HOME DRESSMAKING.

HOW THE WHOLE FAMILY CAN DRESS WELL AT SMALL COST.

No Need of Looking Sallow Even Though Times are Hard—Easy to Make Old Gowns and Suits Look Like New When One Knows How.

It is something how much can be made from seemingly useless garments by the woman who knows how. The old faded gown that is out of style can be easily dyed with Diamond Dyes to a fashionable color and then made over so that it will look almost like new. Suits for the boys can be made from old overcoats by the father, and a bath to Diamond Dyes will make them look like new. Dresses and blouses for the little girls can be made with but little trouble and cost by the mother. The color of the material is changed with Diamond Dyes, the makeovers will look as though they were fresh from the dressmaker.

Diamond Dyes are made especially for home use, and the plain directions on each package make it impossible for even the most inexperienced to have poor work with these dyes. They color anything, from silks, feathers, and wools to heavy coats and wens, and make perfectly non-fading colors, even handkerchiefs that were made by the professional dyer.

Word in Passing.

Joseph Mandor spent today transacting business in the county seat. Miss Rachel Kiffin has gone to Reading to visit friends. Mr. and Mrs. William Pratt are spending among acquaintances in Philadelphia today. Mrs. Thomas Bolin returned last evening from Philadelphia, where she had undergone an operation. Her sudden return was a surprise to the family, who were amazed at her speedy recovery. It hits the Spot That's Right. What? Pain-killers for coughs and colds. At Grobler Bros., drug store.

State Beer. At about twelve o'clock last night Police-Constable Kester and Bolin detected a man in the act of breaking into Sull, Hank a bear refrigerator near the Pennsylvania depot. The officers secured themselves while the man broke the lock on the door, entered the refrigerator and rolled out three kegs of beer. The robber, who proved to be a Pole, was walking on the sidewalk towards "the rocks" with a keg of beer on one of his shoulders, when Kester and Bolin made a dash for him. The Pole attempted to hurl the keg at Kester, but his aim was poor. The Pole is in the lockup and Mr. Haak intends to make an example of him.

She Wouldn't Sit. No little excitement was caused on North Main street shortly after 10 o'clock last evening, when a drunken woman walked into the business place of J. M. Schaeffer, the liquor dealer. She waddled her way through the store from the porch in the rear where she sought rest by laying on the wet boards. After considerable coaxing she was induced to go into the sitting room, of which she took possession by sitting on the floor. By this time Chief Tush put in an appearance. She was determined not to accompany the officer and screamed at the top of her voice. The officer hustled her off to the lockup, where she spent the night.

To the Public. ED. HERALD.—It has been circulated about town that I am connected with the persons who have filed remonstrances against certain saloons in the borough and that I am aiding them in the work. I hereby denounce the rumor as a malicious and groundless falsehood, which at no time, but finally injure the system. Buy the genuine, made by the California Fig Syrup Co.

IN OLDER TIMES. People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently overcome habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which at a time, but finally injure the system. Buy the genuine, made by the California Fig Syrup Co.

Pennsylvania Passes Withheld. The Pennsylvania Railroad company has decided upon a thorough "weeding out" process in the annual and trip passes. Certain classes of people to whom the courtesy of free travel has been accorded on account of their official position, have abused the courtesy of the railroad company and have either loaned or otherwise misused their annual passes. The names of all such people will be absolutely stricken off from the lists. The issue of trip passes will be restricted fifty per cent, and in cases where applications have falsely been made for families of officials, and the tickets have found their way into other hands, the applicants may save themselves the trouble of further inquiry. There is a rigid determination on the part of the railroad authorities to protect themselves against the numerous devices which are employed by unscrupulous persons (politicians included) to obtain free transportation.

His Strength Lies in the Rear. (Continued.) ED. HERALD.—Hon. Charles N. Brumm, M. C. from the 13th district of Penna., delivered a short speech in Congress on the 10th inst., in which he spoke of the civil service system. He came out flat-footed for the old doctrine that "to the victors belongs the spoils." We Republicans can endorse his sentiments, but we disapprove of his application. He also said that the office should be secured through political pull. Now we think his "pull" reminds us of the Dromedary, whose strength lies in the rear.

