body of James Casey, of Park Place, who was killed on Sunday night by a Lehigh Valley passenger train near Trenton and rendered a verdict of accidental death. The same jury then proceeded to inquire into the death of William Brinsky, who was killed at North Mahanoy colliery yesterday. The testimony will be heard to-day.

John Jefferson Buried. The funeral of John Jefferson took place at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon from the residence of his parents, 222 South Jardin street. The attendance was very large and included many visitors from Mahanoy City, Clinton, Ashland and Mt. Carmel. The pall bearers were Major Jennings Council No. 367, J. O. U. A. M., and Henry Horncastle Camp No. 42, Sons of Veterans, were also in attendance. Services were conducted at the residence and also in the United Evangelical church, Rev. I. J. Reitz officiating. Among the floral offerings was one bearing the inscription "From Compatriots." The pall bearers were Alfred Richards, Harry Brown and Jesse B. Davis, representing the J. O. U. A. M., and Thomas Stevenson, Abraham Mummy and John Esterline, of the Sons of Veterans. Interment was made in the Odd Fellows' cemetery. O'Hara Bros. were the funeral directors.

Hickert's Cafe. Special free lunch to-night. Potato salad and Wiener sausage to-morrow morning.

Mr. Conry as an Orator. The Scranton Truth, in one of its recent issues, has the following to say of one of our former townsmen, M. F. Conry, Esq., who is at present a member of the Lackawanna county bar: "Attorney Conry was one of the happiest lawyers in court this week. Mr. Conry had a client named Flynn who was charged with breaking the nose of another man. The other man was in court and brought his broken nose with him as prima facie evidence. Conry's client had scarcely a defense, but Conry is an orator, and instead of evidence he gave the jury oratory - and oratory of a kind not frequently heard in court. The brilliant young man with the silver tongue and golden mouth caught the jury. He charmed them and fascinated them. A more delighted jury never left the box for the jury room. When they returned to court, it was with a verdict of acquittal for Mr. Conry's client, and left the costs on the man with the broken nose. No wonder young Conry rejoiced."

A New Counterfeit. Several banks of this region give notice that a new counterfeit of Treasury note is in circulation. It is of fair workmanship and on paper of good quality. The silk threads of the genuine paper are, however, imitated by a few widely distributed red and blue ink marks. The note purports to be of the series of 1891 check letter D, plate No. 37 No. B. 12-15-97.

Payne's Girardville greenhouses. A full line of palms, araucarias, azaleas, ferns, etc.

A Gold Anniversary. The first anniversary of the Young People's Guild of All Saints church was held in the church basement. An excellent program was rendered. It included vocal and instrumental music, after which a sumptuous repast was served to about fifty invited guests. The Committee in charge was well worthy of the praise it received for the excellent manner in which it entertained the guests.

Regimental Reunion. The twenty-fourth annual reunion of the 12th Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers was held at Shamokin yesterday. The address of welcome was made by Rev. H. Beck, D. D., and responded to by Capt. William Sweeney, of Williamsport. After unanimously deciding upon Lewisburg as the next place for reunion December 12, 1898, the following officers were elected: President, James Forrest, Lewisburg; 1st vice president, Jacob Hower, Muncy; 2nd vice president, H. H. Weideman, Lewisburg; secretary, Lewis Newman, Lewisburg.

Kendrick House Free Lunch. Clam soup will be served, free, to all patrons to-night.

TWO FATAL ACCIDENTS.

A Man and Boy Killed on Railway Tracks. THE LATTER WAS TRAIN JUMPING.

Killed Instantly By Falling to the Track. The Other Victim Was Walking on a Railroad and Stepped in Front of a Train.

A distressing accident occurred at the Philadelphia and Reading railway passenger station at the noon hour today by which Charles Kaszman, a Lithuanian boy nine years old, lost his life.

Passenger train No. 8 moved from the station at 12:33 and slowly passed the switch when the boy jumped on the step of the rear platform of the last car. After passing the switch the speed of the train increased and the boy jumped off. He fell with great force. His skull was so badly shattered when it struck the rail that the brains were scattered over the track. Death was instantaneous.

The crew of the train discovered the accident and the train was stopped. The remains were picked up and carried back to the station. Subsequently they were conveyed to the home of the parents at No. 417 East Huckleberry alley.

The Lehigh Valley passenger train, No. 10, bound from Shamokin to town at five o'clock last evening struck and killed a man at a point about fifty yards east of the Shenandoah Junction.

The victim was an Austrian named John Kosak, aged about 28 years. He is said to have a wife in Austria. There were two witnesses of the accident, James Kane, the watchman at Shenandoah Junction, and William Bialecki, the South West street saloonkeeper.

