A MORMON MISSIONARY.

He Tells the Object of His Visit to This Town.

Mr. George E. Hanks, of Paria, Garfield county, Utah, is a guest of the family of Hon. John W. Morgan, on East Oak street. Mr. Hanks is an elder and missionary of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints and came from Utah to the East to conduct missionary work under the jurisdiction of the senatorial conference.

Mr. Morgan's father was a brother of Mr. Hanks' grandmother, and upon arriving in this region the latter sought and made the acquaintance of Mr. Morgan and his family.

To conversation with a Herald reporter yesterday Mr. Hanks said he intended to remain in the vicinity of Shenandoah and Pottsville for the balance of the winter. His headquarters are at No. 314 North Centre street, Pottsville. "The object of my missionary work," said he, "is to get what we believe to be the religion of Jesus Christ before the people here to the full extent of the privilege which some of our people have secured by the balance of the winter. His headquarters are at No. 314 North Centre street, Pottsville.