SENSATION PROMISED.

ence to the transaction told of in Bank Secretary Hazzard's testimony yesterday.

The witness found the copies of the note and resolution presented to an evidence and said he had pinned them together at the request of County Solicitor Berger. He said the Commissioners' cash register did not show that any money had been received by the county on June 10, 1897, and he knew of no duplicate receipt.

Q. What did you do with the duplicate receipt in 1897? A. They ought to be on file in the Commissioners' office.

Q. You said the minutes of September 14th, 1897, contained no reference to the renewal of any Safe Deposit Bank temporary loans. On Sept. 27th, a $30,000 note to this bank was renewed according to the minutes of that date. The minutes are in the handwriting of the witness.

The minutes of September 14th, 1897, show a $10,000 loan from Earl Martin. Mr. Schalk, Mr. Martin, is he a son of the Commissioner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How old is he? A. I don't know, he is about 28 or 29.

Mr. Martin: I object; what's that got to do with this case? Mr. Schalk: Oh it's only an instance; but it is a fact.

Mr. Ryan: Well, you may laugh at it but it has nothing to do with the case.

Clerk Kieker could not explain the change in the note, from $10,000 to $30,000, the minutes of that date show $5,000. He never examined the notes closely until January 1897, but he recalled hearing Mr. Connel's assistant clerk Mosser and also Clerk Schmitt prepare a statement of the temporary loans.

When Kieker prepared the statement he found a copy of loan statement prepared on, or dated December 26, 1896, which showed the Safe Deposit Bank was a creditor to the amount of $10,000, or in other words that they were owed $10,000 more than the statement showed.

The prosecutors here offered the letter sent to the Commissioners by ex-Deputy County Treasurer Charles Kline, calling attention to the deficit, but the defense objected. They were overruled.

Clerk Kieker said he took the letter to the Commissioners and Mr. Bentz told him that he and Mr. Reed should look over the account. Kline's letter was dated January 15, 1897, and contained the following statement of the debt made by the Safe Deposit Bank: One said loan January 1st, 1896, $10,000. Total $10,000. Amount paid during 1896, 15,000. Balance due January 1st, 1897, $ 5,000.

We understand they claim you owe them $10,000. Respectfully, CHAS. H. KLINE, Ex-Deputy County Treasurer.

When he called the Commissioners' attention to the discrepancy Mr. Bentz remarked it was probably a clerical error. There was at least one other Commissioner in the room at the time, or possibly both Mr. Martin and Mr. Meyers.

Q. Did the Commissioners make any further effort to look up the matter of this discrepancy? A. Yes, that I remember.

Q. Have a bill dated September 15, 1896, for interest due the Safe Deposit Bank, amounting to $400, have you anything on the minutes about it? A. I can find nothing.

Q. Turn to the minutes of December 7, 1896. A. They show the payment of a temporary loan to the Safe Deposit Bank of $10,000, and $30 interest.

Mr. Ulrich moved to strike out the letter from Mr. Kline because he was ex-Deputy County Treasurer at the time he wrote it. Judge Bechtel reserved his decision.

Phil J. Connel was Chief Clerk in 1893 and '96; Carl Coogan was first Assistant Clerk during 1894. Irvin Mosser was typewriter during most of those three years. He and Mr. Connel were the only clerks in the office who could run the typewriter. Mr. Reber often took the minutes at the direction of the Commissioners, but they were transcribed by Mr. Connel, or at his direction. Connel kept the minute book locked up in his desk. I never knew of anyone but himself having a key to his desk. The notes and resolutions were kept on file in the vaults where any of the clerks could have access to them. The notes were cancelled with a hammer.

Q. Did you keep the round punch with which this note was cancelled. A. Mr. Connel kept it in his desk.

Q. Where is the punch now. A. Mr. Connel said it was his personal property and he took it along.

Q. Who kept the Commissioners' seal. A. Mr. Connel kept it in his desk just as I keep it today.

Q. Did any other person ever use the seal. A. Yes, the other clerks would use it by direction of the Commissioners; it would be necessary to get it from Mr. Connel. I talked to Controller Severn, to his deputy, Mr. Payne, and to Ex-Deputy Kline about the $10,000 claim made by the Safe Deposit Bank.