From the facts gleaned it appears that the victim, although facing the train, stepped in front of it. He was walking westerly on the west-bound track when he either saw or heard the approach of the train and stepped to the east-bound track. The next moment he was struck. There is no curve in the line where the accident happened.

The body was found mangled. The victim's neck was broken, but death did not ensue immediately. Dr. D. John Price was summoned, but could do nothing to help the unfortunate man.

The remains were claimed by Mrs. Annie Wentz, a relative of the deceased residing in the city, and placed in the care of a Polish undertaker.

While a search of the victim's clothing was being made to establish identity a bank book was found in one of the pockets, showing that the victim had an account in the First National Bank of Nanticoke, Pa.

Morrison's "Faust." "Faust," an adaptation of Goethe's immortal poem will be produced at Kater's Grand Opera House, Mahanoy City, this evening. The version given by the Morrison company is the most dramatic by Bayle Bernard of London, the scenery all of which is carried on special cars, is very extensive. The public square of Nuremberg, Marguerite's garden and the square of the fountain being not only historically correct, but most beautifully painted. However, the climax in scenic effects is reached in the fourth act when the imps and goblins of the high carnival on Walpurgis night, on the summit of the Brocken, in the Harz mountains. It is impossible to describe the weird and uncanny weirdness which is here portrayed, as Mephisto in his fiery redness, accompanied by Faust, stands on the peak of the mountain in the full glare of all the mysterious light. From the darkened auditorium of the theatre it is a grand and awe-inspiring scene and the detail infernally horrible. It is not often that Shenandoah theatre-goers have an opportunity of witnessing such a performance as that to be given by the Morrison company and there should be a packed house.

Dog Thieves. Shamokin is infested with dog thieves. If these individuals would only come to Shenandoah and put in a few weeks on the large number of worthless curs running at large here, especially in the First ward, they would find enough material to keep a sausage factory busy for the balance of the winter.

DWELLINGS, THREATENED.

Houses in the Gap Row Are Being Disturbed.

For several weeks past some of the company houses on the northern side of Line street have given indications of disturbance by the workings of the Kebley Run colliery and the effect has become so much more pronounced during the past few days that the officials of the colliery have deemed it advisable to notify the occupants of the houses that they will be safer for them to vacate.

This precaution has not been taken through any fear that the houses will be carried down from the surface, but to avoid danger from fire. The disturbances are caused by an abandoned gangway of the colliery and the subsidence cannot become very extensive, still the houses may be sufficiently disturbed to displace stove pipes in the houses. Should this occur fire may result, and there would also be danger of suffocations by coal gas should the effect take place at night.

None of the families have moved yet. The houses affected extended from White street to Bowers street and embrace six double blocks occupied by twelve families. As vacant houses are very scarce in the town it can readily be seen that the condition of affairs is a severe blow to the occupants.

The complete holiday stock is now on exhibition at Brumm's. 12-15-15

Obituary. John Hurley died yesterday afternoon at his residence on East Lloyd street. The death was rather unexpected. Deceased was one of the pioneer residents of town, well known and highly esteemed by all who knew him. The following children survive: Mrs. Thomas Driscoll, Mrs. T. Mahoney and T. J. Hurley, all of Philadelphia; Mrs. John Downey; of Kansas City; Mrs. Leon Gardner, of Chicago; and Mrs. T. Cantlin, Mrs. M. J. Whalen and Miss Ella Hurley, of town. The funeral will take place from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. T. Cantlin, on East Lloyd street, on Friday morning, at 10 o'clock. High mass will be celebrated in the Annunciation church with interment in the parish cemetery.

Geo. Reimelmer, an old railroadier, died at his home near Gordon on Monday evening of cancer of the stomach. He was 58 years old.

Miss Katie McGinness, a popular young lady of Mt. Carmel, died at her home on Sunday evening from a tumor on the brain caused by a fall from a chair sustained about two months ago. She was a niece of Supt. McGinness of the Cambridge colliery.

Opened by Mistake. John Gagin was arraigned before Justice Shoemaker last night, charged with unlawfully opening a letter sent from Buffalo, N. Y., to Michael Denyrow. The defendant explained that the letter was addressed to his home. When it was delivered by the carrier Denyrow did not pay any attention to the name on the envelope. He was guided only by the number of the house and name of the street. After opening the letter and finding that it was not intended for him he took it to the proper party. The statement satisfied the prosecutor and the defendant was allowed to settle the case upon payment of the costs.

Metallists Cafe. Cream of tomato, free, to-night. Hot lunch to-morrow morning.

A New Pastor. Rev. R. E. Albin, of Cheltenham, Pa., will on January 1st enter upon the duties of pastor of Calvary Baptist church of town. Rev. He is a zealous and experienced worker and much good is expected to attend his labor here.

