Civil Service Law Amendment Introduced in the House.

THE DEBATE FORMALLY OPENED.

Both Houses of Congress Discussing the Alleged Abuses of the Existing Law, Though the Appropriation For the Commission Will Probably Pass.

Washington, Jan. 6.-The presentation of replies of the members of the cabinet to the resolution calling for information as to the application of the civil service law to the various de-partments of the government, together with the consideration of the bill establishing a bureau for the 12 h census, precipitated a sharp civil service cebate in the senate yesterday. Mr. Cullom. of Illinois, the author of the resolution. thought that modification in the law ought to be made, as the authorities had drifted far away from the original intention of the authors of the civil service law. Mr. Allen, of Nebraska, charged that the law was openly and daily violated, and said it was a hiss Cockrell, of Missouri, declared that it was presumptuous in Secretary Sherto make recommendation to conto make recommendation to conto make recommendation to con-soon. The Review says editorially that this particular application is the odd-classified service, when the president had full authority to make the exceptions he recommended. He thought an effort was being made to tie the president's hands. Mr. Davis, chairman of the committee on foreign relations that this light will cause the "supersedence of the objections that this light will cause the "supersedence of the objections that the particular application is the oddestance of the vacuum tube." Its value in photography is shown by photographs reproduced in the journal named, which affirms its belief that this light will cause the "supersedence of the objections that this particular application is the oddestance of the vacuum tube." in the house, based on the item in the legislative, executive and judicial aplegislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill for the maintenance of the commission. It promises to continue at least until the end of this week, with a probability that it may run lower. But it is generally admitted longer. But it is generally admitted on both sides that the appropriation in the bill will stand, as the anti-civil service reformers do not seriously contemplate an attempt to strike it out. The debate, therefore, is only preliminary to any program which the enemies of the law may agree upon. The members of the house are divided into three camps on this question-those who stand by the law, those who advocate its entire repeal, and those who desire its modification.

tucky, makes sweeping changes in the present system, the most important of which is the establishment of a five year tenure of office for those government employes who are brought within the terms of the bill. The measure limits the application of the civil ser-vice system to the departments in Washington and to such other localities where the total number of employes exceed 25. All appointees are com-missioned for five years, with the power of removal clearly regulated and vested in the appointing power. It is provided, however, that no removal shall be made for political or religious causes, For sale in Shenandosh, Pa., at A. Wasley's and in case of removal the causes shall and Kirlin's Druggists. be specified and the papers made a record of the office.

All persons now in the public service are to terminate their service five years from the time the act takes effect. The measure recognizes the general eligibility of these persons for reappointment. It includes in the civil service postal clerks and letter earriers in offices having over ten employes, exclusive of subordinates. It limits the civil service regulations to clerks whose compensation is from $900 to $1,800 per year and includes as clerks copyists, com-outers, counters and draftsmen. The leaders of the movement are not yet able to definitely fix the number of government officers affected by the bill, but say it will certainly leave 60,000 positions under the civil service law, while there are now over $7,000. It is asserted that there is a majority in the civil service committee in favor of material modifications of existing law. An effort will be made to have the bill re-ported to the house by tomorrow, and action had immediately.