Q. Did you not agree that it was a clerical error? Objected to by the prosecution. The defense claimed the right to show the witness was made to investigate the $10,000 alleged deficit.

The Judge ruled the question out but said any communication between the witness and the Commissioners about the matter was admissible.

Q. Did you tell the Commissioners about your talk with Mr. Kline? A. I have a vague recollection that I did; I believe I did.

Q. What did you tell them? A. I can't remember the whole or the substance of what I said to the Commissioners about it; I can't recall it.

Q. Your attention was called to some papers found in the bin in the cellar, were they for 1895. A. They were for 1895 and other years, and the papers are kept in files. Since taking charge I have the room locked and carry the only key.

Q. Since that time you have had County Auditors; were not the papers there passed upon by the County Auditors for the year before? A. The papers were put there when all parties interested in them were through with them.

Mr. Schalk objected to any reference to the Auditors, saying the question as to their proper performance of their duties was not before the court.

Q. Why was the keeping of the cash registry stopped in Feb. 1897? A. Mr. Connel told me the Controller was the proper officer, and that it wasn't necessary any more.

Q. The Controller kept a daily cash account in Feb. 1897? A. I cannot remember.

A. I cannot remember an account of temporary loans was produced by the defense. The Commonwealth objected, but the evidence was allowed. The witness said this book began in Jan. 1897, and it includes dates of transactions with various banks.

Clerk Kieker was on the stand all of this morning. Ex-Deputy Treasurer Charles H. Klein, now teller at the Union Safe Deposit Bank, was the next witness. He identified the cash register and receipt book, and the entry showing the receipt from the Union Safe Deposit Bank of $10,000 on July 3, 1893, for a temporary loan. He identified the duplicate receipt, but could not positively say to whom he had given it. His practice was to take the duplicate receipts to the Commissioners' office personally. He could not say whether he took a receipt there to accumulate in his office more than a month at a time.

The witness could not remember who brought the $10,000 to his office, but thought it was some one from the Commissioners' office. He never knew or remembered that any person employed at the bank took the money to the Treasurer's office.

Turn to June 8th and 9th, 1896, and see if you received any money from the Safe Deposit Bank? There is no receipt. Did you receive $5,000 for the county treasury on that date from the Safe Deposit Bank? To the best of my knowledge and belief there was no such money received there. Did you ever receive that $5,000. The records do not show the receipt of this money at any time. Klein was still on the witness stand at four o'clock this afternoon.

CHASED BURGLARS.

Entrance Made at the Farmers' Hotel Early This Morning.

At about four o'clock this morning Policemen Poltz and Baltzer surprised four burglars as the latter were leaving the basement of the Farmers' hotel, corner of Main and Coal streets. One of the men, Joseph Patterson, was taken into custody after a struggle. The others ran out Coal street and to Market alley, Policemen Baltzer gave chase and fired several shots at the fugitives, but failed to capture, or halt them. They are still at large. Patterson is in the lockup. He pleads innocence of any wrong, notwithstanding the police say they found the head of a hog under his coat. The despoiled head having been carried out of the hotel.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

Conrad Kreil, of Tananqua, Fled to Avoid Arrest.

Special to EVENING HERALD. Tananqua, Jan. 12.—Conrad Kreil, aged 30 years, is charged with committing or attempting to commit rape on the 8-year-old daughter of Silas Hartzel, aged 20, of this place. The affair is alleged to have taken place in the butcher shop of Philip Kreil, an uncle of the accused, who was an apprentice in the shop.

The father of the victim has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Kreil, who has disappeared. Chief of Police Eschbold is looking for him. Public opinion is very much aroused over the matter and there were threats of lynching last night.

Obituary. Mrs. James Emble, a well known resident of New Philadelphia, died yesterday, aged 83 years. She is survived by three children. The funeral will take place Friday morning.

