Robbins' Opera House Withdrawn From Sale This Afternoon.

About fifty people assembled in Robbins' opera house this afternoon to attend the public sale of the property. B. G. Hess was the auctioneer. James Grant started the ball with a bid of $5,000. Louis Goldstein raised it to $6,000 and M. D. Malone bid $8,000. James Grant then raised it to $9,000, after which there was a long and exciting bidding for $10,000 per month was erected at the rear end of the property and an addition made to the main building, and yet Mr. Gill purchased the property for $8,000 less than the price at which Mr. Scheiffel held it.

The Trial Postponed.

Special to EVENING HERALD.
Pottsville, Jan. 4.—The trial of the County Commissioners, charged with misdemeanor in office, was called before Judge Savage today. John O. Ulrich, Esq., one of the counsel for the defense, moved for a continuance at 2:40 o'clock this afternoon, on the ground of his (Ulrich's) illness. He immediately left for his home, John W. Ryan, Esq., for the defense, also put in a plea for continuance because of the serious illness of the wife of his brother, ex-Judge Ryan, claiming that it would be unfair to go to trial with the burden upon the remaining counsel, Mr. Marr. Judge Savage continued the case until to-morrow morning, after a protest for a longer continuance had been entered by the counsel for the prosecution.

Beauty, Utility and Value.

Are happily combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla Coupon Calendar for 1898. The lovely child's head in an embossed gold frame, surrounded by sprays of flowers in mosaic, the harmonious pad in blue with clear figures, and the coupons by means of which many valuable books and other articles may be obtained, make up the most desirable calendar we have ever seen. The first coupon article is Hood's Practical Cook's Book, a handsome, useful volume of 350 pages. Ask your druggist for Hood's Coupon Calendar, or send 6 cents in stamps for one to C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.