At Krepichinski's Arcade Cafe. Noodle soup, free, to-night. Hot lunch to-morrow morning.

A Novel Social. The young people of the Primitive Methodist church are busy perfecting arrangements for the Klondike social which is to be held in the lecture room of the church on the 29th inst. Many new and novel features will be introduced.

They Will Make Your Home Sweet. For they are beautiful, elaborate and cheap. Gold and bronze pitchers, vases, statuary, ornaments, etc., at Holderman's Jewelry Store, No. 31 North Main street. 12-14-15

Return From the Hospital. Thomas Goff, the 14 year old boy of East Line street who met with an accident at the Shenandoah City colliery a few weeks ago, has returned from the miners' hospital. His right arm was crushed below the elbow under a trip of cars and there was an amputation at the hospital.

X-mas gifts are easily selected from the large stock of jewelry, silverware, hand decorated china, cut glass, umbrellas, gold ornaments and music goods, which we carry. We can suit every one's purse. Brumm's.

Caught Between Bumpers. Robert Stetler, a driver boy residing on East Coal street, sustained a fracture of the right ankle and a bad contusion of the muscles by having the leg caught between the bumpers of two cars while at work in the Shenandoah City colliery last night. Dr. Stein reduced the fracture.

Green's Elastic Cafe. Pea soup, free, to-night. Hot lunch to-morrow morning.

M'KINLEY OBSEQUIES.

President's Venerable Mother Laid in the Grave.

TOTAL SUSPENSION OF BUSINESS. All the Inhabitants of Canton Assembled to do Honor to the Dead, and While the Funeral Services Were in Progress Thieves Were Busy.

Canton, O., Dec. 15.-Although it rained almost incessantly all day, the crowd attending the funeral of Mrs. Nancy Allison McKinley was numbered by thousands. The first Methodist Episcopal church, doubled in capacity by throwing open the Sunday school rooms and gallery, was filled to overflowing long before the services began. The rostrum of the church was a bank of flowers. After the simple ceremony thousands of people, thousands, passed through the church, each stopping an instant at the altar to take a last look at the remains. This procession was composed of 3,000 people, who had gained admission to the church, and thousands of others who stood outside the church waiting for time when they could get in on one side door, pass the altar and go out at the other side. When this had continued an hour it was found necessary to close the side doors and remove the casket to the funeral car, as it was feared that the funeral would be delayed until after dark.

During the services and until after the remains had been viewed the family and close friends occupied the front pews of the central section of the church. With the president in the first pew, was his sister, Miss Helen, and his brother, Abner, with their sister, Mrs. Duncan, of Cleveland. Immediately back of them was the aged sister of the departed, Mrs. Osborne, of Youngstown, surrounded by grandchildren and other relatives. Back of these were members of the cabinet and the Washington visitors, Congressmen Taylor, representing this district; Hon. Wm. Lawford of New York, H. H. Kohlman of Chicago and many other very intimate friends of the family from various points.

When the cortege reached the cemetery the burial ground of the McKinley family was surrounded by an immense crowd, who seemed to give no heed to the inclement weather. A canvas canopy had been erected near the open grave for the shelter of the family and those assisting in the last rites. Here the burial services occurred, the hymns which the president and Mrs. McKinley had placed upon the graves of the children they lost long ago and of the president's father, brother and sister were literally covered with the numerous floral offerings sent by sympathizing friends from all over the country. The hundreds of floral offerings included, besides the beautiful pieces sent by the cabinet and the Washington friends, a large emblem of the G. A. R. in which the flag was worked out in red and white carnations, sent by Canton post, of which the president was a member. The exercises at the grave were very short and simple. The casket was lowered into the grave by the pallbearers and the simple service of the Methodist Episcopal church was read responsively by Presiding Elder E. C. Holt, of this district, and Rev. E. C. Manchester, of Manchester, N. H., Columbus, pronouncing a benediction.

In the evening the cabinet officers and other distinguished visitors except the McKinley family took dinner at the home of Mrs. George D. Harter. The president and the immediate family remained at the cottage until the final train time. The special train for Washington left at 8:30 o'clock last evening, the president's car, "Newport," being attached.

During the hours of the funeral business was suspended throughout the city. Business places and stores were closed, factories and shops shut down and all work suspended in the courts and county and city buildings. County and city officials and members of the bar attended the services in a body.

During the progress of the funeral the business of the city was suspended. The home of Ervin Marshall was entered and a large quantity of jewelry secured. J. G. Kramer's establishment, opposite the church, was looted of diamonds, watches and other jewelry. The police arrested a man who just got out of the workhouse, and part of the missing articles were recovered. A quantity of pocket watches were also picked of valuables.