Deaths. We clip the following from the Daily Enterprise of Harrison, Tenn.: Harry Kurtz died on January 9th, of congestion of the brain. He was the son of J. H. Kurtz, who was born in Putnam Co., Va., November 12, 1807. February 18, 1857, he was stricken with paralysis, resulting in the loss of speech and occasional attacks of epilepsy. Last Monday morning he was at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. J. C. Sander, and started home, when he fell in a fit on the sidewalk and was picked up and taken home by Ernest Brown, at which time he died. He died until death relieved him of his sufferings. The deceased formerly resided in Shenandoah.

DAVIS. Edward C. Davis, died at his home on North Jardin street, at 7:15 o'clock this morning from the effects of injuries he sustained at the Shenandoah City colliery a week ago by being squeezed between cars. He suffered terribly until relieved by death. The deceased was 49 years of age and is survived by his wife, Samantha, and two daughters, Mrs. Millie Schenault, of Philadelphia, and Miss Emma, living with her mother. Mr. Davis was janitor of the new White street school building and was a member of the Board of Education. He was a member of Shenandoah Lodge No. 391, I. O. O. F. The funeral will take place at 1 p. m. on Saturday.

Resolutions of Condolence. Dr. George F. Matter died in Shenandoah city October 22nd, 1897, with an attack of cerebral spinal meningitis, at the age of 57 years. He was born in Grant, Danvers county, Pa., August 12, 1840. He entered into the service of the Union Army as a soldier and was subsequently appointed hospital steward to the 210th Reg't., Va. Vol's. He served acting in the field with this command. After leaving the service, he entered the Jefferson Medical College, from which school he graduated in 1868. He acted temporarily in several towns, remaining finally in Shenandoah to accept the work of Dr. Davis, who was about to locate in New Jersey. He enjoyed a large practice in this town and shared the confidence of its people. He was prominently identified with the Methodist church, serving in his Master's vineyard with zeal and religious fervor. He is survived by his widow and four children—two sons and two daughters. His burial took place in the Old Fellows' cemetery Oct. 25th, 1897.

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst our late and lamented brother, Dr. George F. Matter, Esq., we, the undersigned, do hereby resolve, That in the death of Dr. Matter, the Shenandoah County Medical Society have sustained a loss deeply felt by all its members, and devoting to professional work a zealous, enthusiastic student in search of knowledge; of one who recognized the duties of the God of our fathers, and looking only to the relief of sickness and disease, and who in all the walks of life enjoyed a consciousness of having discharged the duties of his God, and that in the character of our deceased member, we had a living example of religious duty and labor, harmoniously blended for the welfare of those about him.

Resolved, That the Shenandoah County Medical Society send to the family of the deceased our deep sympathy in their affliction.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, properly attested, be sent to the family and a record of the same be spread upon the minutes of the Society.

AMUSEMENTS.

KAISER'S OPERA HOUSE. After a season of victories in New England and the East, Benjamin Thompson's latest success, "The Sunshine of Paradise Alley," seeks now new fields to conquer, and will be seen at Kaiser's grand opera house, Mahanoy City, tomorrow night. The play has a "ruggedly independent of human nature to keep it going through four acts, and makes the most of its plot, a good deal better of "human nature" before it is over. People go home with a pleasant taste in their mouths, and it is nice to find one's hair has not been turned white with horror, and the dialogue is not in emulsions. The officer one sees in the letter is Messrs. Thompson and Ayer have made a story, however simple, one of constant and cumulative interest. Their long experience in playbuilding has impressed upon them that people go to the theatre to see acting, not to hear philosophical discussions. The beauties of "Sunshine" are not in actual climaxes, but in quick action, with which it is replete, followed by moments of pleasurable repose. The play offers to the company excellent opportunities for the work, all of which are taken advantage of by a capital company. A trolley party is being formed to go to Mahanoy City to witness the play.

Manager Quirk is congratulating himself on having secured for the attraction at Kaiser's opera house on Friday night, America's greatest melodrama, "Cuba's Yew," which will be presented under still more favorable circumstances than last year, when it had such a wonderful run at the Star theatre, New York. The piece is staged more handsomely with more realistic effects. Fifty people are included in the cast, and the mechanical effects, and the large amount of scenery used include a whole car load. It is filled with scenes and situations that have pathos and power, to move one alternately to laughter and to tears. Songs and amusing comedy are interspersed throughout.
